Fossil Trace Golf Club in Golden is the latest achievement in Jim Engh Designed championship golf courses. Twenty-foot tall pillars of sandstone emerge from the #12 fairway, demanding that each player be respectful to the 64 million year old trace fossils of palm fronds and triceratops footprints located adjacent to the #12 green. Several massive relics of clay mining equipment remain throughout the course as a reminder of the rich history of the property.

Only $115 per player! Price includes lunch, greens fees and cart. Awards will be given for individual men's and women's low gross, and team low net and low gross. Registration, lunch, and range balls start at 11:00 a.m., followed by a 1:30 p.m. shotgun start.
