

INTERNET INVESTIGATIVE RESEARCH

WHO SHOULD ATTEND:

This seminar is designed specifically for attorneys and other legal professionals who want to learn practical and effective strategies and skills to conduct time-efficient investigative searches, particularly those who have had limited experience – or success – in using the Internet as a search tool. But even more experienced users will learn new ways to improve their search techniques. Take a look at the detailed schedule outline to learn more about the course content, taught by nationally recognized Internet trainers.

All attendees will receive a copy of Carole Levitt and Mark Rosch's 290 page book "The Cybersleuth's Guide to the Internet," with a CD-Rom containing Colorado-specific resources!

LIVE PROGRAM: JUNE 29, 2007

At the CBA-CLE Classroom • 1900 Grant St., Suite 300 • Denver, Colorado

VIDEO REPLAYS: JULY 26, 2007 • Denver • Grand Junction • Colorado Springs

Submitted for 7 general CLE credits, including .5 ethics credits.

Submitted to NALS and RMPA for 6.0 legal assistant education credits.

WHAT DO PAST ATTENDEES SAY?

"A wealth of information – really shows how much is available for little or no money."

"Wow! Great blend of law resources and plain, practical information!"

"I received an abundance of useful and practical information that would have taken me years to discover on my own."

A lawyer's research involves much more than just finding cases and statutes. Legal professionals also need to unearth background and investigative information. In a recent decision, a court was incredulous that the plaintiff failed to "Google®" the missing defendant as part of his due diligence process and upheld the defendant's claims of insufficient service of process. Instead of turning to computer experts and consultants, skip tracers, and private investigators, you can unearth information for FREE (or at low cost) by conducting your own fact finding on the Internet!

Learn how the Internet is changing the way you need to research in order to competently represent your clients – and to avoid ethical or malpractice issues. REGISTER TODAY!

ABOUT THE FACULTY

Carole Levitt, Esq. and Mark Rosch are principals of Internet For Lawyers (IFL) and co-authors of "The Lawyer's Guide to Fact Finding on the Internet" (ABA LPM Section 2006). They are nationally recognized authors and speakers about the Internet and have been training legal professionals nationwide since 1999.

Carole Levitt has over 20 years of combined experience in the legal field as a California attorney, Internet trainer, law librarian and legal research and writing professor. She is the regular contributor to the Los Angeles Lawyer magazine's Computer Counselor. She received her J.D. from The John Marshall Law School in Chicago, Illinois, graduating with distinction, and was a member of the school's law review. Ms. Levitt earned her Masters in Library Science and her Bachelors in Political Science at the University of Illinois in Champaign-Urbana.

Mark Rosch is the developer and manager of IFL's website and its online education component and serves as the editor of IFL's newsletter, the Internet Legal Research Update. He also provides electronic marketing consulting services to solo attorneys and law firms. Mr. Rosch writes about computer technology in the law office for Law Office Computing, Los Angeles Lawyer, Law Practice, FindLaw.com, and the Los Angeles Daily Journal, among other publications. He graduated from Tulane University in New Orleans.
