Animal Abuse: National Resources

Overview

- A small number of national organizations are providing information and training on the Link.
- Many Link programs are being carried out at the local level by local organizations.
- Many national and local organizations provide information and resources on the Link but do not offer programs.
- In general, animal-focused organizations (e.g., humane societies and animal advocacy organizations) seem to be taking the lead on the Link more than human services organizations.
