The 2011 U.S.-China Legal Exchange
Changes in China's Commercial Law and Implications on Doing Business in China

During the week of October 17, 2011, the U.S. Department of Commerce, along with China's Ministry of Commerce (MOFCOM), will co-host the 16th U.S.-China Legal Exchange, a unique forum that provides an opportunity for the business, legal, and academic communities in the United States to hear directly from Chinese officials about the new and important developments in China's commercial legal and regulatory landscape. High-level government officials from MOFCOM, the State Council's Legislative Affairs Office, and the Standing Committee of the National People's Congress will present to a public audiences in San Francisco, CA (Oct. 17), Denver, CO (Oct. 19), and Atlanta, GA (Oct. 21) on two areas of China's commercial law regime that impact the U.S. business and legal community, providing a unique opportunity for U.S. companies, lawyers, local and state government officials, and other interested persons to discuss with Chinese Government officials the impact of those changes on U.S. business opportunities. During the one-day event, Chinese officials will present on:

- (i) China's review of mergers and acquisitions under its Anti-Monopoly Law; and
- (ii) New developments in consumer product safety and tort liability in China.

Department of Commerce General Counsel Cameron Kerry will lead the event from the U.S. side, and MOFCOM Vice Minister Chong Quan will lead the Chinese delegation.
