* Federico Cheever is Professor of Law at the University of Denver Sturm College of Law. Professor Cheever graduated from Stanford University (B.A./M.A. 1981) and UCLA (J.D. 1986), and then clerked for Judge Harry Pregerson of United States Court of Appeals for the 9th Circuit in Los Angeles (1986-1987). With a few exceptions, he has been in Denver ever since. He began teaching at the University of Denver College of Law in 1993 specializing in Environmental Law, Wildlife Law, Public Land Law, Land Conservation

Transactions and Property. In 2006 he was selected DU Law Star for excellence in teaching.

Professor Cheever writes extensively about the Endangered Species Act, federal public land law and land conservation transactions. He has recently co-authored a natural resources casebook, Natural Resources Law: A Place-Based Book of Problems and Cases, with Christine Klein and Bret Birdsong (2005).

Over the years, Professor Cheever has represented environmental groups in cases under the Endangered Species Act, the National Forest Management Act, the National Environmental Policy Act, the Wilderness Act and a number of other environmental laws. While in private practice he also represented regulated parties in disputes under the Resource Conservation and Recovery Act (RCRA), the Comprehensive Environmental Response, Compensation, and Liability Act (CERCLA) and the Clean Air Act.
