2. Approval of March 4, 2020 Minutes

The minutes from March 4, 2020 were unanimously approved.

3. Announcements

a. Virtual Meetings. Expect virtual meetings through at least the end of the year and to this end there are a couple of procedural points.

i. Handling questions/comments - Message the word "question" to the zoom group during a presentation. At the end of the presentation, Chair will open the floor for folks who messaged in the order the messages were received.

ii. Again make sure if you are not speaking you are muted. If you are speaking make sure you are not muted.

b. Email List. If you did not receive the SRC materials in an email from Katie then you are not on the SRC email list. Email Dylan (dmetzner@joneskeller.com) and he'll add you to the email list.

c. September Meeting. We will have a full agenda so please email Lauren and I if you wish to present. We are currently reserving time for Uniform Electronic Wills Act and UFIPA.

d. Darla Daniels Joined Alpine Bank: Darla joined Alpine Bank Wealth Management as their new Denver-based Trust Officer and Trust Counsel on 3-16. Congratulations Darla!

4. Legislative Report

Andy White provided the Legislative Report. Legislature adjourned on June 16th after a delayed start due to COVID 19. Due to the delay and the short session a large portion of the session focused on critical bills. The legislative update in the August/September 2020 Colorado Lawyer provides a good review. There are two bills of interest to

SB 129- Effecting use of court visitor was signed into law on July 10th (90 day clock before effective)

SB 96- Remote notary services signed into law by Governor. Temporary rule may remain in effect until the end of the year and once Temporary rule expires, then SB 96 will apply. With that said the Secretary of State will do permanent rule making on remote notary services. Expectation is that notice of the proposed rule making will come out on September 1st and public comment opens on October 15th.

5. SRC Approved Proposals

a. Active Matters

(i) CUTC Part 5

Connie Eyster, Carl Stevens, Steve Brainard, and Darla Daniel presented the Subcommittee's report. After the report and review of the supplemental materials provided by the Subcommittee, Stan Kent moved (Jennifer Spitz seconded) to accept the Subcommittee's recommendations. Motion passed unanimously.

History of establishment of CUTC Part 5 Subcommittee. CUTC was enacted but the decision was made to reserve Part 5 (addressing creditor claims) because of concern as to whether consensus could be reached as to Part 5. Rather than hold up CUTC it was determined to address Part 5 after CUTC was addressed.

The Subcommittee has completed its charge and is ready to report back to SRC.

- Carl Stevens reported on Sections 501 and 502. Carl wished to thank Kevin Millard and Gene Zuspann
- - Overview of Section 501
 - This section only applies to trusts without a spendthrift provision. This section authorizes a court to attach present or future distributions to a beneficiary if a creditor is trying to get paid.
 - Subcommittee recommended UTC language with addition of the last sentence which is not UTC language. This addition was made because the Subcommittee believed it best to codify a position that is set forth in the national Uniform Law Comments and to avoid any ambiguity on this question.

- Overview of Section 502
 - Deals with including spendthrift provisions in the trust and whether those provisions must specifically prohibit voluntary and involuntary transfers.
 - Subcommittee recommended adopting Subsections (1) (2) and (3) as drafted in UTC. (1) requires prohibition of both voluntary and involuntary transfers of a beneficiary's interest in order for the spendthrift provision to be valid. (2) provides that terms of a trust providing that the interest of a beneficiary is held subject to a "spendthrift trust" is sufficient to restrain both voluntary and involuntary transfers. (3) A creditor or assignee of beneficiary may not reach interest or distribution before its receipt by the beneficiary.
 - New subsections 4- Trustee may make distribution on behalf of beneficiary (i.e. to pay for tuition) so long as it doesn't touch the hands of the beneficiary creditors cannot touch that distribution.
 - New subsection 5- Allowing a beneficiary to use or occupy real property or tangible personal property owned by the trust does not cause such assets to be reached by the beneficiaries creditors.
 - A conforming amendment is suggested to CRS 15-5-816 in order to authorize a trustee to make distributions for the benefit of a beneficiary.
- Connie Eyster reported on Section 503
 - Exceptions to the spendthrift provision.
 - Child support
 - Judgment creditor providing essential services to protect beneficiaries interest
 - Difference in UTC (did not include spousal creditors or employment creditors). Modified child support language (working with Kim Willoughby family law succession).
 - Less than half of the states (roughly 13) accepted 503. 1/3 of the estates reserved it. 8 states allowed children but not spouses. SC thought it consistent with good policy and what other states have done to allow children, child support and judgment creditors who provided essentially services to beneficiary. Want to make sure beneficiaries have resources to retain attorneys and other advisors. Even though state federal agencies may have authority we are not specifically including in the statute

- Steve Brainerd reported on Section 504
 - Section 504 addresses the ability of the creditor of a beneficiary to get their hands on the beneficiary's interest in a discretionary trust. Whether or not the discretionary trust contains a spendthrift provision.
 - Subsection (b)- Provides the general rule which precludes a creditor from compelling a distribution from the trust even if the trustee has failed to comply with a standard of distribution which is set forth in the trust or if the trustee has abused their discretion in some manner
 - Two important things (“abuse discretion or failed to comply with a distribution standard”).
 - This section like Restatement Third of Trusts eliminates the distinction between discretionary trusts and support trusts and buys into the developing law that indicates even support trusts have an element of discretion and it is too difficult to determine where the line between pure discretion and discretion in the name of support or some other standard lies. This section unifies the law surrounding discretionary and support trusts.
 - A creditor under this section is precluded from compelling a distribution even where a beneficiary might have the right to say the trustee abused the discretion or failed to apply a standard. The ability to compel these distributions lies with the beneficiary not the trustee. The creditor does not have the ability to stand in the shoes of creditors. This is a departure from RST 2nd and 3rd which gives the creditor the ability to step into the beneficiary's shoes to compel a distribution if trustee abused discretion or made improper distribution.
 - Subsection (c) creates exception to (b) general rule
 - Exception would be claims of child for support.
 - Subsection (e)
 - Added after the original UTC had been published. Under RST 3rd Sec .60 cmt g provides that where a beneficiary is also the trustee that the beneficial interest of the beneficiary/trustee could be reached by the beneficiary/trustees creditors. Many folks objected to this when Restatement 3rd came out.

- 504(e) was added to provide that 504 will apply even if the beneficiary is a trustee or co-trustee.
- Connie Eyster reported on Section 505
 - Addresses creditors ability to make a claim against the interest of settlor.
 - When creditor can reach:
 - Revocable Trust
 - (a)(2)- addresses Irrevocable Trusts
 - Creditor can reach maximum amount attributable to settlor's interest in an irrevocable self-settled trust (i.e. Settlor creates an irrevocable trust and is also a beneficiary of that trust) and if more than one settlor, than to the extent of the settlor's contribution.
 - Exceptions
 - Settlor has interest only as result of exercise/nonexercise of power of appointment by third party. (I.e. person exercised power of appointment that person is not deemed settlor).
 - Lifetime QTIP Trust for Spouse and retains reversionary interest.
 - Settlor has right to be reimbursed for tax payments.
 - SNT.
- Darla Daniels reported on Section 506
 - Deals with overdue mandatory distributions. Regardless of spendthrift provision, if there is a mandatory distribution is not made, then Creditor may reach.
 - 506(a) second sentence defines mandatory distribution--
- Connie Eyster reported on Section 507
 - Trust property is not subject to personal obligations of the Trustee.
- Connie Eyster reported on Conforming Amendments

- 15-5-816 (Addresses powers of Trustee)
 - Need to clarify that a distribution to a beneficiary (816(1)(U)) is one to the beneficiary or for the beneficiary's benefit.
- 15-5-411 (Modification)
 - Elder law (Eric Solemn) was concerned about 411 applying to SNTs. Now elder law is not concerned about this and actually think it makes sense to allow beneficiaries of SNT to petition a court for modification.

Council will review SRC minutes and Subcommittee's materials regarding the 505 presentation and plan on voting on September 2nd.

UNIFORM ELECTRONIC WILLS ACT

Prefatory Note

Electronic Wills Under Existing Statutes. People increasingly turn to electronic tools to accomplish life’s tasks, including legal tasks. They use computers, tablets, or smartphones to execute electronically a variety of estate planning documents, including pay-on-death and transfer-on-death beneficiary designations and powers of attorney. Some people assume that they will be able to execute all their estate planning documents electronically, and they prefer to do so for efficiency, cost savings, or other reasons. Indeed, a few cases involving wills executed on electronic devices have already arisen.

An early case involved a testator’s signature typed in a word processing document, which was then printed in hard copy. In Taylor v. Holt, 134 S.W.3d 830 (Tenn. 2003), the testator typed his signature in a cursive font at the end of the electronic text of his will and then printed the will. Two witnesses watched him type the signature on the will, and then signed the printed copy of the will. The court had no trouble concluding that the typed signature qualified as the testator’s signature. The statute defined signature to include a “symbol or methodology executed or adopted by a party with intention to authenticate a writing” TENN. CODE ANN. § 1-3-105(27) (1999).

In Taylor the will was not attested or stored electronically, but the case illustrates a situation in which the substitution of electronic tools for traditional pen and paper can lead to litigation.

In a more recent Ohio case, In re Estate of Javier Castro, Case No. 2013ES00140, Court of Common Pleas Probate Division, Lorain County, Ohio (June 19, 2013), the testator dictated a will to his brother, who wrote the will with a stylus on a Samsung Galaxy Tablet. The testator then signed the will on the tablet, using the stylus, as did the two witnesses. The probate court had to decide whether the electronic writing on the tablet met the statutory requirement that a will be “in writing.” The court concluded that it did and admitted the will to probate. In Castro, the testator and all witnesses were in the same room and signed using a stylus rather than typing a signature. The Uniform Electronic Wills Act (“the E-Wills Act”) gives effect to such a will and clarifies that the will meets the writing requirement. In Castro, the testator and witnesses had not signed an affidavit, so the will was not self-proving. Under the E-Wills Act, if a notary is present with the testator and witnesses, the will can be made self-proving. An alternative provided under the E-Wills Act allows a notary present electronically to prepare the self-proving affidavit.

An even more recent case illustrates what may be anticipated to be the most common electronic will scenario: that of a will prepared without witnesses and stored electronically. Shortly before his death by suicide, Duane Horton (a 21-year-old man) handwrote a journal entry stating that a document titled “Last Note” was on his phone. The journal entry provided instructions for accessing the note, and he left the journal and phone in his room. The Last Note included apologies and personal comments relating to his suicide as well as directions relating to his property. Mr. Horton typed his name at the end of the document. After considering the text of the document and the circumstances surrounding Mr. Horton’s death, the probate and appeals court applied Michigan’s harmless error statute and concluded that the note was a document that could be treated as executed in compliance with Michigan’s requirements for execution of a will. In re Estate of Horton, 925 N.W.2d 207 (2018). Under the E-Wills Act, the note would be considered a will only if the state had adopted the harmless error provision of Section 6 and a court determined that the decedent intended the electronic writing to be the decedent’s will and therefore excused the lack of witnesses.

Although existing statutes might validate wills like the ones in Castro and Taylor, litigation may be necessary to resolve the question of validity. Further, the results will be haphazard if no clear policy exists and given statutory variation across the states. States that have adopted the harmless error rule for will execution could use that rule to validate an electronic will, as the court did in In re Horton. However, harmless error requires a judicial decision based on clear and convincing evidence, so relying on harmless error could increase costs for parties and courts. Further, in the United States, only 11 states have enacted harmless error statutes. In a state that has not adopted a harmless error statute, a court might adopt the doctrine judicially, as endorsed by RESTATEMENT (THIRD) OF PROPERTY: WILLS & DON. TRANS. § 3.2 (1999), or might use the doctrine of substantial compliance to validate a will that did not comply with the execution formalities. See, e.g., In re Will of Ranney, 589 A.2d 1339 (N.J. 1991) (adopting substantial compliance prior to New Jersey’s adoption of a harmless error statute.) However, courts are reluctant to adopt exceptions to statutory execution formalities. See, e.g., Litevich v. Probate Court, Dist. Of West Haven, 2013 WL 2945055 (Sup. Ct. Conn. 2013); Davis v. Davis-Henriques, 135 A.3d 1247 (Conn. App. 2016) (rejecting arguments that the court apply harmless error). As more people turn to electronic devices to conduct personal business, statutory guidance on execution of electronic wills can streamline the process of validating those wills.

Goals of the E-Wills Act. Estate planning lawyers, notaries, and software providers are among those interested in electronic wills. As of 2019, state legislatures in Arizona, California, the District of Columbia, Florida, Indiana, New Hampshire, Texas, and Virginia have considered bills authorizing electronic execution of wills. Arizona, Indiana, and Florida have adopted new electronic wills legislation, and Nevada has revised its existing electronic wills statute.

Given the flurry of activity around this issue, the Uniform Law Commission became concerned that inconsistency would follow if states modify their will execution statutes without uniformity. The mobile population in the United States makes interstate recognition of wills important, and if states law on this question is not uniform, that recognition will be a significant issue. The E-Wills Act seeks:

- To allow a testator to execute a will electronically, while maintaining the safeguards wills law provides for wills executed on something tangible (usually paper);
- To create execution requirements that, if followed, will result in a valid will without a court hearing to determine validity, if no one contests the will; and
- To develop a process that would not enshrine a particular business model in the statutes.

The E-Wills Act seeks to preserve the four functions served by will formalities, as described in John H. Langbein, Substantial Compliance with the Wills Act, 88 HARV. L. REV. 489 (1975) (citing Lon Fuller, Consideration and Form, 41 COL. L. REV. 799 (1941), which discussed the channeling function in connection with contract law, and Ashbel G. Gulliver & Catherine J. Tilson, Classification of Gratuitous Transfers, 51 YALE L.J. 1, 5-13 (1941), which identified the other functions). Those four functions are:

- Evidentiary – the will provides permanent reliable evidence of the testator’s intent.
- Channeling – the testator’s intent is expressed in a way that is understood by those who will interpret it so that the courts and personal representatives can process the will efficiently and without litigation.
- Ritual (cautionary) – the testator has a serious intent to dispose of property in the way indicated and the instrument is in final form and not a draft.
- Protective – the testator has capacity and is protected from undue influence, fraud, delusion and coercion. The instrument is not the product of forgery or perjury.

Electronic Execution of Estate Planning Documents. In commercial and other contexts not involving a will, the Uniform Electronic Transactions Act (1999) (UETA) validates the use of electronic signatures. UETA§ 7(a). However, UETA contains an express exception for wills and testamentary trusts, making the E-Wills Act necessary if a legislature wants to permit electronic wills. UETA§ 3(b). As of 2019, all but three state have adopted UETA, with most of the enactments occurring in 2000 and 2001. The federal Electronic Signatures in Global and National commerce Act (E-SIGN) includes a similar exception. 15 U.S.C. 7003(a)(1).

Many documents authorizing nonprobate transfers of property are already executed electronically, and property owners have become accustomed to being able to use electronic beneficiary designations in connection with various will substitutes. The idea of permitting an electronic designation to control the transfer of property at death is already well accepted.

	Islands, or any territory or insular possession subject to the jurisdiction of the United States. The term includes a federally recognized Indian tribe. (7) “Will” includes a codicil and any testamentary instrument that merely appoints an executor, revokes or revises another will, nominates a guardian, or expressly excludes or limits the right of an individual or class to succeed to property of the decedent passing by intestate succession.
Uniform Law Commission Comment	Paragraph 2. Electronic Presence. An electronic will may be executed with the testator and all of the necessary witnesses present in one physical location. In that case the state’s rules concerning presence for non-electronic wills, which may require line-of-sight presence or conscious presence, will apply. See Section 3. Because the E-Wills Act does not provide a separate definition of physical presence, a state’s existing rules for presence will apply to determine physical presence. An electronic will is also valid if the witnesses are in the electronic presence of the testator, see Section 5. This definition provides for the meaning of electronic presence. Permitting electronic presence will make it easier for testators in remote locations and testators with limited mobility to execute their wills. The witnesses and testator must be able to communicate in “real time,” a term that means “the actual time during which something takes place.” MERRIAM-WEBSTER DICTIONARY, https://www.merriamwebster.com/dictionary/real%20time (last visited Sept. 22, 2019). The term is used in connection with electronic communication to mean that the people communicating do so without a delay in the exchange of information. For statutes using the term “real-time,” see, e.g., CONN. GEN. STAT. ANN. § 16A-47b (2019) (real-time energy reports); COLO. REV. STAT.

	ANN. § 24-33.5-2102 (2019) (“communicate in real-time during an incident”); FLA. STAT. ANN. § 117.201(2) (2019) (in definition of “audio-visual communication technology” for online notarizations); ILL. STAT. ch. 220 § 5/16-107 (2019) (real-time pricing for utilities). In the definition of electronic presence, “to the same extent” includes accommodations for people who are differently-abled. The definition does not provide specific accommodations due to the concern that any attempt at specificity would be too restrictive and to allow the standards to keep current with future advances in technology. Paragraph 5. Sign. The term “logically associated” is used in the definition of sign, without further definition. Although Indiana has defined the term in its electronic wills statute, IND. CODE § 29-1-21-3(13) (defining logically associated as meaning that documents are “electronically connected, cross referenced, or linked in a reliable manner”), most statutes do not define the term. Most notably, the Uniform Electronic Transactions Act and the Revised Uniform Law on Notarial Acts (RULONA) use the term without defining it, due to the concern that an attempt at definition would be over- or under-inclusive as technology develops. Although often used in connection with a signature, the term is used in RULONA and in the E-Wills Act to refer both to a document that may be logically associated with another document as well as to a signature logically associated with a document. See also Electronic Signatures in Global and National Commerce Act, 15 U.S.C. § 7001 et seq. Paragraph 7. Will. The E-Wills Act follows the Uniform Probate Code (UPC) in providing that the term “will” includes instruments that may not involve the disposition of property. The common law definition of “will” is well established, and a definition in the E-Wills Act might result in inadvertent changes to the common law understanding.

Colorado Uniform Electronic Wills Act

By John R. Valentine and Michael R. Stiff

UEWA Section	Section 3
Section Title	Law Applicable to Electronic Wills; Principles of Equity
UEWA Statutory Language	An electronic will is a will for all purposes of the law of this state. The law of this state applicable to wills and principles of equity apply to an electronic will, except as modified by this [act].
Uniform Law Commission Comment	The first sentence of this Section is didactic, and emphatically ensures that an electronic will is treated as a traditional one for all purposes. In this Section “law” means both common law and statutory law. Law other than the E-Wills Act continues to supply rules and guidance related to wills, unless the E-Wills Act modifies a state’s other law related to wills. The common law requires that a testator intend that the writing be the testator’s will. The Restatement explains, “To be a will, the document must be executed by the decedent with testamentary intent, i.e., the decedent must intend the document to be a will or to become operative at the decedent’s death.” RESTATEMENT (THIRD) OF PROPERTY: WILLS & DON. TRANS. § 3.1, comment (g) (1999). A number of protective doctrines attempt to ensure that a document being probated as a will reflects the intent of the testator. Wills statutes typically include capacity requirements related to mental capacity and age. A minor cannot execute a valid will. See RESTATEMENT (THIRD) OF PROPERTY: WILLS & DON. TRANS. § 8.1 (mental capacity), § 8.2 (age) (2003). Other requirements for validity may be left to the common law. A writing that appears to be a will may be challenged based on allegations of undue influence, duress, or fraud. See RESTATEMENT (THIRD) OF PROPERTY: WILLS & DON. TRANS. § 8.3 (Undue Influence, Duress, or Fraud) (2003).

	The statutory and common law requirements that apply to wills in general also apply to electronic wills. Laws related to qualifications to serve as a witness also apply to electronic wills. For some of those requirements see, e.g., Uniform Probate Code § 2-505.

Arizona A.R.S. § 14-2518. Electronic will; requirements; interpretation	B. Except as provided in this section and sections 14-2519, 14-2520, 14-2521, 14-2522 and 14-2523, any question raised about the force, effect, validity and interpretation of an electronic will shall be determined in the same manner as a question regarding a paper will executed pursuant to section 14-2502.
Indiana Indiana Code. Ann. § 29-1-21-1. Purpose	The purpose of this chapter is to provide rules for the valid execution, attestation, self-proving, and probate of wills that are prepared and signed electronically. This chapter shall be applied fairly and flexibly so that a testator whose identify can be verified, who has testamentary capacity, and who is acting free from duress and undue influence may execute a valid electronic will consistent with the testator’s intent. If an electronic will is properly and electronically signed by the testator and by the witnesses and is maintained as an electronic record or as a complete converted copy in compliance with this chapter, all the normal presumptions that apply to a traditional paper will that is validly signed and executed apply to an electronic will. (a) Except as provided in subsection (b), electronic wills are exclusively governed by this chapter. (b) If this chapter does not provide an explicit definition, form, rule, or statute concerning the creation, execution, probate, interpretation, storage, or use of an electronic will, the applicable statute from this article shall apply to the electronic will.

Except as otherwise provided in NRS 133.085 to 133.088, inclusive, and 133.300 to 133.340, inclusive, all questions relating to the force, effect, validity and interpretation of an electronic will that complies with the provisions of NRS 133.085 to 133.088, inclusive, and 133.300 to 133.340, inclusive, must be determined in the same manner as a will executed in accordance with NRS 133.040.

UEWA Section	SECTION 4.
Section Title	CHOICE OF LAW REGARDING EXECUTION.
UEWA Statutory Language	A will executed electronically but not in compliance with Section 5 is an electronic will under this [act] if executed in compliance with the law of the jurisdiction where: (1) the testator is physically located when the will is signed; or (2) the testator is domiciled or resides when the will is signed or when the testator dies.
Uniform Law Commission Comment	Under the common law, the execution requirements for a will depended on the situs of real property, as to the real property, and the domicile of the testator, for personal property. See RESTATEMENT (SECOND) OF PROPERTY: WILLS & DON. TRANS. § 33.1, comment (b) (1992). The statutes of many states now treat as valid a will that was validly executed under the law of the state where the will was executed or where the testator was domiciled. For example, Uniform Probate Code § 2-506 states that a will is validly executed if executed according to “the law at the time of execution of the place where the will is executed, or of the law of the place where at the time of execution or at the time of death the testator is domiciled, has a place of abode, or is a national.” For a non-electronic will, the testator will necessarily be in the state where the will is executed. Many state statutes also permit the law of the testator’s domicile when the testator dies to apply. See RESTATEMENT (THIRD) OF PROPERTY: WILLS & DON. TRANS. § 3.1, comment (e) (1999). Some of the state statutes permitting electronic wills treat an electronic will as executed in the state and valid under the state law even if the testator is not physically in the state at the time of execution. See, e.g., NEV. REV. STAT. 133.088(1)(e) (2019) (stating that “the document shall be deemed to be executed in this State” if certain requirements are met, even if the testator is not within the state). Thus, a Connecticut domiciliary could go online and execute a Nevada will without leaving Connecticut. If that happened, Connecticut should not be required to accept the will as valid, because the testator had not physically been present in the state (Nevada) that authorized the electronic will when the Connecticut domiciliary executed the will.

	This Section reflects the policy that a will valid where the testator was physically located should be given effect using the law of the state where executed. This rule is consistent with current law for non-electronic wills. Otherwise, someone living in a state that authorized electronic wills might execute a will there and then move to a state that did not authorize electronic wills and be forced to make a new will or die intestate if unable or unwilling to do so. An electronic will executed in compliance with the law of the state where the testator was physically located should be given effect, even if the testator later moves to another state, just as a non-electronic will would be given effect. A rule that would invalidate a will properly executed under the law of the state where the testator was physically present at the time of execution, especially if the testator was domiciled there, could trap an unwary testator and result in intestacy. Example: Dennis lived in Nevada for 20 years. He met with a lawyer to have a will prepared, and when the will was ready for execution his lawyer suggested executing the will from his house, using the lawyer’s electronic platform. Dennis did so, with the required identification. The lawyer had no concerns about Dennis’s capacity and no worries that someone was unduly influencing him. Two years later Dennis moved to Connecticut where his daughter lived. Dennis died in Connecticut, with the Nevada will as his last valid will. Connecticut should give effect to Dennis’s will, regardless of whether its execution would have otherwise been valid under Connecticut law.

Colorado Alternative	SECTION 5. EXECUTION OF ELECTRONIC WILL (a) Subject to Section 8(d) and except as provided in Section 6, an electronic will must be: (1) a record that is readable as text at the time of signing under paragraph (2); (2) signed by: (A) the testator; or (B) another individual in the testator’s name, in the testator’s physical presence and by the testator’s direction; and (3) either:

	(A) signed in the physical or electronic presence of the testator by at least two individuals, each of whom is a resident of a state and physically located in a state at the time of signing and within a reasonable time after witnessing: (i) the signing of the will under paragraph (2); or (ii) the testator’s acknowledgment of the signing of the will under paragraph (2) or acknowledgement of the will; or (B) acknowledged by the testator before and in the physical or electronic presence of a notary public or other individual who is located in Colorado at the time the notarial act is performed and who is authorized by laws of Colorado to notarize records electronically. (b) Intent of a testator that the record under subsection (a)(1) be the testator’s electronic will may be established by extrinsic evidence.
Uniform Law Commission Comment	Comments The E-Wills Act does not duplicate all rules related to valid wills, and except as otherwise provided in the E-Wills Act, a state’s existing requirements for valid wills will apply to electronic wills. Section 5 follows the formalities required in UPC § 2-502. A state with different formalities should modify this Section to conform to its requirements. Under Section 5 an electronic will can be valid if executed electronically, even if the testator and witnesses are in different locations. Some states allow a will to be self-proved if the testator and witnesses sign an affidavit detailing the procedures followed in executing the will. The UPC treats the self-proving affidavit as creating a conclusive presumption that the signature requirements were met and a rebuttable presumption that other requirements for a valid will were met. See RESTATEMENT (THIRD) OF PROPERTY: WILLS & DON. TRANS. § 3.1, comment (r) (1999). Rather than create extra requirements to validate an electronic will, the E-Wills Act creates extra requirements to make an electronic will self-proving when the testator and witnesses are in different locations. See Section 8. Requirement of a Writing. Statutes that apply to non-electronic wills require that a will be “in writing.” The RESTATEMENT

(THIRD) OF PROPERTY: WILLS & DON. TRANS. § 3.1, comment i (1999), explains:

i. The writing requirement. All the statutes, including the original and revised versions of the Uniform Probate Code, require a will to be in writing. The requirement of a writing does not require that the will be written on sheets of paper, but it does require a medium that allows the markings to be detected. A will, for example, scratched in the paint on the fender of a car would be in writing, but one “written” by waving a finger in the air would not be.

UPC § 2-502 requires that a will be “in writing” and the comment to that section says, “Any reasonably permanent record is sufficient.” The E-Wills Act requires that the provisions of an electronic will be readable as text (and not as computer code, for example) at the time the testator executed the will. The E-Wills Act incorporates the requirement of writing by requiring that an electronic will be readable as text.

One example of an electronic record readable as text is a will inscribed with a stylus on a tablet. See In re Estate of Javier Castro, Case No. 2013ES00140, Court of Common Pleas Probate Division, Lorain County, Ohio (June 19, 2013). An electronic will may also be a word processing document that exists on a computer or a cell phone but has not been printed. Under the E-Wills Act, the issue for these wills is not whether a writing exists but whether the testator signed the will and the witnesses attested it.

The Uniform Law Commission decided to retain the requirement that a will be in writing. Thus, the E-Wills Act does not permit an audio or audio-visual recording of an individual describing the individual’s testamentary wishes to constitute a will. However, an audio-visual recording of the execution of a will may provide valuable evidence concerning the validity of the will.

The use of a voice activated computer program can create text that can meet the requirements of a will. For example, a testator could dictate the will to a computer using voice recognition software. If the computer converts the spoken words to text before the testator executes the will, the will meets that requirement that it be a record readable as text at the time of execution.

Electronic Signature. In Castro, the testator signed his name as an electronic image using a stylus. A signature in this form is a signature for purposes of the E-Wills Act. The definition of “sign” includes a “tangible symbol” or an “electronic symbol or process” made with the intent to authenticate the record being signed. Thus, a typed signature would be sufficient if typed with the intent that it be a signature. A signature typed in a cursive font or a pasted electronic copy of a signature would also be sufficient, if made with the intent that it be a signature. As e-signing develops, other types of symbols or processes may be used, with the important element being that the testator intended the action taken to be a signature validating the electronic will.

Requirement of Witnesses. Wills law includes a witness requirement for several reasons: (1) evidentiary—to identify persons who can answer questions about the voluntariness and coherence of the testator and whether undue influence played a role in the creation and execution of the will, (2) cautionary—to signal to the testator that signing the document has serious consequences, and (3) protective—to deter coercion, fraud, duress, and undue influence. Section 5 requires witnesses for a validly executed will.

Will substitutes—tools authorizing nonprobate transfers—typically do not require witnesses, and a testator acting without legal assistance may not realize that witnesses are necessary for an electronic will. The harmless error doctrine has been used to give effect to an electronic will executed without witnesses when the testator’s intent was clear. In the electronic will context these cases have typically involved suicides that occurred shortly after the creation of the electronic document. See, e.g., In re Estate of Horton, 925 N.W. 2d 207, 325 Mich.App. 325 (2018). A state concerned that electronic wills will be invalidated due to lack of witnesses should consider adopting the harmless error provision in Section 6 of the E-Wills Act, even if the state has not adopted a similar provision for judicially correcting harmless error in execution.

Remote Witnesses. Because electronic wills may be executed via the internet, the question arises whether the witnesses to the testator’s signature must be in the physical presence of the testator or whether electronic presence such as via a webcam and microphone will suffice. Some online providers of wills offer remote witnessing as a service. The E-Wills Act does not include additional requirements for electronic wills executed with remote witnesses, but Section 8 imposes additional requirements before a will executed with remote witnesses can be considered self-proving.

The usefulness of witnesses who can testify about the testator's apparent state of mind if a will is challenged for lack of capacity or undue influence may be limited, because a witness who observes the testator sign the will may not have sufficient contact with the testator to have knowledge of capacity or undue influence. This is true whether the witnesses are in the physical or electronic presence of the testator. Nonetheless, the current legal standards and procedures address the situation adequately and remote attestation should not create significant new evidentiary burdens. The E-Wills Act errs on the side of not creating hurdles that result in denying probate to wills that represent the intent of their testators.

Reasonable Time. The witnesses must sign within a reasonable time after witnessing the testator sign or acknowledge the signing or the will. The Comment to UPC § 2-502 notes that the statute does not require that the witness sign before the testator dies, but some cases have held that signing after the testator's death is not "within a reasonable time." In Matter of Estate of Royal, 826 P. 2d 1236 (1992), the Supreme Court of Colorado held that attestation must occur before the testator's death, citing cases in several states that had reached the same result. Other cases have held a will valid even though a witness signed after the testator's death. See, e.g., In re Estate of Miller, 149 P.3d 840 (Idaho 2006). For electronic wills, a state's rules applicable to non-electronic wills apply.

Notarized Wills. A small number of states permit a notary public to validate the execution of a will in lieu of witnesses. Paragraph (3)(b) follows UPC § 2-502(a)(3)(B) and provides that a will can be validated if the testator acknowledges the will before a notary, even if the will is not attested by two witnesses. Because remote online notarization includes protection against tampering, other states may want to include the option for the benefit of additional security.

Definition of Electronic Presence

Section (2) Definitions: [(2) "Electronic presence" means the relationship of two or more individuals in different locations

	communicating in real time to the same extent as if the individuals were physically present in the same location.] Comment Paragraph 2. Electronic Presence. An electronic will may be executed with the testator and all of the necessary witnesses present in one physical location. In that case the state’s rules concerning presence for non-electronic wills, which may require line-of-sight presence or conscious presence, will apply. See Section 3. Because the E-Wills Act does not provide a separate definition of physical presence, a state’s existing rules for presence will apply to determine physical presence. An electronic will is also valid if the witnesses are in the electronic presence of the testator, see Section 5. This definition provides for the meaning of electronic presence. Permitting electronic presence will make it easier for testators in remote locations and testators with limited mobility to execute their wills. The witnesses and testator must be able to communicate in “real time,” a term that means “the actual time during which something takes place.” The term is used in connection with electronic communication to mean that the people communicating do so without a delay in the exchange of information. For statutes using the term “real-time,” see, e.g., CONN. GEN. STAT. ANN. § 16A-47b (2019) (real-time energy reports); COLO. REV. STAT. ANN. § 24-33.5-2102 (2019) (“communicate in real-time during an incident”); FLA. STAT. ANN. § 117.201(2) (2019) (in definition of “audio-visual communication technology” for online notarizations); ILL. STAT. ch. 220 § 5/16-107 (2019) (real-time pricing for utilities). In the definition of electronic presence, “to the same extent” includes accommodations for people who are differently abled. The definition does not provide specific accommodations due to the concern that any attempt at specificity would be too restrictive and to allow the standards to keep current with future advances in technology.

SUMMARY OF FLORIDA E-WILLS STATUTE AND REMOTE NOTARIZATION PROVISIONS

- The Florida Statute generally offers online notarization and witnessing of wills, trusts, powers of attorney and marital agreements. Online notarization creates a record.

- Also, there is record keeping provisions in the Florida Statute. It provides for online notarization in real time with two-way audio-visual recording creating an electronic record and video.

- Only qualified entities can serve as a custodian and they must insure that they have tamper evidence protection which would detect any efforts to amend the recorded document stored with the qualified custodian.

Steps Necessary to Create an Electronic Record

Step One: Notary

- Witnesses must be in the US and residents of the US.

- The remote notary must comply with strict standards and training regarding identity proofing. In addition, they must be able to authenticate the identity of the testator, as well as witnesses as set forth below.

Step Two: Verifying Identity of Testator and Screening the Testator

- The Notary will ask five questions of which four out of the five questions must be answered correctly. The questions relate to personal information that would only be known by the testator through credit records.

- The Notary then screens the testator as to whether or not they are vulnerable adults. Generally, the testator must be 18 years of age or older and must be able to attest to the fact that they can perform activities of daily living and they do not have any mental or physical disability that would interfere with their ability to meet activities of daily living.

- The first set of questions to determine whether or not the testator is a vulnerable adult and, therefore, prohibited from remote notarization, are the following three questions:
 - Are they under any undue influence related to the execution of their will?

 - Do they have any physical or mental disability that impairs their activities of daily living?

 - Do they need assistance with their daily care?

- If the Notary suspects that the testator is a vulnerable adult, then the witnesses must be in the physical presence of the testator and remote notarization is denied, as well as remote witnessing.

Storage

- Qualified Custodians can store the electronic will upon notice of death.
- The Qualified Custodian must electronically transmit the electronic record to the appropriate court electronically.

Remote Witnesses

- The company providing electronic will services is going to provide online notary, as well as online witnesses.
- The question is how are remote witnesses to an online will going to sign an attestation clause that they were in the physical presence of the testator and swear that the testator signed his or her will of their volition, free of undue influence. How do the witnesses know there isn't someone else in the room?

E-Notarization and Execution of E-Will

- E-notarization and execution of e-will – you can't have one without the other.
- Currently Texas and Montana have e-notarization Bills pending. These states are not concerned about vulnerable testators.

- (I) If a natural person, is domiciled in this State; or
- (II) If an entity, is organized under the laws of this State or whose principal place of business is located in this State.

2. Notwithstanding the provisions of subsection 1, the validity of a notarial act performed by an electronic notary public must be determined by applying the laws of the jurisdiction in which the electronic notary public is commissioned or appointed.

3. As used in this section:

	(a) "Advance directive" has the meaning ascribed to it in NRS 449A.703. (b) "Audio-video communication" means communication by which a person is able to see, hear and communicate with another person in real time using electronic means.

The testator and witnesses must directly observe one another as the electronic will is being signed by the parties. (2) The testator and attesting witnesses must comply with: (A) the prompts, if any, issued by the software being used to perform the electronic signing; or (B) the instructions by the person, if any, responsible for supervising the execution of the electronic will. (3) The testator must state, in the actual presence of the attesting witnesses, that the instrument to be electronically signed is the testator's will.

(4) The testator must:

(A) electronically sign the electronic will in the actual presence of the attesting witnesses; or

(B) direct another adult individual who is not an attesting witness to sign the electronic will on the testator's behalf in the actual presence of the testator and the attesting witnesses.

(5) The attesting witnesses must electronically sign the electronic will in the actual presence of:

(A) the testator; and

(B) one another;

The process described in this section may include as part of the electronic record for the electronic will any identity verification evidence pertaining to the testator or any document integrity evidence for the electronic will.

(b) An electronic will may be self-proved:

(1) at the time that it is electronically signed; and

(2) before it is electronically finalized; by incorporating into the electronic record of the electronic will a self-proving clause described under subsection (c) An electronic will is not required to contain an attestation clause or a self-proving clause in order to be a valid electronic will.

(c) A self-proving clause under subsection (b) must substantially be in the following form:

The Comments to UPC § 2-503 describe the development of the doctrine in Australia, Canada, and Israel, and cite to a number of studies and articles. See, also, RESTATEMENT (THIRD) OF PROPERTY: WILLS & DON. TRANS § 3.3 (1999); John H. 	proponent of the defective will can establish by clear and convincing evidence that the testator intended the writing to be the testator’s will. The will formalities serve as proxies for testamentary intent, and harmless error doctrine replaces strict compliance with the formalities with direct evidence of that intent. The harmless error doctrine may be particularly important in connection with electronic wills because a testator executing an electronic will without legal assistance may assume that an electronic will is valid even if not witnessed. The high standard of proof that the testator intended the writing to serve as will should protect against abuse. A number of cases both in the United States and in Australia have involved electronic wills written shortly before the testator committed suicide. The circumstances surrounding the writing have led the courts in those cases to use harmless error to validate the wills, despite the lack of witnesses. (involving a document written on an iPhone and beginning, “This is the Last Will and Testament…”). Although in these cases the wills have been given effect, a will drafted in contemplation of suicide may be subject to challenge based on concerns about capacity. Even if a state adopts the harmless error doctrine, the other requirements for a valid will, including testamentary capacity and a lack of undue influence, will apply.
Current Colorado Law	§ 15-11-503. Writings intended as wills

(1) Although a document, or writing added upon a document, was not executed in compliance with section 15-11-502, the document or writing is treated as if it had been executed in compliance with that section if the proponent of the document or writing establishes by clear and convincing evidence that the decedent intended the document or writing to constitute:

- (a) The decedent's will;
- (b) A partial or complete revocation of the will;
- (c) An addition to or an alteration of the will; or
- (d) A partial or complete revival of the decedent's formerly revoked will or a formerly revoked portion of the will.

(2) Subsection (1) of this section shall apply only if the document is signed or acknowledged by the decedent as his or her will or if it is established by clear and convincing evidence that the decedent erroneously signed a document intended to be the will of the decedent's spouse.

(3) Whether a document or writing is treated under this section as if it had been executed in compliance with section 15-11-502 is a question of law to be decided by the court, in formal proceedings, and is not a question of fact for a jury to decide.

(4) Subsection (1) of this section shall not apply to a designated beneficiary agreement under article 22 of this title.

§ 15-2.5-304. Substantial compliance with donor-imposed formal requirement

(1) A powerholder's substantial compliance with a formal requirement of appointment imposed by the donor, including a requirement that the instrument exercising the power of appointment make reference or specific reference to the power, is sufficient if:

- (a) The powerholder knows of and intends to exercise the power; and

	(b) The powerholder’s manner of attempted exercise of the power does not impair a material purpose of the donor in imposing the requirement.
Current Law in other States	Electronic Will statutes enacted in other states have not codified the Harmless Error Doctrine. If Nevada, Florida and Arizona were to enact the Harmless Error Doctrine for paper wills, then presumably the Doctrine would also apply to electronic wills because of these provisions: Nevada: § 133.085 (3) provides: Except as otherwise provided in NRS ..., inclusive, and ..., inclusive, all questions relating to the force, effect, validity and interpretation of an electronic will that complies with the provision of NRS ..., inclusive, and ..., inclusive, must be determined in the same manner as a will executed in accordance with NRS [citations omitted] Florida: § 732.522 (3) provides: Except as otherwise provided in this part, all questions as to the force, effect, validity, and interpretation of an electronic will which comply with this section must be determined in the same manner as in the case of a will executed in accordance with section ... [citations omitted]

Indiana: The Indiana codification of its electronic will statute is interesting. For an electronic will to be valid in Indiana, arguably there must be strict compliance with statutory requirements for a valid electronic will. However, for an Indiana electronic will to be self-proving, only substantial compliance is required per section 29-1-21-4 which provides:

§ 29-1-21-4. Attestation; electronic signature; self proving clause

(a) To be valid as a will under this article, an electronic will must be executed by the electronic signature of the testator and attested to by the electronic signatures of at least two (2) witnesses in the following manner:

(1) The testator and the attesting witnesses must be in each other's actual presence when the electronic signatures are made in or on the electronic will. The testator and witnesses must directly observe one another as the electronic will is being signed by the parties.

(2) The testator and attesting witnesses must comply with:

(A) the prompts, if any, issued by the software being used to perform the electronic signing; or

(B) the instructions by the person, if any, responsible for supervising the execution of the electronic will.

(3) The testator must state, in the actual presence of the attesting witnesses, that the instrument to be electronically signed is the testator's will.

(4) The testator must:

(A) electronically sign the electronic will in the actual presence of the attesting witnesses; or

(B) direct another adult individual who is not an attesting witness to sign the electronic will on the testator's behalf in the actual presence of the testator and the attesting witnesses.

(5) The attesting witnesses must electronically sign the electronic will in the actual presence of:

(A) the testator; and

(B) one another;

after the testator has electronically signed the electronic will.

(6) The:

(A) testator; or

(B) other adult individual who is:

(i) not an attesting witness; and

(ii) acting on behalf of the testator;

must command the software application or user interface to finalize the electronically signed electronic will as an electronic record.

The process described in this section may include as part of the electronic record for the electronic will any identity verification evidence pertaining to the testator or any document integrity evidence for the electronic will.

(b) An electronic will may be self-proved:

(1) at the time that it is electronically signed; and

(2) before it is electronically finalized; by incorporating into the electronic record of the electronic will a self-proving clause described under subsection (c). An electronic will is not required to contain an attestation clause or a self-proving clause in order to be a valid electronic will.

(c) A self-proving clause under subsection (b) must substantially be in the following form:

"We, the undersigned testator and the undersigned witnesses, whose names are signed to the attached or foregoing instrument, declare:

(1) That the testator executed the instrument as the testator's will.

- (2) That, in the actual and direct physical presence of both witnesses, the testator signed the will or directed another individual who is not one of the witnesses to sign for the testator in the testator's presence and in the witnesses' actual and direct physical presence;
- (3) That the testator executed the will as a free and voluntary act for the purposes expressed in it;
- (4) That each of the witnesses, in the actual and direct physical presence of the testator and each other, signed the will as a witness;
- (5) That the testator was of sound mind when the will was executed; and
- (6) That, to the best knowledge of each attesting witness, the testator was, at the time the will was executed, at least eighteen (18) years of age or was a member of the armed forces or of the merchant marine of the United States or its allies.

(insert date) (insert signature of testator)

(insert date) (insert signature of witness)

(insert date) (insert signature of witness)".

A single signature from the testator and from each attesting witness may be provided for any electronic will bearing or containing a self-proving clause.

(d) An electronic will that is executed in compliance with subsection (a) shall not be rendered invalid by the existence of any of the following attributes:

(1) An attestation clause.

(2) Additional signatures.

(3) A self-proving clause that differs in form from the exemplar provided in subsection (c).

(4) Any additional language that refers to the circumstances or manner in which the electronic will was executed.

(e) This section shall be construed in a manner that gives effect to the testator's intent to execute a valid will.

Note, too, that notwithstanding the apparent codification a rule requiring strict compliance with statutory will execution formalities, subsection (e) seems to codify the rule that underpins the Harmless Error Doctrine. In other words, the entire wills statute must be construed in a manner that gives effect to the testators intent to execute a valid will.

Comment

I. History of § 15-11-503

The Uniform Law Commission promulgated the Harmless Error doctrine at UPC-503 as follows:

§ 2-503. Harmless Error. Although a document or writing added upon a document was not executed in compliance with Section 2-502, the document or writing is treated as if it had been executed in compliance with that section if the proponent of the document or writing establishes by clear and convincing evidence that the decedent intended the document or writing to constitute:

- (1) the decedent's will,
 - (2) a partial or complete revocation of the will,
 - (3) an addition to or an alteration of the will,
- or
- (4) a partial or complete revival of his [or her] formerly revoked will or of a formerly revoked portion of the will.

Colorado enacted the Harmless Error doctrine in 1994, effective 1995, at § 15-11-503, Colorado Revised Statutes. However, the Colorado enactment was narrower in scope than the Uniform Law because it applied only to wills. Colorado enactment provided:

15-11-503. Writings intended as wills. Although a will was not executed in compliance with section 15-11-502, the will is treated as if it had been executed in compliance with that section if the proponent of the will establishes by clear and convincing evidence that the decedent intended the will to constitute the decedent's will.

Colorado amended 15-11-503 completely in 2001. The 2001 statute contained four subsections:

Subsection (1) adopted UPC-503 such that the Harmless Error doctrine as of June 1, 2001, applied uniformly and broadly to not only wills but also to revocations, alterations and revivals of formerly revoked will.

Subsection (2), which is not uniform, was added to restrict application of Harmless Error in two ways:

- the doctrine only applies if the document in question is: (i) signed by the decedent; or (ii) acknowledged by the decedent as his or her will; or
- it is established by clear and convincing evidence that the decedent erroneously signed a document intended to be the will of the decedent's spouse.

Subsection (3), also not uniform, was added to confirm that application of the Harmless Error doctrine is a question of law to be decided by a court in formal proceedings and not a question of fact to be decided by a jury.

Subsection (4) was added in 2010 after Colorado enacted the "Designated Beneficiary Agreement Statute."

II. Comparison of Harmless Error and Substantial Compliance.

Both doctrines are intent serving.

Harmless Error allows a court to excuse, or to dispense with, defective compliance with the statutory formalities to create a valid will. Moving away from the traditional requirement of strict compliance with the formalities, the Harmless Error doctrine allows a court to excuse a defect in compliance if the court finds by clear and convincing evidence that decedent adopted the document as the decedent's will.

Restatement (Third) Property – Wills and other Donative Transfers, section 3.3, cmt. b, explains:

The trend toward excusing Harmless Errors is based on the growing acceptance of the broader principal that mistake, whether in execution or in expression, should not be allowed to defeat intention nor to work unjust enrichment.

The substantial compliance doctrine is similarly intent serving but in a narrower sense. The purpose is to excuse imperfect compliance with a formal requirement for execution of a power of appointment imposed by the donor on the power holder.

	However, the doctrine does not excuse compliance with formal requirements imposed by law. Further, the doctrine excuses compliance with formal requirements imposed by the donor only if application of the doctrine does not defeat a material purpose of the donor in imposing the formal requirement. Restatement (Third) Property – Wills and other Donative Transfers, section 19.10, cmts. a and c. Interestingly, application of Harmless Error is often described as “the rule of substantial compliance.” Restatement (Third) Property – Wills and other Donative Transfers, section 3.3, Rptrs. notes on cmt. b. III. Issue Should this committee recommend enactment of the Harmless Error doctrine in the context of electronic wills and if so, should the committee recommend enactment of alternative A which is the uniform statute quoted above, or alternative B, which would to provide: Section 15-11-503, C.R.S. applies to a will executed electronically.
Colorado Subcommittee Recommendation	1. Adopt alternative “B” which will provide: Section 15-11-503, C.R.S., applies to a will executed electronically. 2. The Committee will revisit Section 2 (5) of the Act (definition of “sign”) in light of the adoption of Section 15-11-503 (2) (the requirement that a document be either “signed” or “acknowledged” by the decedent as his or her will in connection with an electronic will.) For example, should a testator’s valid “signing” of an electronic will be restricted to a “digitized signature”, meaning a graphic image of the testator’s signature? See Nevada Electronic Will Execution. Colorado Uniform Electronic Wills Act

UEWA Section	Seven
Section Title	Revocation
UEWA Statutory Language	SECTION 7. REVOCATION. (a) An electronic will may revoke all or part of a previous will. (b) All or part of an electronic will is revoked by: (1) a subsequent will that revokes all or part of the electronic will expressly or by inconsistency; or (2) a physical act, if it is established by a preponderance of the evidence that the testator, with the intent of revoking all or part of the will, performed the act or directed another individual who performed the act in the testator’s physical presence.
Uniform Law Commission Comment	Revocation by physical act is permitted for non-electronic wills. The difficulty with physical revocation of an electronic will is that multiple copies of an electronic will may exist. Although a subsequent will may revoke an electronic will, a testator may assume that a will may be deleted by using a delete or trash function on a computer, as well as by other physical means. Guided by the goal of giving effect to the intent of most testators, the E-Wills Act permits revocation by physical act. Although a will may be revoked by physical act, revocation by subsequent will under subsection (a)(1) is the preferred, and more reliable, method of revocation. The lack of a certain outcome when revocation by physical act is used makes this form of revocation problematic. Physical Act Revocation. The E-Wills Act does not define physical act, which could include deleting a file with the click of a mouse or smashing a flash drive with a hammer. If an electronic will is stored with a third party that provides a designated mechanism for revocation, such as a delete button, and the testator intentionally pushes the button, the testator has used a physical act. If a testator prints a copy of an electronic will, writing “revoked” on the copy would be a physical act. Typing “revoked” on an electronic copy would also constitute a physical act, if the electronic will had not been notarized in a manner that locked the document.

Sending an email that says, “I revoke my will,” is not a physical act performed on the will itself because the email is separate from the will. The email could revoke the will under subsection (a)(1) as a subsequent will, if the email met the formalities required under Section 5(a) or met the burden of proof under Section 6. Of course, if there were a separate physical act, such as deleting an electronic will on an electronic device, such an email could be useful evidence in interpreting the testator’s intent.

If a testator uses a physical act to revoke an electronic will, the party arguing that the testator intended to revoke the will must prove the testator’s intent.

Multiple Originals. Although multiple copies of an electronic will may exist, a physical act performed on one of them by the testator with the intent to revoke will be sufficient to revoke the will. Traditional law applicable to duplicate originals supports this rule. RESTATEMENT (THIRD) OF PROPERTY: WILLS & DON. TRANS. § 4.1, comment f, ¶ 2 (1999) is illustrative:

If the testator executed more than one copy of the same will, each duplicate is considered to be the testator’s will. The will is revoked if the testator, with intent to revoke, performs a revocatory act on one of the duplicates. The testator need not perform a revocatory act on all the duplicates.

Intent to Revoke. Revocation by physical act requires that the testator intend to revoke the will. The E-Wills Act uses a preponderance of the evidence standard, which may be more likely to give effect to the intent of testators with electronic wills than would a clear and convincing evidence standard. A testator might assume that by deleting a document the testator has revoked it, and a higher evidentiary standard could give effect to wills that testators intended to revoke. The standard may increase the risk of a false positive but should decrease the risk of a false negative. The preponderance of the evidence standard is consistent with the law for nonelectronic wills. RESTATEMENT (THIRD) OF PROPERTY: WILLS & DON. TRANS. § 4.1 (1999).

Example: Alejandro executes a will electronically, using a service that provides witnesses and a notary. A year later Alejandro decides to revoke the will, but he is not ready to make a new will. He goes to the website of the company that is storing his will, enters his login information, and gets to a page that gives him the option to revoke the will by pressing a button labeled revoke. He affirms the decision when a pop-up screen asks if he is certain he wants to revoke his will. When Alejandro dies, his sister (the beneficiary of the electronic will) produces a copy he had sent her. The company provides information indicating that he had revoked the will, following the company's protocol to revoke a will. The evidence is sufficient to establish that Alejandro intended to revoke his will, and under the E-Wills Act Alejandro's compliance with the company's protocol would qualify as a physical act revocation. His sister will be unsuccessful in her attempt to probate the copy she has.

Example: Yvette writes a will on her electronic tablet and executes it electronically, with two neighbors serving as witnesses. She saves a copy on her home computer. The will gives her estate to her nephew. Some years later Yvette decides she would prefer for her estate to be divided by her two intestate heirs, the nephew and a niece. Yvette deletes the will file on her computer, forgetting that she had given her tablet, which still has the will on it, to her nephew. She deleted the file with the intent to revoke her will, and she tells one of the witnesses as well as her niece that she has done so. When she dies her nephew produces the tablet and asserts that the will is her valid will. Her niece and the witness can testify that Yvette intended to revoke her will by the physical act of deleting the duplicate original on her computer. Under the E-Wills Act, a court could reasonably conclude that a preponderance of the evidence supports a finding of a physical act revocation. If the will on the computer had been deleted but the only person who could testify about Yvette's intent was the niece, the court might conclude that the niece's self-interest made her testimony less persuasive. The evidence in that case might not meet the preponderance of the evidence standard, especially if the niece had access to Yvette's computer.

Lost Wills. A testator's accidental deletion of an electronic will should not be considered revocation of the will. However, the common law "lost will" presumption may apply. Under the common law, if a will last known to be in the possession of the testator cannot be found at the testator's death, a presumption of revocation may apply. The soft presumption is that the testator destroyed the will with the intent to revoke it. RESTATEMENT (THIRD) OF PROPERTY: WILLS & DON. TRANS. § 4.1, comment j (1999). The presumption can be overcome with extrinsic evidence that provides another explanation for the will's disappearance. A house fire might have destroyed the testator's files. A testator may have misplaced or inadvertently discarded files; age or poor health may make such inadvertence more likely. A person with motive to revoke and access to the testator's files might have destroyed the will. The presumption does not apply if the will was in the possession of someone other than the testator. If the document cannot be found and the presumption of revocation is overcome or does not apply, the contents of the will can be proved through a copy or testimony of the person who drafted the will.

	Physical Act by Someone Other than Testator. A testator may direct someone else to perform a physical act on a will for the purpose of revoking it. The testator must be in the physical presence of the person performing the act, not merely in the person’s electronic presence. The use of “physical presence” is intended to mean that the state’s rules on presence in connection with wills apply—either line of sight or conscious presence. UPC § 2-507(a)(2) relies on conscious presence.
Nevada Statute	NRS133.120 Other means of revocation. 1. A written will other than an electronic will may only be revoked by: (a) Burning, tearing, cancelling or obliterating the will, with the intention of revoking it, by the testator, or by some person in the presence and at the direction of the testator; (b) Another will or codicil in writing, executed as prescribed in this chapter; or (c) An electronic will, executed as prescribed in this chapter. 2. An electronic will may only be revoked by: (a) Another will, codicil, electronic will or other writing, executed as prescribed in this chapter; or (b) Cancelling, rendering unreadable or obliterating the will with the intention of revoking it, by: (1) The testator or a person in the presence and at the direction of the testator; or (2) If the will is in the custody of a qualified custodian, the qualified custodian at the direction of a testator in an electronic will. 3. This section does not prevent the revocation implied by law from subsequent changes in the condition or circumstances of the testator. [8:61:1862; B § 819; BH § 3007; C § 3078; RL § 6209; NCL § 9912] — (NRS A 1999, 2257; 2017, 3442)
Indiana Statute	IN Code § 29-1-21-8 (2018) IC 29-1-21-8 Revocation of electronic will Sec. 8.

(a) This section describes the exclusive methods for revoking an electronic will. Before a testator completes or directs the revocation of an electronic will, the testator shall:

- (1) comply with; or
- (2) direct a third party custodian to comply, as applicable, with subsection (e).

(b) A testator may revoke and supersede a previously executed electronic will by executing a new electronic will or traditional paper will that explicitly revokes and supersedes all prior wills. However, if the revoked or superseded electronic will is held in the custody or control of more than one (1) custodian, the testator shall use the testator's best efforts to contact each custodian and to instruct each custodian to permanently delete and render nonretrievable each revoked or superseded electronic will in the manner described in subsection (d).

(c) If a testator is not using the services of a custodian to store the electronic record for an electronic will, the testator may revoke the electronic will by permanently deleting each copy of the electronic record associated with the electronic will in the testator's possession or control or by rendering the electronic record for the associated electronic will unreadable and nonretrievable.

(d) The testator may revoke the testator's electronic will by executing a revocation document that:

- (1) is signed by the testator and two (2) attesting witnesses in a manner that complies with IC 29-1-5-3(b) or with section 4 of this chapter;
- (2) refers to the date on which the electronic will that is being revoked was signed; and
- (3) states that the testator is revoking the electronic will described in subdivision (2).

A revocation document under this subsection may be signed and witnessed with the electronic signature of the testator and two (2) attesting witnesses, or signed and witnessed with signatures on paper as described in IC 29-1-5-6.

(e) If a testator is using the services of an attorney or a custodian to store the electronic record associated with the testator's electronic will, the testator may revoke the electronic will by instructing the custodian or attorney to permanently delete or make unreadable and nonretrievable the electronic record associated with the electronic will. An instruction issued under this subsection must be made in writing to the custodian or attorney as applicable. A custodian or attorney who receives a written instruction described in this subsection shall:

- (1) sign an affidavit of regularity under section 13 of this chapter with respect to the electronic will to be revoked by the testator;

	(2) create a complete converted copy (as defined in section 3(3) of this chapter) of the electronic will being revoked; (3) make the signed affidavit of regularity a permanent attachment to or part of the complete converted copy; (4) follow the testator's written instruction by: (A) permanently deleting the electronic record for the revoked electronic will; or (B) rendering the electronic record associated with the revoked electronic will unreadable and nonretrievable; and (5) transmit or issue the complete converted copy of the revoked electronic will to the testator. (f) If the electronic record for a particular electronic will or a complete converted copy of the electronic will cannot be found after the testator's death, the presumption that applied to a lost or missing traditional paper will shall be applied to the lost or missing electronic will.
Florida Statute	§ 732.506. Revocation by act. A will or codicil, other than an electronic will, is revoked by the testator, or some other person in the testator's presence and at the testator's direction, by burning, tearing, canceling, defacing, obliterating, or destroying it with the intent, and for the purpose, of revocation. An electronic will or codicil is revoked by the testator, or some other person in the testator's presence and at the testator's direction, by deleting, canceling, rendering unreadable, or obliterating the electronic will or codicil, with the intent, and for the purpose, of revocation, as proved by clear and convincing evidence.
Arizona Statute	14-2518. Electronic will; requirements; interpretation ...B. Except as provided in this section and sections 14-2519, 14-2520, 14-2521, 14-2522 and 14-2523, any question raised about the force, effect, validity and interpretation of an electronic will shall be determined in the same manner as a question regarding a paper will executed pursuant to section 14-2502. 14-2507. Revocation of will; requirements A. A testator may revoke a will in whole or in part: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. By executing a subsequent will that revokes the previous will or part expressly or by inconsistency. 2. By performing a revocatory act on the will if the testator performs the act with this intent or if another person performs the act in the testator's conscious presence and by the testator's direction. For the purposes of this paragraph, "revocatory act on the will" includes burning, tearing, canceling, obliterating, rendering unreadable or destroying the will or any part of it. A burning, tearing or canceling is a revocatory act on the will whether or not the burn, tear or cancellation touched any of the words on the will.

	B. If a subsequent will does not expressly revoke a previous will, the execution of the subsequent will wholly revokes the previous will by inconsistency if the testator intended the subsequent will to replace rather than supplement the previous will. C. The testator is presumed to have intended a subsequent will to replace rather than supplement a previous will if the subsequent will makes a complete disposition of the testator's estate. If this presumption arises and is not rebutted by clear and convincing evidence, the previous will is revoked and only the subsequent will is operative on the testator's death. D. The testator is presumed to have intended a subsequent will to supplement rather than replace a previous will if the subsequent will does not make a complete disposition of the testator's estate. If this presumption arises and is not rebutted by clear and convincing evidence, the subsequent will revokes the previous will only to the extent the subsequent will is inconsistent with the previous will and each will is fully operative on the testator's death to the extent the wills are not inconsistent.
Current Colorado Law	15-11-507. Revocation by writing or by act (1) A will or any part thereof is revoked: (a) By executing a subsequent will that revokes the previous will or part expressly or by inconsistency; or (b) By performing a revocatory act on the will, if the testator performed the act with the intent and for the purpose of revoking the will or part of it or if another individual performed the act in the testator's conscious presence and by the testator's direction. For purposes of this paragraph (b), "revocatory act on the will" includes burning, tearing, canceling, obliterating, or destroying the will or any part of it. A burning, tearing, or canceling is a "revocatory act on the will", whether or not the burn, tear, or cancellation touched any of the words on the will. (2) If a subsequent will does not expressly revoke a previous will, the execution of the subsequent will wholly revokes the previous will by inconsistency if the testator intended the subsequent will to replace rather than supplement the previous will. (3) The testator is presumed to have intended a subsequent will to replace rather than supplement a previous will if the subsequent will makes a complete disposition of the testator's estate. If this presumption arises and is not rebutted by clear and convincing evidence, the previous will is revoked; only the subsequent will is operative on the testator's death.

	(4) The testator is presumed to have intended a subsequent will to supplement rather than replace a previous will if the subsequent will does not make a complete disposition of the testator's estate. If this presumption arises and is not rebutted by clear and convincing evidence, the subsequent will revokes the previous will only to the extent the subsequent will is inconsistent with the previous will; each will is fully operative on the testator's death to the extent they are not inconsistent.
Colorado Subcommittee Comment	A higher burden of proof should be required to overcome the presumption of revocation.
Colorado Subcommittee Recommendation	SECTION 7. 	(d) A signature physically or electronically affixed to an affidavit that is affixed to or logically associated with an electronic will under this [act] is deemed a signature of the electronic will under Section 5(a).
Uniform Law Commission Comment	Legislative Note: A state that has not enacted the Uniform Probate Code should conform Section 8 to its self-proving affidavit statute. The statements that the requirements for a valid will are met and the language required for the notary’s certification should conform with the requirements under state law. A state that has authorized remote online notarization by enacting the 2018 version of the Revised Uniform Law on Notarial Acts should cite to Section 14A of that act in subsection (b)(1). A state that has adopted a non-uniform law allowing remote online notarization should cite to the relevant section of state law in subsection (b)(1). A state that does not permit an electronic will to be executed without all witnesses being physically present should omit the bracketed language in subsection (b)(1) and the words “or electronic” in subsection (c) and Section 5(a)(3). Comment If an officer authorized to administer oaths (a notary) is in a state that has adopted Section 14A of RULONA or a comparable statute, the notary need not be physically present. However, if the state has not adopted a statute allowing remote online notarization, the notary must be physically present in order to administer the oath under the law of that state. Remote Online Notarization. Section 14A of RULONA provides additional protection through a notarization process referred to as “remote online notarization.” In remote online notarization, the person signing a document appears before a notary using audio-video technology. Depending on state law, the document can be paper or digital, but the signer and the notary are in two different places. Extra security measures are taken to establish the signer’s identity. The E-Wills Act requires additional steps to make an electronic will with remote attestation self-proving. If the testator and necessary witnesses are in the same physical location, the will can be made self-proving using a notary who can notarize an electronic document but who is not authorized to use remote online notarization. However, if anyone

	necessary to the execution of the will is not in the same physical location as the testator, the will can be made self-proving only if remote online notarization is used. Signatures on Affidavit Used to Execute Will. Subsection [(d)] addresses the problem that arises when a testator and witnesses sign an affidavit, mistakenly thinking they are signing the will itself. UPC § 2-504(c) incorporated this provision into the UPC in 1990 to counteract judicial interpretations in some states that had invalidated wills where this mistake had occurred. Time of Affidavit. Under the UPC a will may be made self-proving at a time later than execution. The E-Wills Act does not permit the execution of a self-proving affidavit for an electronic will other than at the time of execution of the electronic will. An electronic will has metadata that will show the date of execution, and if an affidavit is logically associated with an electronic will at a later date, the date of the electronic will and the protection provided by the self-proving affidavit may be uncertain. If a testator fails to make an electronic will self-proving simultaneously with the will’s execution, the testator can later re-execute the electronic will. The additional burden on the testator is justified given the possible confusion and loss of protection that could result from a later completion of an affidavit.
Current Colorado Law C.R.S. § 15-11-504	Self-Proved Will (1) A will that is executed with attesting witnesses may be simultaneously executed, attested, and made self-proved by acknowledgment thereof by the testator and affidavits of the witnesses, each made before an officer authorized to administer oaths under the laws of the state in which execution occurs and evidenced by the officer's certificate, under official seal, in substantially the following form: I, _____, the testator, sign my name to this instrument this ____ day of ____, and being first duly sworn, do hereby declare to the undersigned authority that I sign and execute this instrument as my will and that I sign it willingly (or willingly direct another to sign for me), that I execute it as my free and voluntary act for the purposes therein expressed, and that I am eighteen years of age or older, of sound mind, and under no constraint or undue influence.

Colorado Comment	COMMENT A self-proved will may be admitted to probate as provided in Sections 3-303, 3-405, and 3-406 without the testimony of any attesting witness, but otherwise it is treated no differently from a will not self proved. Thus, a self-proved will may be contested (except in regard to questions of proper execution), revoked, or amended by a codicil in exactly the same fashion as a will not self proved. The procedural advantage of a self-proved will is limited to formal testacy

	proceedings because Section 3-303, which deals with informal probate, dispenses with the necessity of testimony of witnesses even though the instrument is not self proved under this section. Subsection (c) was added in 1990 to counteract an unfortunate judicial interpretation of similar self-proving will provisions in a few states, under which a signature on the self-proving affidavit was held not to constitute a signature on the will, resulting in invalidity of the will in cases in which the testator or witnesses got confused and only signed on the self-proving affidavit. See Mann, Self-proving Affidavits and Formalism in Wills Adjudication, 63 Wash. U. L.Q. 39 (1985); Estate of Ricketts, 773 P.2d 93 (Wash.Ct.App. 1989). 2008 Revision. Section 2-502(a) was amended in 2008 to add an optional method of execution by having a will notarized rather than witnessed by two attesting witnesses. The amendment to Section 2-502 necessitated amending this section so that it only applies to a will that is executed with attesting witnesses. Historical Note. A signature affixed to a self-proving affidavit or a self-proving declaration that is attached to a will and executed at the same time as the will is considered a signature affixed to the will if necessary to prove the execution of the will.
Colorado Subcommittee Comment	Note that a self-proving affidavit is permitted only at the time of signing the electronic will. Should this be clarified with the word “only” or some other limiting language? Or should a testator be allowed to self-prove an electronic will after the fact if the affidavit identifies the metadata or contains other information that proves that it refers to the correct electronic will? Also, Arizona, Florida, and Nevada buck uniformity and require custodians to maintain custody of the will in order for a self-proving affidavit to be valid. There is wisdom in this. See A.R.S. §§ 14-2520, et seq. (definition and duties if qualified custodian); F.R.S. §§ 732.524-525 (definition, bonding, liability, and receivership of qualified custodian); N.R.S. §§ 133.286 (“Qualified custodian’ means a person who meets the requirements of NRS 133.320.”); 133.300, et seq. (qualifications, duties, and cessation of qualified custodian). Indiana does not require a custodian, but it defines a custodian and authorizes a custodian to maintain an electronic will for evidentiary purposes. I.R.S. §§ 29-1-21-3(4)-(6) (definitions), 29-1-21-10 (maintenance, receipt, and transfer of electronic will), 29-1-21-13 (affidavit of regularity signed by a custodian). Given that three of the four states require a custodian in order for a self-providing affidavit to be valid, and the fourth state (Indiana) permits it, the Uniform law is lacking in this regard. However, the subcommittee recommends that the CBA reserve proposing a final version of Sections 8 and Section 9 and engage in conversations with members of the Colorado legislature and Colorado’s Commission on Uniform Laws. The subcommittee will continue to review and revise language that proposes qualified custodians or a similar concept via the state court administrator’s office prior to the legislative session. The inclusion of a requirement for qualified custodians and/or use of the state court administrator’s office for this purpose is likely to have fiscal impacts and be of interest to other stakeholders during the legislative process. The subcommittee supports adopting the language below subject to further review and comment during the legislative session.

Colorado Subcommittee Recommendation	(a) An electronic will may be simultaneously executed, attested, and made self-proving by acknowledgment of the testator and affidavits of the witnesses. (b) The acknowledgment and affidavits under subsection (a) must be: (1) made in the physical presence officer authorized to administer oaths under law of the state in which the testator signs pursuant to section 5(a)(2) or, if fewer than two attesting witnesses are physically present in the same location as the testator at the time of signing under pursuant to section 5(a)(2), in the physical or electronic presence of a notary public or other individual who is authorized by Colorado law to notarize records, and who is located in Colorado at the time the notarial act is performed; and (2) evidenced by the officer’s certificate under official seal affixed to or logically associated with the electronic will. (c) The acknowledgment and affidavits under subsection (a) must be in substantially the following form: I, _____, the testator, and, being sworn, declare to the (name) undersigned officer that I sign this instrument as my electronic will, I willingly sign it or willingly direct another individual to sign it for me, I execute it as my voluntary act for the purposes expressed in this instrument, and I am [18] years of age or older, of sound mind, and under no constraint or undue influence. _____ Testator We, _____, and _____, witnesses, being sworn, declare to the undersigned officer that the testator signed this instrument as the testator’s electronic will, that the testator willingly signed it or willingly directed another individual to sign for the testator, and that each of us, in the physical [or electronic] presence of the testator, signs this instrument as witness to the testator’s signing, and to the best of our knowledge the testator is [18] years of age or older, of sound mind, and under no constraint or undue influence. _____

Colorado Subcommittee Recommendation	TBT during legislative process

Prefatory Note. Provides an overview of the Act.

Section 1. Short Title. In Colorado, the short title of the act will be the “Colorado Uniform Electronic Wills Act”.

Section 2. Definitions. The definitions are consistent with Colorado law. Section 2(5) definition of the word “Sign” means, with present intent to authenticate or adopt a record. Section 2(5)(A) provides: “Subject to subsection (B), to execute or adopt a tangible symbol; or to affix to or logically associate with the record an electronic symbol or process.” This section is consistent with C.R.S. § 24-21-502(12)(a)(b). The Committee added Section 2(5)(B) which provides: the electronic signature of the testator or witness must be an electronic image of the testator’s or witness’ signature affixed to the electronic will. Subsection (B) is consistent with Nevada’s Electronic Will Act, Section 133.085 definition of “Sign”.

Section 3. Law Applicable to Electronic Wills, Principles of Equity. This section follows Colorado law (e.g. C.R.S. § 15-10-103) by providing that the common law and principles of equity supplement the Act except to the extent modified by the Act.

Section 4. Choice of Law Regarding Execution. This section is consistent with C.R.S. § 15-11-506, which provides: “A written will is valid if executed in compliance with section 15-11-502 or 15-11-503 or if its execution complies with the law at the time of execution of the place where the will is executed, or of the law of the place where, at the time of execution or at the time of death, the testator is domiciled, has a place of abode, or is a national.”

Section 5. Execution of Electronic Will. This section is consistent with C.R.S. § 15-11-502(1) for witnessed electronic wills and for notarized electronic wills except that section 5(a)(3)(B) for notarized electronic wills has been revised to require acknowledgement by the testator in the physical or electronic presence of a notary who is located in Colorado at the time the notarial act is performed and who is authorized by Colorado law to notarize records electronically.

Section 6. Harmless Error. This section provides that the harmless error doctrine in C.R.S. § 15-11-503 applies to an electronic will.

Section 7. Revocation. This provision regarding revocation of an electronic will is consistent with the rules of C.R.S. § 15-11-507 for a “paper will” except that the evidentiary standard to establish intent to revoke an electronic will by a physical act is heightened to clear and convincing.

Section 8. Electronic Will Attested and Made Self-Proving at Time of Execution. *

Section 9. Certification of Paper Copy *

Section 10. Uniformity of Application and Construction. This section is consistent with other Colorado uniform law enactments by providing that in applying and construing the E-wills Act consideration must be given to the promotion of uniformity of the law.

Section 11. Transitional Provision. This section is consistent with C.R.S. § 15-17-101 and Colorado case law.

Section 12. Effective Date. This section is consistent with Colorado law and the effective date will be determined during the legislative process.

* The CBA E-Wills Committee believes that the adoption of an e-wills act this legislative session is imperative based on the uncertainties and complexities created by the pandemic and the existence of remotely executed wills during the pandemic. We have harmonized the uniform language for Sections 8 and 9 with the other subcommittee recommendations on the proposed Colorado Uniform Electronic Wills Act and if necessary, we would like the CBA to support the adoption of those provisions as proposed in our current draft. However, the subcommittee does support the use of qualified custodians in Colorado but only if there is a “public” option. We would not support adding qualified custodians as a requirement if the law provides only for private (i.e. paid) vendors to serve in that capacity. Our goal is to have Andy White on behalf of the CBA reach out to facilitate a conversation at the Capitol with Sen. Gardner and the other ULC Commissioners so that we can engage early and in a cooperative fashion on any possible amendments, but specifically as to Sections 8 & 9, and their fiscal implications in the 2021 session. We are asking the ELS and T&E to approved Sections 8 & 9 as proposed, with the understanding that we expect that the concept of qualified custodians may be introduced during the legislative session and will require the subcommittee to engage in review, consideration and drafting possible amendments for that purpose.

FIDUCIARY DUTIES AND JUDICIAL REVIEW

SECTION 201. FIDUCIARY DUTIES; GENERAL PRINCIPLES.

(a) In making an allocation or determination or exercising discretion under this [act], a fiduciary shall:

- (1) act in good faith, based on what is fair and reasonable to all beneficiaries;
- (2) administer a trust or estate impartially, except to the extent the terms of the trust manifest an intent that the fiduciary shall or may favor one or more beneficiaries;
- (3) administer the trust or estate in accordance with the terms of the trust, even if there is a different provision in this [act]; and
- (4) administer the trust or estate in accordance with this [act], except to the extent the terms of the trust provide otherwise or authorize the fiduciary to determine otherwise.

(b) A fiduciary's allocation, determination, or exercise of discretion under this [act] is presumed to be fair and reasonable to all beneficiaries. A fiduciary may exercise a discretionary power of administration given to the fiduciary by the terms of the trust, and an exercise of the power which produces a result different from a result required or permitted by this [act] does not create an inference that the fiduciary abused the fiduciary's discretion.

(c) A fiduciary shall:

- (1) add a receipt to principal, to the extent neither the terms of the trust nor this [act] allocates the receipt between income and principal; and
- (2) charge a disbursement to principal, to the extent neither the terms of the trust nor this [act] allocates the disbursement between income and principal.

(d) A fiduciary may exercise the power to adjust under Section 203, convert an income trust to a unitrust under Section 303(a)(1), change the percentage or method used to calculate a unitrust amount under Section 303(a)(2), or convert a unitrust to an income trust under Section 303(a)(3), if the fiduciary determines the exercise of the power will assist the fiduciary to administer the trust or estate impartially.

(e) Factors the fiduciary must consider in making the determination under subsection (d) include:

- (1) the terms of the trust;
- (2) the nature, distribution standards, and expected duration of the trust;

- (3) the effect of the allocation rules, including specific adjustments between income and principal, under [Articles] 4 through 7;
- (4) the desirability of liquidity and regularity of income;
- (5) the desirability of the preservation and appreciation of principal;
- (6) the extent to which an asset is used or may be used by a beneficiary;
- (7) the increase or decrease in the value of principal assets, reasonably determined by the fiduciary;
- (8) whether and to what extent the terms of the trust give the fiduciary power to accumulate income or invade principal or prohibit the fiduciary from accumulating income or invading principal;
- (9) the extent to which the fiduciary has accumulated income or invaded principal in preceding accounting periods;
- (10) the effect of current and reasonably expected economic conditions; and
- (11) the reasonably expected tax consequences of the exercise of the power.

SECTION 202. JUDICIAL REVIEW OF EXERCISE OF DISCRETIONARY POWER[; REQUEST FOR INSTRUCTION].

(a) In this section, “fiduciary decision” means:

- (1) a fiduciary’s allocation between income and principal or other determination regarding income and principal required or authorized by the terms of the trust or this [act];
- (2) the fiduciary’s exercise or nonexercise of a discretionary power regarding income and principal granted by the terms of the trust or this [act], including the power to adjust under Section 203, convert an income trust to a unitrust under Section 303(a)(1), change the percentage or method used to calculate a unitrust amount under Section 303(a)(2), or convert a unitrust to an income trust under Section 303(a)(3); or
- (3) the fiduciary’s implementation of a decision described in paragraph (1) or (2).

(b) The court may not order a fiduciary to change a fiduciary decision unless the court determines that the fiduciary decision was an abuse of the fiduciary’s discretion.

(c) If the court determines that a fiduciary decision was an abuse of the fiduciary’s discretion, the court may order a remedy authorized by law, including Uniform Trust Code Section 1001 and Part 5 of Article 10 of Title 15, C.R.S. To place the beneficiaries in the positions the beneficiaries would have occupied if there had not been an abuse of the fiduciary’s discretion, the court may order:

(1) the fiduciary to exercise or refrain from exercising the power to adjust under Section 203;

(2) the fiduciary to exercise or refrain from exercising the power to convert an income trust to a unitrust under Section 303(a)(1), change the percentage or method used to calculate a unitrust amount under Section 303(a)(2), or convert a unitrust to an income trust under Section 303(a)(3);

(5) the fiduciary to withhold an amount from one or more future distributions to a beneficiary.

[(d) On [petition] by a fiduciary for instruction, the court may determine whether a proposed fiduciary decision will result in an abuse of the fiduciary's discretion. If the [petition] describes the proposed decision, contains sufficient information to inform the beneficiary of the reasons for making the proposed decision and the facts on which the fiduciary relies, and explains how the beneficiary will be affected by the proposed decision, a beneficiary that opposes the proposed decision has the burden to establish that it will result in an abuse of the fiduciary's discretion.]

SECTION 203. FIDUCIARY'S POWER TO ADJUST.

(a) Except as otherwise provided in the terms of a trust or this section, a fiduciary, in a record, without court approval, may adjust between income and principal if the fiduciary determines the exercise of the power to adjust will assist the fiduciary to administer the trust or estate impartially.

(b) This section does not create a duty to exercise or consider the power to adjust under subsection (a) or to inform a beneficiary about the applicability of this section.

(c) A fiduciary that in good faith exercises or fails to exercise the power to adjust under subsection (a) is not liable to a person affected by the exercise or failure to exercise.

(d) In deciding whether and to what extent to exercise the power to adjust under subsection (a), a fiduciary shall consider all factors the fiduciary considers relevant, including relevant factors in Section 201(e) and the application of Sections 401(i), 408, and 413.

(e) A fiduciary may not exercise the power under subsection (a) to make an adjustment or under Section 408 to make a determination that an allocation is insubstantial if:

(1) the adjustment or determination would reduce the amount payable to a current income beneficiary from a trust that qualifies for a special tax benefit, except to the extent the adjustment is made to provide for a reasonable apportionment of the total return of the trust between the current income beneficiary and successor beneficiaries;

(2) the adjustment or determination would change the amount payable to a beneficiary, as a fixed annuity or a fixed fraction of the value of the trust assets, under the terms of the trust;

(3) the adjustment or determination would reduce an amount that is permanently set aside for a charitable purpose under the terms of the trust, unless both income and principal are set aside for the charitable purpose;

(4) possessing or exercising the power would cause a person to be treated as the owner of all or part of the trust for federal income tax purposes;

(5) possessing or exercising the power would cause all or part of the value of the trust assets to be included in the gross estate of an individual for federal estate tax purposes;

(6) possessing or exercising the power would cause an individual to be treated as making a gift for federal gift tax purposes;

(7) the fiduciary is not an independent person;

(8) the trust is irrevocable and provides for income to be paid to the settlor and possessing or exercising the power would cause the adjusted principal or income to be considered an available resource or available income under a public-benefit program; or

(9) the trust is a unitrust under [Article] 3.

(f) If subsection (e)(4), (5), (6), or (7) applies to a fiduciary:

(1) a co-fiduciary to which subsection (e)(4) through (7) does not apply may exercise the power to adjust, unless the exercise of the power by the remaining co-fiduciary or co-fiduciaries is not permitted by the terms of the trust or law other than this [act]; or

(2) if there is no co-fiduciary to which subsection (e)(4) through (7) does not apply, the fiduciary may appoint a co-fiduciary to which subsection (e)(4) through (7) does not apply, which may be a special fiduciary with limited powers, and the appointed co-fiduciary may exercise the power to adjust under subsection (a), unless the appointment of a co-fiduciary or the exercise of the power by a co-fiduciary is not permitted by the terms of the trust or law other than this [act].

(g) A fiduciary may release or delegate to a co-fiduciary the power to adjust under subsection (a) if the fiduciary determines that the fiduciary's possession or exercise of the power will or may:

(1) cause a result described in subsection (e)(1) through (6) or (8); or
(2) deprive the trust of a tax benefit or impose a tax burden not described in subsection (e)(1) through (6).

(h) A fiduciary's release or delegation to a co-fiduciary under subsection (g) of the power to adjust under subsection (a):

- (1) must be in a record;
- (2) applies to the entire power, unless the release or delegation provides a limitation, which may be a limitation to the power to adjust:
 - (A) from income to principal;
 - (B) from principal to income;
 - (C) for specified property; or
 - (D) in specified circumstances;
- (3) for a delegation, may be modified by a re-delegation under this subsection by the co-fiduciary to which the delegation is made; and
- (4) subject to paragraph (3), is permanent, unless the release or delegation provides a specified period, including a period measured by the life of an individual or the lives of more than one individual.

(i) Terms of a trust which deny or limit the power to adjust between income and principal do not affect the application of this section, unless the terms of the trust expressly deny or limit the power to adjust under subsection (a).

(j) The exercise of the power to adjust under subsection (a) in any accounting period may apply to the current period, the immediately preceding period, and one or more subsequent periods.

(k) A description of the exercise of the power to adjust under subsection (a) must be:

- (1) included in a report, if any, sent to beneficiaries under Colorado Uniform Trust Code Section 813(c); or
- (2) communicated at least annually to {the qualified beneficiaries determined under Colorado Uniform Trust Code Section 103(16), including the Attorney General when applicable [all beneficiaries that receive or are entitled to receive income from the trust or would be entitled to receive a distribution of principal if the trust were terminated at the time the notice is sent, assuming no power of appointment is exercised]}.

(h) If a fiduciary receives additional information about the application of this section to an entity distribution before the fiduciary has paid part of the entity distribution to a beneficiary, the fiduciary may consider the additional information before making the payment to the beneficiary and may change a decision to make the payment to the beneficiary.

(i) If a fiduciary receives additional information about the application of this section to an entity distribution after the fiduciary has paid part of the entity distribution to a beneficiary, the fiduciary is not required to change or recover the payment to the beneficiary but may consider that information in determining whether to exercise the power to adjust under Section 203.

SECTION 402. DISTRIBUTION FROM TRUST OR ESTATE. A fiduciary shall allocate to income an amount received as a distribution of income, including a unitrust distribution under [Article] 3, from a trust or estate in which the fiduciary has an interest, other than an interest the fiduciary purchased in a trust that is an investment entity, and shall allocate to principal an amount received as a distribution of principal from the trust or estate. If a fiduciary purchases, or receives from a settlor, an interest in a trust that is an investment entity, Section 401, 415, or 416 applies to a receipt from the trust.

SECTION 403. BUSINESS OR OTHER ACTIVITY CONDUCTED BY FIDUCIARY.

(a) This section applies to a business or other activity conducted by a fiduciary if the fiduciary determines that it is in the interests of the beneficiaries to account separately for the business or other activity instead of:

(1) accounting for the business or other activity as part of the fiduciary's general accounting records; or

(2) conducting the business or other activity through an entity described in Section 401(a)(2)(A).

(b) A fiduciary may account separately under this section for the transactions of a business or other activity, whether or not assets of the business or other activity are segregated from other assets held by the fiduciary.

(c) A fiduciary that accounts separately under this section for a business or other activity:

(1) may determine:

(A) the extent to which the net cash receipts of the business or other activity must be retained for:

(i) working capital;

(ii) the acquisition or replacement of fixed assets; and
(iii) other reasonably foreseeable needs of the business or other activity; and

(B) the extent to which the remaining net cash receipts are accounted for as principal or income in the fiduciary's general accounting records for the trust;

(2) may make a determination under paragraph (1) separately and differently from the fiduciary's decisions concerning distributions of income or principal; and

(3) shall account for the net amount received from the sale of an asset of the business or other activity, other than a sale in the ordinary course of the business or other activity, as principal in the fiduciary's general accounting records for the trust, to the extent the fiduciary determines that the net amount received is no longer required in the conduct of the business or other activity.

(d) Activities for which a fiduciary may account separately under this section include:

- (1) retail, manufacturing, service, and other traditional business activities;
- (2) farming;
- (3) raising and selling livestock and other animals;
- (4) managing rental properties;
- (5) extracting minerals, water, and other natural resources;
- (6) growing and cutting timber;
- (7) an activity to which Section 414, 415, or 416 applies; and
- (8) any other business conducted by the fiduciary.

[PART] 2

- (B) an estate;
- (C) a trust on termination of an income interest; or
- (D) a payor under a contract naming the fiduciary as beneficiary;

(2) except as otherwise provided in this [article], money or other property received from the sale, exchange, liquidation, or change in form of a principal asset;

(3) an amount recovered from a third party to reimburse the fiduciary because of a disbursement described in Section 502(a) or for another reason to the extent not based on loss of income;

(4) proceeds of property taken by eminent domain, except that proceeds awarded for loss of income in an accounting period are income if a current income beneficiary had a mandatory income interest during the period;

(5) net income received in an accounting period during which there is no beneficiary to which a fiduciary may or must distribute income; and

(6) other receipts as provided in [Part] 3.

SECTION 405. RENTAL PROPERTY. To the extent a fiduciary does not account for the management of rental property as a business under Section 403, the fiduciary shall allocate to income an amount received as rent of real or personal property, including an amount received for cancellation or renewal of a lease. An amount received as a refundable deposit, including a security deposit or a deposit that is to be applied as rent for future periods:

(1) must be added to principal and held subject to the terms of the lease, except as otherwise provided by law other than this [act]; and

(2) is not allocated to income or available for distribution to a beneficiary until the fiduciary's contractual obligations have been satisfied with respect to that amount.

SECTION 406. RECEIPT ON OBLIGATION TO BE PAID IN MONEY.

(a) This section does not apply to an obligation to which Section 409, 410, 411, 412, 414, 415, or 416 applies.

(b) A fiduciary shall allocate to income, without provision for amortization of premium, an amount received as interest on an obligation to pay money to the fiduciary, including an amount received as consideration for prepaying principal.

(c) A fiduciary shall allocate to principal an amount received from the sale, redemption, or other disposition of an obligation to pay money to the fiduciary. A fiduciary shall allocate to income the increment in value of a bond or other obligation for the payment of money bearing no stated interest but payable or redeemable, at maturity or another future time, in an amount that exceeds the amount in consideration of which it was issued.

SECTION 407. INSURANCE POLICY OR CONTRACT.

(a) This section does not apply to a contract to which Section 409 applies.

(b) Except as otherwise provided in subsection (c), a fiduciary shall allocate to principal the proceeds of a life insurance policy or other contract received by the fiduciary as beneficiary, including a contract that insures against damage to, destruction of, or loss of title to an asset. The fiduciary shall allocate dividends on an insurance policy to income to the extent premiums on the policy are paid from income and to principal to the extent premiums on the policy are paid from principal.

(c) A fiduciary shall allocate to income proceeds of a contract that insures the fiduciary against loss of:

- a. occupancy or other use by a current income beneficiary;
- b. income; or
- c. subject to Section 403, profits from a business.

[PART] 3

RECEIPTS NORMALLY APPORTIONED

SECTION 408. INSUBSTANTIAL ALLOCATION NOT REQUIRED.

(a) If a fiduciary determines that an allocation between income and principal required by Section 409, 410, 411, 412, or 415 is insubstantial, the fiduciary may allocate the entire amount to principal, unless Section 203(e) applies to the allocation.

(b) A fiduciary may presume an allocation is insubstantial under subsection (a) if:

- (1) the amount of the allocation would increase or decrease net income in an accounting period, as determined before the allocation, by less than 10 percent; and
- (2) the asset producing the receipt to be allocated has a fair market value less than 10 percent of the total fair market value of the assets owned or held by the fiduciary at the beginning of the accounting period.

(c) The power to make a determination under subsection (a) may be:

- (1) exercised by a co-fiduciary in the manner described in Section 203(f); or
- (2) released or delegated for a reason described in Section 203(g) and in the manner described in Section 203(h).

SECTION 409. DEFERRED COMPENSATION, ANNUITY, OR SIMILAR PAYMENT.

(a) In this section:

(1) “Internal income of a separate fund” means the amount determined under subsection (b).

(2) “Marital trust” means a trust:

(A) of which the settlor’s surviving spouse is the only current income beneficiary and is entitled to a distribution of all the current net income of the trust; and

(B) that qualifies for a marital deduction with respect to the settlor’s estate under 26 U.S.C. Section 2056, as amended, because:

(i) an election to qualify for a marital deduction under 26 U.S.C. Section 2056(b)(7), as amended, has been made; or

(ii) the trust qualifies for a marital deduction under 26 U.S.C. Section 2056(b)(5), as amended.

(3) “Payment” means an amount a fiduciary may receive over a fixed number of years or during the life of one or more individuals because of services rendered or property transferred to the payor in exchange for future amounts the fiduciary may receive. The term includes an amount received in money or property from the payor’s general assets or from a separate fund created by the payor.

(4) “Separate fund” includes a private or commercial annuity, an individual retirement account, and a pension, profit-sharing, stock-bonus, or stock-ownership plan.

(b) For each accounting period, the following rules apply to a separate fund:

(1) The fiduciary shall determine the internal income of the separate fund as if the separate fund were a trust subject to this [act].

(2) If the fiduciary cannot determine the internal income of the separate fund under paragraph (1), the internal income of the separate fund is deemed to equal four percent of the value of the separate fund, according to the most recent statement of value preceding the beginning of the accounting period.

(3) If the fiduciary cannot determine the value of the separate fund under paragraph (2), the value of the separate fund is deemed to equal the present value of the expected future payments, as determined under 26 U.S.C. Section 7520, as amended, for the month preceding the beginning of the accounting period for which the computation is made.

(c) A fiduciary shall allocate a payment received from a separate fund during an accounting period to income, to the extent of the internal income of the separate fund during the period, and the balance to principal.

(d) The fiduciary of a marital trust shall:

(1) withdraw from a separate fund the amount the current income beneficiary of the trust requests the fiduciary to withdraw, not greater than the amount by which the internal income of the separate fund during the accounting period exceeds the amount the fiduciary otherwise receives from the separate fund during the period;

(2) transfer from principal to income the amount the current income beneficiary requests the fiduciary to transfer, not greater than the amount by which the internal income of the separate fund during the period exceeds the amount the fiduciary receives from the separate fund during the period after the application of paragraph (1); and

(3) distribute to the current income beneficiary as income:

(A) the amount of the internal income of the separate fund received or withdrawn during the period; and

(B) the amount transferred from principal to income under paragraph (2).

(e) For a trust, other than a marital trust, of which one or more current income beneficiaries are entitled to a distribution of all the current net income, the fiduciary shall transfer from principal to income the amount by which the internal income of a separate fund during the accounting period exceeds the amount the fiduciary receives from the separate fund during the period.

SECTION 410. LIQUIDATING ASSET.

(a) In this section, “liquidating asset” means an asset whose value will diminish or terminate because the asset is expected to produce receipts for a limited time. The term includes a leasehold, patent, copyright, royalty right, and right to receive payments during a period of more than one year under an arrangement that does not provide for the payment of interest on the unpaid balance.

(b) This section does not apply to a receipt subject to Section 401, 409, 411, 412, 414, 415, 416, or 503.

(c) A fiduciary shall allocate:

(1) to income:

(A) a receipt produced by a liquidating asset, to the extent the receipt does not exceed [insert a number at least three and not more than five] percent of the value of the asset; or

(B) if the fiduciary cannot determine the value of the asset, 10 percent of the receipt; and

(2) to principal, the balance of the receipt.

SECTION 411. MINERALS, WATER, AND OTHER NATURAL RESOURCES.

(a) To the extent a fiduciary does not account for a receipt from an interest in minerals, water, or other natural resources as a business under Section 403, the fiduciary shall allocate the receipt:

(1) to income, to the extent received:

(A) as delay rental or annual rent on a lease;

(B) as a factor for interest or the equivalent of interest under an agreement creating a production payment; or

(C) on account of an interest in renewable water;

(2) to principal, if received from a production payment, to the extent paragraph (1)(B) does not apply; or

(3) between income and principal equitably, to the extent received:

(A) on account of an interest in non-renewable water;

(B) as a royalty, shut-in-well payment, take-or-pay payment, or bonus; or

(C) from a working interest or any other interest not provided for in paragraph (1) or (2) or subparagraph (A) or (B).

(b) This section applies to an interest owned or held by a fiduciary whether or not a settlor was extracting minerals, water, or other natural resources before the fiduciary owned or held the interest.

(c) An allocation of a receipt under subsection (a)(3) is presumed to be equitable if the amount allocated to principal is equal to the amount allowed by the Internal Revenue Code of 1986[, as amended,] 26 U.S.C.[, as amended,] as a deduction for depletion of the interest.

(d) If a fiduciary owns or holds an interest in minerals, water, or other natural resources before [the effective date of this [act]], the fiduciary may allocate receipts from the interest as provided in this section or in the manner used by the fiduciary before [the effective date of this [act]]. If the fiduciary acquires an interest in minerals, water, or other natural resources on or after [the effective date of this [act]], the fiduciary shall allocate receipts from the interest as provided in this section.

SECTION 412. TIMBER.

(a) To the extent a fiduciary does not account for receipts from the sale of timber and related products as a business under Section 403, the fiduciary shall allocate the net receipts:

(1) to income, to the extent the amount of timber cut from the land does not exceed the rate of growth of the timber;

(2) to principal, to the extent the amount of timber cut from the land exceeds the rate of growth of the timber or the net receipts are from the sale of standing timber;

(3) between income and principal if the net receipts are from the lease of land used for growing and cutting timber or from a contract to cut timber from land, by determining the amount of timber cut from the land under the lease or contract and applying the rules in paragraphs (1) and (2); or

(4) to principal, to the extent advance payments, bonuses, and other payments are not allocated under paragraph (1), (2), or (3).

(b) In determining net receipts to be allocated under subsection (a), a fiduciary shall deduct and transfer to principal a reasonable amount for depletion.

(c) This section applies to land owned or held by a fiduciary whether or not a settlor was cutting timber from the land before the fiduciary owned or held the property.

(d) If a fiduciary owns or holds an interest in land used for growing and cutting timber before [the effective date of this [act]], the fiduciary may allocate net receipts from the sale of timber and related products as provided in this section or in the manner used by the fiduciary before [the effective date of this [act]]. If the fiduciary acquires an interest in land used for growing and cutting timber on or after [the effective date of this [act]], the fiduciary shall allocate net receipts from the sale of timber and related products as provided in this section.

SECTION 413. MARITAL DEDUCTION PROPERTY NOT PRODUCTIVE OF INCOME.

(a) If a trust received property for which a gift or estate tax marital deduction was allowed and the settlor's spouse holds a mandatory income interest in the trust, the spouse may require the trustee, to the extent the trust assets otherwise do not provide the spouse with sufficient income from or use of the trust assets to qualify for the deduction, to:

(1) make property productive of income;

- (2) convert property to property productive of income within a reasonable time; or
- (3) exercise the power to adjust under Section 203.

(b) The trustee may decide which action or combination of actions in subsection (a) to take.

SECTION 414. DERIVATIVE OR OPTION.

(a) In this section, “derivative” means a contract, instrument, other arrangement, or combination of contracts, instruments, or other arrangements, the value, rights, and obligations of which are, in whole or in part, dependent on or derived from an underlying tangible or intangible asset, group of tangible or intangible assets, index, or occurrence of an event. The term includes stocks, fixed income securities, and financial instruments and arrangements based on indices, commodities, interest rates, weather-related events, and credit-default events.

(b) To the extent a fiduciary does not account for a transaction in derivatives as a business under Section 403, the fiduciary shall allocate 10 percent of receipts from the transaction and 10 percent of disbursements made in connection with the transaction to income and the balance to principal.

(c) Subsection (d) applies if:

(1) a fiduciary:

(A) grants an option to buy property from a trust, whether or not the trust owns the property when the option is granted;

(B) grants an option that permits another person to sell property to the trust; or

(C) acquires an option to buy property for the trust or an option to sell an asset owned by the trust; and

(2) the fiduciary or other owner of the asset is required to deliver the asset if the option is exercised.

(d) If this subsection applies, the fiduciary shall allocate 10 percent to income and the balance to principal of the following amounts:

(1) an amount received for granting the option;

(2) an amount paid to acquire the option; and

(3) gain or loss realized on the exercise, exchange, settlement, offset, closing, or expiration of the option.

SECTION 415. ASSET-BACKED SECURITY.

(a) Except as otherwise provided in subsection (b), a fiduciary shall allocate to income a receipt from or related to an asset-backed security, to the extent the payor identifies the payment as being from interest or other current return, and to principal the balance of the receipt.

(b) If a fiduciary receives one or more payments in exchange for part or all of the fiduciary's interest in an asset-backed security, including a liquidation or redemption of the fiduciary's interest in the security, the fiduciary shall allocate to income 10 percent of receipts from the transaction and 10 percent of disbursements made in connection with the transaction, and to principal the balance of the receipts and disbursements.

SECTION 416. OTHER FINANCIAL INSTRUMENT OR ARRANGEMENT. A fiduciary shall allocate receipts from or related to a financial instrument or arrangement not otherwise addressed by this [act]. The allocation must be consistent with Sections 414 and 415.

[ARTICLE] 5

ALLOCATION OF DISBURSEMENTS

SECTION 501. DISBURSEMENT FROM INCOME. Subject to Section 504, and except as otherwise provided in Section 601(c)(2) or (3), a fiduciary shall disburse from income:

(1) one-half of:

(B) an expense for an accounting, judicial or nonjudicial proceeding, or other matter that involves both income and successive interests, to the extent income is sufficient;

(2) the balance of the disbursements described in paragraph (1), to the extent a fiduciary that is an independent person determines that making those disbursements from income would be in the interests of the beneficiaries;

(3) another ordinary expense incurred in connection with administration, management, or preservation of property and distribution of income, including interest, an ordinary repair, regularly recurring tax assessed against principal, and an expense of an accounting, judicial or nonjudicial proceeding, or other matter that involves primarily an income interest, to the extent income is sufficient; and

(4) a premium on insurance covering loss of a principal asset or income from or use of the asset.

SECTION 502. DISBURSEMENT FROM PRINCIPAL.

(a) Subject to Section 505, and except as otherwise provided in Section 601(c)(2), a fiduciary shall disburse from principal:

(1) the balance of the disbursements described in Section 501(1) and (3), after application of Section 501(2);

(2) the fiduciary's compensation calculated on principal as a fee for acceptance, distribution, or termination;

(3) a payment of an expense to prepare for or execute a sale or other disposition of property;

(4) a payment on the principal of a trust debt;

(5) a payment of an expense of an accounting, judicial or nonjudicial proceeding, or other matter that involves primarily principal, including a proceeding to construe the terms of the trust or protect property;

(6) a payment of a premium for insurance, including title insurance, not described in Section 501(4), of which the fiduciary is the owner and beneficiary;

(7) a payment of an estate or inheritance tax or other tax imposed because of the death of a decedent, including penalties, apportioned to the trust; and

(8) a payment:

(A) related to environmental matters, including:

(i) reclamation;

(ii) assessing environmental conditions;

(iii) remedying and removing environmental contamination;

(iv) monitoring remedial activities and the release of substances;

(v) preventing future releases of substances;

(vi) collecting amounts from persons liable or potentially liable for the costs of activities described in clauses (i) through (v);

(vii) penalties imposed under environmental laws or regulations;

(viii) other actions to comply with environmental laws or regulations;

(ix) statutory or common law claims by third parties; and

(x) defending claims based on environmental matters; and

(B) for a premium for insurance for matters described in subparagraph (A).

(b) If a principal asset is encumbered with an obligation that requires income from the asset to be paid directly to a creditor, the fiduciary shall transfer from principal to income an amount equal to the income paid to the creditor in reduction of the principal balance of the obligation.

SECTION 503. TRANSFER FROM INCOME TO PRINCIPAL FOR DEPRECIATION.

(a) In this section, “depreciation” means a reduction in value due to wear, tear, decay, corrosion, or gradual obsolescence of a tangible asset having a useful life of more than one year.

(b) A fiduciary may transfer to principal a reasonable amount of the net cash receipts from a principal asset that is subject to depreciation, but may not transfer any amount for depreciation:

- (1) of the part of real property used or available for use by a beneficiary as a residence;
- (2) of tangible personal property held or made available for the personal use or enjoyment of a beneficiary; or
- (3) under this section, to the extent the fiduciary accounts:
 - (A) under Section 410 for the asset; or
 - (B) under Section 403 for the business or other activity in which the asset is used.
 - (C) An amount transferred to principal under this section need not be separately held.

SECTION 504. REIMBURSEMENT OF INCOME FROM PRINCIPAL.

(a) If a fiduciary makes or expects to make an income disbursement described in subsection (b), the fiduciary may transfer an appropriate amount from principal to income in one or more accounting periods to reimburse income.

(b) To the extent the fiduciary has not been and does not expect to be reimbursed by a third party, income disbursements to which subsection (a) applies include:

- (1) an amount chargeable to principal but paid from income because principal is illiquid;
- (2) a disbursement made to prepare property for sale, including improvements and commissions; and
- (3) a disbursement described in Section 502(a).

(c) If an asset whose ownership gives rise to an income disbursement becomes subject to a successive interest after an income interest ends, the fiduciary may continue to make transfers under subsection (a).

SECTION 505. REIMBURSEMENT OF PRINCIPAL FROM INCOME.

(a) If a fiduciary makes or expects to make a principal disbursement described in subsection (b), the fiduciary may transfer an appropriate amount from income to principal in one or more accounting periods to reimburse principal or provide a reserve for future principal disbursements.

(b) To the extent a fiduciary has not been and does not expect to be reimbursed by a third party, principal disbursements to which subsection (a) applies include:

(1) an amount chargeable to income but paid from principal because income is not sufficient;

(2) the cost of an improvement to principal, whether a change to an existing asset or the construction of a new asset, including a special assessment;

(3) a disbursement made to prepare property for rental, including tenant allowances, leasehold improvements, and commissions;

(4) a periodic payment on an obligation secured by a principal asset, to the extent the amount transferred from income to principal for depreciation is less than the periodic payment; and

(5) a disbursement described in Section 502(a).

(c) If an asset whose ownership gives rise to a principal disbursement becomes subject to a successive interest after an income interest ends, the fiduciary may continue to make transfers under subsection (a).

SECTION 506. INCOME TAXES.

(a) A tax required to be paid by a fiduciary which is based on receipts allocated to income must be paid from income.

(b) A tax required to be paid by a fiduciary which is based on receipts allocated to principal must be paid from principal, even if the tax is called an income tax by the taxing authority.

(c) Subject to subsection (d) and Sections 504, 505, and 507, a tax required to be paid by a fiduciary on a share of an entity's taxable income in an accounting period must be paid from:

(1) income and principal proportionately to the allocation between income and principal of receipts from the entity in the period; and

(2) principal to the extent the tax exceeds the receipts from the entity in the period.

(d) After applying subsections (a) through (c), a fiduciary shall adjust income or principal receipts, to the extent the taxes the fiduciary pays are reduced because of a deduction for a payment made to a beneficiary.

SECTION 507. ADJUSTMENT BETWEEN INCOME AND PRINCIPAL BECAUSE OF TAXES.

(a) A fiduciary may make an adjustment between income and principal to offset the shifting of economic interests or tax benefits between current income beneficiaries and successor beneficiaries which arises from:

(1) an election or decision the fiduciary makes regarding a tax matter, other than a decision to claim an income tax deduction to which subsection (b) applies;

(2) an income tax or other tax imposed on the fiduciary or a beneficiary as a result of a transaction involving the fiduciary or a distribution by the fiduciary; or

(3) ownership by the fiduciary of an interest in an entity a part of whose taxable income, whether or not distributed, is includable in the taxable income of the fiduciary or a beneficiary.

(b) If the amount of an estate tax marital or charitable deduction is reduced because a fiduciary deducts an amount paid from principal for income tax purposes instead of deducting it for estate tax purposes and, as a result, estate taxes paid from principal are increased and income taxes paid by the fiduciary or a beneficiary are decreased, the fiduciary shall charge each beneficiary that benefits from the decrease in income tax to reimburse the principal from which the increase in estate tax is paid. The total reimbursement must equal the increase in the estate tax, to the extent the principal used to pay the increase would have qualified for a marital or charitable deduction but for the payment. The share of the reimbursement for each fiduciary or beneficiary whose income taxes are reduced must be the same as its share of the total decrease in income tax.

(c) A fiduciary that charges a beneficiary under subsection (b) may offset the charge by obtaining payment from the beneficiary, withholding an amount from future distributions to the beneficiary, or adopting another method or combination of methods.

[ARTICLE] 6

DEATH OF INDIVIDUAL OR TERMINATION OF INCOME INTEREST

SECTION 601. DETERMINATION AND DISTRIBUTION OF NET INCOME.

(a) This section applies when:

- (1) the death of an individual results in the creation of an estate or trust; or
- (2) an income interest in a trust terminates, whether the trust continues or is distributed.

(b) A fiduciary of an estate or trust with an income interest that terminates shall determine, under subsection [(g)][(e)] and [Articles] 4, 5, and 7, the amount of net income and net principal receipts received from property specifically given to a beneficiary. The fiduciary shall distribute the net income and net principal receipts to the beneficiary that is to receive the specific property.

(c) A fiduciary shall determine the income and net income of an estate or income interest in a trust which terminates, other than the amount of net income determined under subsection (b), under [Articles] 4, 5, and 7 and by:

(1) including in net income all income from property used or sold to discharge liabilities;

(2) paying from income or principal, in the fiduciary's discretion, fees of attorneys, accountants, and fiduciaries, court costs and other expenses of administration, and interest on estate and inheritance taxes and other taxes imposed because of the decedent's death, but the fiduciary may pay the expenses from income of property passing to a trust for which the fiduciary claims a federal estate tax marital or charitable deduction only to the extent:

(A) the payment of the expenses from income will not cause the reduction or loss of the deduction; or

(B) the fiduciary makes an adjustment under Section 507(b); and

(3) paying from principal other disbursements made or incurred in connection with the settlement of the estate or the winding up of an income interest that terminates, including:

(A) to the extent authorized by the decedent's will, the terms of the trust, or applicable law, debts, funeral expenses, disposition of remains, family allowances, estate and inheritance taxes, and other taxes imposed because of the decedent's death; and

(B) related penalties that are apportioned, by the decedent's will, the terms of the trust, or applicable law, to the estate or income interest that terminates.

[(d) If a decedent's will, the terms of a trust, or applicable law provides for the payment of interest or the equivalent of interest to a beneficiary that receives a pecuniary amount outright, the fiduciary shall make the payment from net income determined under subsection (c) or from principal to the extent net income is insufficient.

(e) Reserved.

(f) A fiduciary shall distribute net income[remaining after payments required by subsections (d) and (e)] in the manner described in Section 602 to all other beneficiaries, including a beneficiary that receives a pecuniary amount in trust, even if the beneficiary holds an unqualified power to withdraw assets from the trust or other presently exercisable general power of appointment over the trust.

(g) A fiduciary may not reduce principal or income receipts from property described in subsection (b) because of a payment described in Section 501 or 502, to the extent the decedent's will, the terms of the trust, or applicable law requires the fiduciary to make the payment from assets other than the property or to the extent the fiduciary recovers or expects to recover the payment from a third party. The net income and principal receipts from the property must be determined by including the amount the fiduciary receives or pays regarding the property, whether the amount accrued or became due before, on, or after the date of the decedent's death or an income interest's terminating event, and making a reasonable provision for an amount the estate or income interest may become obligated to pay after the property is distributed.

SECTION 602. DISTRIBUTION TO SUCCESSOR BENEFICIARY.

(a) Except to the extent [Article] 3 applies for a beneficiary that is a trust, each beneficiary described in Section [601(f)][601(d)] is entitled to receive a share of the net income equal to the beneficiary's fractional interest in undistributed principal assets, using values as of the distribution date. If a fiduciary makes more than one distribution of assets to beneficiaries to which this section applies, each beneficiary, including a beneficiary that does not receive part of the distribution, is entitled, as of each distribution date, to a share of the net income the fiduciary received after the decedent's death, an income interest's other terminating event, or the preceding distribution by the fiduciary.

(b) In determining a beneficiary's share of net income under subsection (a), the following rules apply:

(1) The beneficiary is entitled to receive a share of the net income equal to the beneficiary's fractional interest in the undistributed principal assets immediately before the distribution date.

(2) The beneficiary's fractional interest under paragraph (1) must be calculated:

(A) on the aggregate value of the assets as of the distribution date without reducing the value by any unpaid principal obligation; and

(B) without regard to:

(i) property specifically given to a beneficiary under the decedent's will or the terms of the trust; and

(ii) property required to pay pecuniary amounts not in trust.

(3) The distribution date under paragraph (1) may be the date as of which the fiduciary calculates the value of the assets if that date is reasonably near the date on which the assets are distributed.

(c) To the extent a fiduciary does not distribute under this section all the collected but undistributed net income to each beneficiary as of a distribution date, the fiduciary shall maintain records showing the interest of each beneficiary in the net income.

(d) If this section applies to income from an asset, a fiduciary may apply the rules in this section to net gain or loss realized from the disposition of the asset after the decedent's death, an income interest's terminating event, or the preceding distribution by the fiduciary.

[ARTICLE] 7

APPORTIONMENT AT BEGINNING AND END OF INCOME INTEREST

SECTION 701. WHEN RIGHT TO INCOME BEGINS AND ENDS.

(a) An income beneficiary is entitled to net income in accordance with the terms of the trust from the date an income interest begins. The income interest begins on the date specified in the terms of the trust or, if no date is specified, on the date an asset becomes subject to:

- (1) the trust for the current income beneficiary; or
- (2) a successive interest for a successor beneficiary.

(b) An asset becomes subject to a trust under subsection (a)(1):

- (1) for an asset that is transferred to the trust during the settlor's life, on the date the asset is transferred;
- (2) for an asset that becomes subject to the trust because of a decedent's death, on the date of the decedent's death, even if there is an intervening period of administration of the decedent's estate; or
- (3) for an asset that is transferred to a fiduciary by a third party because of a decedent's death, on the date of the decedent's death.

(c) An asset becomes subject to a successive interest under subsection (a)(2) on the day after the preceding income interest ends, as determined under subsection (d), even if there is an intervening period of administration to wind up the preceding income interest.

(d) An income interest ends on the day before an income beneficiary dies or another terminating event occurs or on the last day of a period during which there is no beneficiary to which a fiduciary may or must distribute income.

SECTION 702. APPORTIONMENT OF RECEIPTS AND DISBURSEMENTS WHEN DECEDENT DIES OR INCOME INTEREST BEGINS.

(a) A fiduciary shall allocate an income receipt or disbursement, other than a receipt to which Section 601(b) applies, to principal if its due date occurs before the date on which:

- (1) for an estate, the decedent died; or
- (2) for a trust or successive interest, an income interest begins.

(b) If the due date of a periodic income receipt or disbursement occurs on or after the date on which a decedent died or an income interest begins, a fiduciary shall allocate the receipt or disbursement to income.

(c) If an income receipt or disbursement is not periodic or has no due date, a fiduciary shall treat the receipt or disbursement under this section as accruing from day to day. The fiduciary shall allocate to principal the portion of the receipt or disbursement accruing before the date on which a decedent died or an income interest begins, and to income the balance.

(d) A receipt or disbursement is periodic under subsections (b) and (c) if:

(1) the receipt or disbursement must be paid at regular intervals under an obligation to make payments; or

(2) the payor customarily makes payments at regular intervals.

(e) An item of income or obligation is due under this section on the date the payor is required to make a payment. If a payment date is not stated, there is no due date.

(f) Distributions to shareholders or other owners from an entity to which Section 401 applies are due:

(1) on the date fixed by or on behalf of the entity for determining the persons entitled to receive the distribution;

(2) if no date is fixed, on the date of the decision by or on behalf of the entity to make the distribution; or

(3) if no date is fixed and the fiduciary does not know the date of the decision by or on behalf of the entity to make the distribution, on the date the fiduciary learns of the decision.

SECTION 703. APPORTIONMENT WHEN INCOME INTEREST ENDS.

(a) In this section, “undistributed income” means net income received on or before the date on which an income interest ends. The term does not include an item of income or expense which is due or accrued or net income that has been added or is required to be added to principal under the terms of the trust.

(b) Except as otherwise provided in subsection (c), when a mandatory income interest of a beneficiary ends, the fiduciary shall pay the beneficiary’s share of the undistributed income that is not disposed of under the terms of the trust to the beneficiary or, if the beneficiary does not survive the date the interest ends, to the beneficiary’s estate.

(c) If a beneficiary has an unqualified power to withdraw more than five percent of the value of a trust immediately before an income interest ends:

(1) the fiduciary shall allocate to principal the undistributed income from the portion of the trust which may be withdrawn; and

(2) subsection (b) applies only to the balance of the undistributed income.

(d) When a fiduciary's obligation to pay a fixed annuity or a fixed fraction of the value of assets ends, the fiduciary shall prorate the final payment as required to preserve an income tax, gift tax, estate tax, or other tax benefit.

[ARTICLE] 2

SECTION 201. FIDUCIARY DUTIES; GENERAL PRINCIPLES.

(a) In making an allocation or determination or exercising discretion under this [act], a fiduciary shall:

- (1) act in good faith, based on what is fair and reasonable to all beneficiaries;
- (2) administer a trust or estate impartially, except to the extent the terms of the trust manifest an intent that the fiduciary shall or may favor one or more beneficiaries;
- (3) administer the trust or estate in accordance with the terms of the trust, even if there is a different provision in this [act]; and
- (4) administer the trust or estate in accordance with this [act], except to the extent the terms of the trust provide otherwise or authorize the fiduciary to determine otherwise.

(b) A fiduciary's allocation, determination, or exercise of discretion under this [act] is presumed to be fair and reasonable to all beneficiaries. A fiduciary may exercise a discretionary power of administration given to the fiduciary by the terms of the trust, and an exercise of the power which produces a result different from a result required or permitted by this [act] does not create an inference that the fiduciary abused the fiduciary's discretion.

(c) A fiduciary shall:

- (1) add a receipt to principal, to the extent neither the terms of the trust nor this [act] allocates the receipt between income and principal; and
- (2) charge a disbursement to principal, to the extent neither the terms of the trust nor this [act] allocates the disbursement between income and principal.

(d) A fiduciary may exercise the power to adjust under Section 203, convert an income trust to a unitrust under Section 303(a)(1), change the percentage or method used to calculate a unitrust amount under Section 303(a)(2), or convert a unitrust to an income trust under Section 303(a)(3), if the fiduciary determines the exercise of the power will assist the fiduciary to administer the trust or estate impartially.

(e) Factors the fiduciary must consider in making the determination under subsection (d) include:

- (1) the terms of the trust;
- (2) the nature, distribution standards, and expected duration of the trust;

- (3) the effect of the allocation rules, including specific adjustments between income and principal, under [Articles] 4 through 7;
- (4) the desirability of liquidity and regularity of income;
- (5) the desirability of the preservation and appreciation of principal;
- (6) the extent to which an asset is used or may be used by a beneficiary;
- (7) the increase or decrease in the value of principal assets, reasonably determined by the fiduciary;
- (8) whether and to what extent the terms of the trust give the fiduciary power to accumulate income or invade principal or prohibit the fiduciary from accumulating income or invading principal;
- (9) the extent to which the fiduciary has accumulated income or invaded principal in preceding accounting periods;
- (10) the effect of current and reasonably expected economic conditions; and
- (11) the reasonably expected tax consequences of the exercise of the power.

SECTION 202. JUDICIAL REVIEW OF EXERCISE OF DISCRETIONARY POWER[; REQUEST FOR INSTRUCTION].

(a) In this section, “fiduciary decision” means:

- (1) a fiduciary’s allocation between income and principal or other determination regarding income and principal required or authorized by the terms of the trust or this [act];
- (2) the fiduciary’s exercise or nonexercise of a discretionary power regarding income and principal granted by the terms of the trust or this [act], including the power to adjust under Section 203, convert an income trust to a unitrust under Section 303(a)(1), change the percentage or method used to calculate a unitrust amount under Section 303(a)(2), or convert a unitrust to an income trust under Section 303(a)(3); or
- (3) the fiduciary’s implementation of a decision described in paragraph (1) or (2).

(b) The court may not order a fiduciary to change a fiduciary decision unless the court determines that the fiduciary decision was an abuse of the fiduciary’s discretion.

(c) If the court determines that a fiduciary decision was an abuse of the fiduciary’s discretion, the court may order a remedy authorized by law, including Uniform Trust Code Section 1001 AND PART 5 OF ARTICLE 10 OF TITLE 15, C.R.S. To place the beneficiaries in the positions the beneficiaries would have occupied if there had not been an abuse of the fiduciary’s discretion, the court may order:

Commented [GK7]: Add references to C.R.S.

(1) the fiduciary to exercise or refrain from exercising the power to adjust under Section 203;

(2) the fiduciary to exercise or refrain from exercising the power to convert an income trust to a unitrust under Section 303(a)(1), change the percentage or method used to calculate a unitrust amount under Section 303(a)(2), or convert a unitrust to an income trust under Section 303(a)(3);

(3) the fiduciary to distribute an amount to a beneficiary;

(4) a beneficiary to return some or all of a distribution; or

(5) the fiduciary to withhold an amount from one or more future distributions to a beneficiary.

[(d) On [petition] by a fiduciary for instruction, the court may determine whether a proposed fiduciary decision will result in an abuse of the fiduciary's discretion. If the [petition] describes the proposed decision, contains sufficient information to inform the beneficiary of the reasons for making the proposed decision and the facts on which the fiduciary relies, and explains how the beneficiary will be affected by the proposed decision, a beneficiary that opposes the proposed decision has the burden to establish that it will result in an abuse of the fiduciary's discretion.]

SECTION 203. FIDUCIARY'S POWER TO ADJUST.

(a) Except as otherwise provided in the terms of a trust or this section, a fiduciary, in a record, without court approval, may adjust between income and principal if the fiduciary determines the exercise of the power to adjust will assist the fiduciary to administer the trust or estate impartially.

(b) This section does not create a duty to exercise or consider the power to adjust under subsection (a) or to inform a beneficiary about the applicability of this section.

(c) A fiduciary that in good faith exercises or fails to exercise the power to adjust under subsection (a) is not liable to a person affected by the exercise or failure to exercise.

(d) In deciding whether and to what extent to exercise the power to adjust under subsection (a), a fiduciary shall consider all factors the fiduciary considers relevant, including relevant factors in Section 201(e) and the application of Sections 401(i), 408, and 413.

(e) A fiduciary may not exercise the power under subsection (a) to make an adjustment or under Section 408 to make a determination that an allocation is insubstantial if:

(1) the adjustment or determination would reduce the amount payable to a current income beneficiary from a trust that qualifies for a special tax benefit, except to the extent the adjustment is made to provide for a reasonable apportionment of the total return of the trust between the current income beneficiary and successor beneficiaries;

(2) the adjustment or determination would change the amount payable to a beneficiary, as a fixed annuity or a fixed fraction of the value of the trust assets, under the terms of the trust;

(3) the adjustment or determination would reduce an amount that is permanently set aside for a charitable purpose under the terms of the trust, unless both income and principal are set aside for the charitable purpose;

(4) possessing or exercising the power would cause a person to be treated as the owner of all or part of the trust for federal income tax purposes;

(5) possessing or exercising the power would cause all or part of the value of the trust assets to be included in the gross estate of an individual for federal estate tax purposes;

(6) possessing or exercising the power would cause an individual to be treated as making a gift for federal gift tax purposes;

(7) the fiduciary is not an independent person;

(8) the trust is irrevocable and provides for income to be paid to the settlor and possessing or exercising the power would cause the adjusted principal or income to be considered an available resource or available income under a public-benefit program; or

(9) the trust is a unitrust under [Article] 3.

- (1) “Applicable value” means the amount of the net fair market value of a trust taken into account under Section 307.
- (2) “Express unitrust” means a trust for which, under the terms of the trust without regard to this [article], income or net income must or may be calculated as a unitrust amount.

To the extent of the trust's interest in the estate, the estate may be administered as a unitrust, the administration of the estate as a unitrust may be discontinued, or the percentage or method used to calculate the unitrust amount may be changed, in the same manner as for a trust under this [article].

(e) If a beneficiary requests in a record that a fiduciary take an action described in subsection (a) and the fiduciary declines to act or does not act within 90 days after receiving the request, the beneficiary may request the court to direct the fiduciary to take the action requested.

(f) In deciding whether and how to take an action authorized by subsection (a), or whether and how to respond to a request by a beneficiary under subsection (e), a fiduciary

(3) money received in an entity distribution that the fiduciary determines or estimates is a capital distribution; and

(4) money received in an entity distribution from an entity that is:

(A) a regulated investment company or real estate investment trust if the money received is a capital gain dividend for federal income tax purposes; or

(B) treated for federal income tax purposes comparably to the treatment described in subparagraph (A).

(e) A fiduciary may determine or estimate that money received in an entity distribution is a capital distribution:

(1) by relying without inquiry or investigation on a characterization of the entity distribution provided by or on behalf of the entity, unless the fiduciary:

(A) determines, on the basis of information known to the fiduciary, that the characterization is or may be incorrect; or

(B) owns or holds more than 50 percent of the voting interest in the entity;

(2) by determining or estimating, on the basis of information known to the fiduciary or provided to the fiduciary by or on behalf of the entity, that the total amount of money and property received by the fiduciary in the entity distribution or a series of related entity distributions is or will be greater than 20 percent of the fair market value of the fiduciary's interest in the entity; or

(g) If, after applying subsections (c) through (f), a fiduciary determines that a part of an entity distribution is a capital distribution but is in doubt about the amount of the entity distribution which is a capital distribution, the fiduciary shall allocate to principal the amount of the entity distribution which is in doubt.

(h) If a fiduciary receives additional information about the application of this section to an entity distribution before the fiduciary has paid part of the entity distribution to a beneficiary, the fiduciary may consider the additional information before making the payment to the beneficiary and may change a decision to make the payment to the beneficiary.

(i) If a fiduciary receives additional information about the application of this section to an entity distribution after the fiduciary has paid part of the entity distribution to a beneficiary, the fiduciary is not required to change or recover the payment to the beneficiary but may consider that information in determining whether to exercise the power to adjust under Section 203.

SECTION 402. DISTRIBUTION FROM TRUST OR ESTATE. A fiduciary shall allocate to income an amount received as a distribution of income, including a unitrust distribution under [Article] 3, from a trust or estate in which the fiduciary has an interest, other than an interest the fiduciary purchased in a trust that is an investment entity, and shall allocate to principal an amount received as a distribution of principal from the trust or estate. If a fiduciary purchases, or receives from a settlor, an interest in a trust that is an investment entity, Section 401, 415, or 416 applies to a receipt from the trust.

SECTION 403. BUSINESS OR OTHER ACTIVITY CONDUCTED BY FIDUCIARY.

(a) This section applies to a business or other activity conducted by a fiduciary if the fiduciary determines that it is in the interests of the beneficiaries to account separately for the business or other activity instead of:

(1) accounting for the business or other activity as part of the fiduciary's general accounting records; or

(2) conducting the business or other activity through an entity described in Section 401(a)(2)(A).

(b) A fiduciary may account separately under this section for the transactions of a business or other activity, whether or not assets of the business or other activity are segregated from other assets held by the fiduciary.

(c) A fiduciary that accounts separately under this section for a business or other activity:

(1) may determine:

(A) the extent to which the net cash receipts of the business or other activity must be retained for:

(i) working capital;

(ii) the acquisition or replacement of fixed assets; and
(iii) other reasonably foreseeable needs of the business or other activity; and

(B) the extent to which the remaining net cash receipts are accounted for as principal or income in the fiduciary's general accounting records for the trust;

(2) may make a determination under paragraph (1) separately and differently from the fiduciary's decisions concerning distributions of income or principal; and

(3) shall account for the net amount received from the sale of an asset of the business or other activity, other than a sale in the ordinary course of the business or other activity, as principal in the fiduciary's general accounting records for the trust, to the extent the fiduciary determines that the net amount received is no longer required in the conduct of the business or other activity.

(d) Activities for which a fiduciary may account separately under this section include:

- (1) retail, manufacturing, service, and other traditional business activities;
- (2) farming;
- (3) raising and selling livestock and other animals;
- (4) managing rental properties;

- (8) any other business conducted by the fiduciary.

(2) except as otherwise provided in this [article], money or other property received from the sale, exchange, liquidation, or change in form of a principal asset;

(3) an amount recovered from a third party to reimburse the fiduciary because of a disbursement described in Section 502(a) or for another reason to the extent not based on loss of income;

(4) proceeds of property taken by eminent domain, except that proceeds awarded for loss of income in an accounting period are income if a current income beneficiary had a mandatory income interest during the period;

(5) net income received in an accounting period during which there is no beneficiary to which a fiduciary may or must distribute income; and

(6) other receipts as provided in [Part] 3.

SECTION 405. RENTAL PROPERTY. To the extent a fiduciary does not account for the management of rental property as a business under Section 403, the fiduciary shall allocate to income an amount received as rent of real or personal property, including an amount received for cancellation or renewal of a lease. An amount received as a refundable deposit, including a security deposit or a deposit that is to be applied as rent for future periods:

(1) must be added to principal and held subject to the terms of the lease, except as otherwise provided by law other than this [act]; and

(2) is not allocated to income or available for distribution to a beneficiary until the fiduciary's contractual obligations have been satisfied with respect to that amount.

SECTION 406. RECEIPT ON OBLIGATION TO BE PAID IN MONEY.

(a) This section does not apply to an obligation to which Section 409, 410, 411, 412, 414, 415, or 416 applies.

(b) A fiduciary shall allocate to income, without provision for amortization of premium, an amount received as interest on an obligation to pay money to the fiduciary, including an amount received as consideration for prepaying principal.

SECTION 407. INSURANCE POLICY OR CONTRACT.

(a) This section does not apply to a contract to which Section 409 applies.

(b) Except as otherwise provided in subsection (c), a fiduciary shall allocate to principal the proceeds of a life insurance policy or other contract received by the fiduciary as beneficiary, including a contract that insures against damage to, destruction of, or loss of title to an asset. The fiduciary shall allocate dividends on an insurance policy to income to the extent premiums on the policy are paid from income and to principal to the extent premiums on the policy are paid from principal.

(c) A fiduciary shall allocate to income proceeds of a contract that insures the fiduciary against loss of:

- a. occupancy or other use by a current income beneficiary;
- b. income; or
- c. subject to Section 403, profits from a business.

[PART] 3

RECEIPTS NORMALLY APPORTIONED

SECTION 408. INSUBSTANTIAL ALLOCATION NOT REQUIRED.

(a) If a fiduciary determines that an allocation between income and principal required by Section 409, 410, 411, 412, or 415 is insubstantial, the fiduciary may allocate the entire amount to principal, unless Section 203(e) applies to the allocation.

(b) A fiduciary may presume an allocation is insubstantial under subsection (a) if:

- (1) the amount of the allocation would increase or decrease net income in an accounting period, as determined before the allocation, by less than 10 percent; and
- (2) the asset producing the receipt to be allocated has a fair market value less than 10 percent of the total fair market value of the assets owned or held by the fiduciary at the beginning of the accounting period.

(c) The power to make a determination under subsection (a) may be:

- (1) exercised by a co-fiduciary in the manner described in Section 203(f); or

(2) “Marital trust” means a trust:

(A) of which the settlor’s surviving spouse is the only current income beneficiary and is entitled to a distribution of all the current net income of the trust; and

(B) that qualifies for a marital deduction with respect to the settlor’s estate under ~~Section 2056 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986[, as amended,]~~ 26 U.S.C. Section 2056~~[, as amended,]~~ because:

(i) an election to qualify for a marital deduction under ~~Section 2056(b)(7) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986[, as amended,]~~ 26 U.S.C. Section 2056(b)(7)~~[, as amended,]~~ has been made; or

(ii) the trust qualifies for a marital deduction under ~~Section 2056(b)(5) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986[, as amended,]~~ 26 U.S.C. Section 2056(b)(5)~~[, as amended,]~~.

(3) “Payment” means an amount a fiduciary may receive over a fixed number of years or during the life of one or more individuals because of services rendered or property transferred to the payor in exchange for future amounts the fiduciary may receive. (4) “Separate fund” includes a private or commercial annuity, an individual retirement account, and a pension, profit-sharing, stock-bonus, or stock-ownership plan.

(b) For each accounting period, the following rules apply to a separate fund:

(1) The fiduciary shall determine the internal income of the separate fund as if the separate fund were a trust subject to this [act].

(2) If the fiduciary cannot determine the internal income of the separate fund under paragraph (1), the internal income of the separate fund is deemed to equal FOUR ~~insert a number at least three and not more than five~~ percent of the value of the separate fund, according to the most recent statement of value preceding the beginning of the accounting period.

(3) If the fiduciary cannot determine the value of the separate fund under paragraph (2), the value of the separate fund is deemed to equal the present value of the expected future payments, as determined under ~~Section 7520 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended,~~ 26 U.S.C. Section 7520~~f~~, as amended~~f~~, for the month preceding the beginning of the accounting period for which the computation is made.

(c) A fiduciary shall allocate a payment received from a separate fund during an accounting period to income, to the extent of the internal income of the separate fund during the period, and the balance to principal.

(d) The fiduciary of a marital trust shall:

(1) withdraw from a separate fund the amount the current income beneficiary of the trust requests the fiduciary to withdraw, not greater than the amount by which the internal income of the separate fund during the accounting period exceeds the amount the fiduciary otherwise receives from the separate fund during the period;

(2) transfer from principal to income the amount the current income beneficiary requests the fiduciary to transfer, not greater than the amount by which the internal income of the separate fund during the period exceeds the amount the fiduciary receives from the separate fund during the period after the application of paragraph (1); and

(A) the amount of the internal income of the separate fund received or withdrawn during the period; and

(B) the amount transferred from principal to income under paragraph (2).

(e) For a trust, other than a marital trust, of which one or more current income beneficiaries are entitled to a distribution of all the current net income, the fiduciary shall transfer from principal to income the amount by which the internal income of a separate fund during the accounting period exceeds the amount the fiduciary receives from the separate fund during the period.

SECTION 410. LIQUIDATING ASSET.

(a) In this section, “liquidating asset” means an asset whose value will diminish or terminate because the asset is expected to produce receipts for a limited time. The term includes a leasehold, patent, copyright, royalty right, and right to receive payments during a period of Commented [GK15]: Stylistic preference throughout to refer to IRC as “26 U.S.C. Section XXXX as amended” throughout.

(b) This section does not apply to a receipt subject to Section 401, 409, 411, 412, 414, 415, 416, or 503.

(c) A fiduciary shall allocate:

(1) to income:

(A) a receipt produced by a liquidating asset, to the extent the receipt does not exceed [insert a number at least three and not more than five] percent of the value of the asset; or

(B) if the fiduciary cannot determine the value of the asset, 10 percent of the receipt; and

(2) to principal, the balance of the receipt.

SECTION 411. MINERALS, WATER, AND OTHER NATURAL RESOURCES.

(a) To the extent a fiduciary does not account for a receipt from an interest in minerals, water, or other natural resources as a business under Section 403, the fiduciary shall allocate the receipt:

(1) to income, to the extent received:

(A) as delay rental or annual rent on a lease;

(B) as a factor for interest or the equivalent of interest under an agreement creating a production payment; or

(C) on account of an interest in renewable water;

(2) to principal, if received from a production payment, to the extent paragraph (1)(B) does not apply; or

(3) between income and principal equitably, to the extent received:

(A) on account of an interest in non-renewable water;

(B) as a royalty, shut-in-well payment, take-or-pay payment, or bonus; or

(C) from a working interest or any other interest not provided for in paragraph (1) or (2) or subparagraph (A) or (B).

(b) This section applies to an interest owned or held by a fiduciary whether or not a settlor was extracting minerals, water, or other natural resources before the fiduciary owned or held the interest.

(c) An allocation of a receipt under subsection (a)(3) is presumed to be equitable if the amount allocated to principal is equal to the amount allowed by the Internal Revenue Code of 1986[, as amended,] 26 U.S.C.[, as amended,] as a deduction for depletion of the interest.

(d) If a fiduciary owns or holds an interest in minerals, water, or other natural resources before [the effective date of this [act]], the fiduciary may allocate receipts from the interest as provided in this section or in the manner used by the fiduciary before [the effective date of this [act]]. If the fiduciary acquires an interest in minerals, water, or other natural resources on or after [the effective date of this [act]], the fiduciary shall allocate receipts from the interest as provided in this section.

SECTION 412. TIMBER.

(a) To the extent a fiduciary does not account for receipts from the sale of timber and related products as a business under Section 403, the fiduciary shall allocate the net receipts:

- (1) to income, to the extent the amount of timber cut from the land does not exceed the rate of growth of the timber;
- (2) to principal, to the extent the amount of timber cut from the land exceeds the rate of growth of the timber or the net receipts are from the sale of standing timber;
- (3) between income and principal if the net receipts are from the lease of land used for growing and cutting timber or from a contract to cut timber from land, by determining the amount of timber cut from the land under the lease or contract and applying the rules in paragraphs (1) and (2); or
- (4) to principal, to the extent advance payments, bonuses, and other payments are not allocated under paragraph (1), (2), or (3).

(b) In determining net receipts to be allocated under subsection (a), a fiduciary shall deduct and transfer to principal a reasonable amount for depletion.

(c) This section applies to land owned or held by a fiduciary whether or not a settlor was cutting timber from the land before the fiduciary owned or held the property.

(d) If a fiduciary owns or holds an interest in land used for growing and cutting timber before [the effective date of this [act]], the fiduciary may allocate net receipts from the sale of timber and related products as provided in this section or in the manner used by the fiduciary before [the effective date of this [act]]. If the fiduciary acquires an interest in land used for growing and cutting timber on or after [the effective date of this [act]], the fiduciary shall allocate net receipts from the sale of timber and related products as provided in this section.

SECTION 413. MARITAL DEDUCTION PROPERTY NOT PRODUCTIVE OF INCOME.

(a) If a trust received property for which a gift or estate tax marital deduction was allowed and the settlor's spouse holds a mandatory income interest in the trust, the spouse may require the trustee, to the extent the trust assets otherwise do not provide the spouse with sufficient income from or use of the trust assets to qualify for the deduction, to:

- (1) make property productive of income;
- (2) convert property to property productive of income within a reasonable time; or
- (3) exercise the power to adjust under Section 203.

(b) The trustee may decide which action or combination of actions in subsection (a) to take.

SECTION 414. DERIVATIVE OR OPTION.

(a) In this section, "derivative" means a contract, instrument, other arrangement, or combination of contracts, instruments, or other arrangements, the value, rights, and obligations of which are, in whole or in part, dependent on or derived from an underlying tangible or intangible asset, group of tangible or intangible assets, index, or occurrence of an event. The term includes stocks, fixed income securities, and financial instruments and arrangements based on indices, commodities, interest rates, weather-related events, and credit-default events.

(b) To the extent a fiduciary does not account for a transaction in derivatives as a business under Section 403, the fiduciary shall allocate 10 percent of receipts from the transaction and 10 percent of disbursements made in connection with the transaction to income and the balance to principal.

(c) Subsection (d) applies if:

(1) a fiduciary:

(A) grants an option to buy property from a trust, whether or not the trust owns the property when the option is granted;

(B) grants an option that permits another person to sell property to the trust; or

(C) acquires an option to buy property for the trust or an option to sell an asset owned by the trust; and

(2) the fiduciary or other owner of the asset is required to deliver the asset if the option is exercised.

(d) If this subsection applies, the fiduciary shall allocate 10 percent to income and the balance to principal of the following amounts:

- (1) an amount received for granting the option;
- (2) an amount paid to acquire the option; and
- (3) gain or loss realized on the exercise, exchange, settlement, offset, closing, or expiration of the option.

SECTION 415. ASSET-BACKED SECURITY.

(a) Except as otherwise provided in subsection (b), a fiduciary shall allocate to income a receipt from or related to an asset-backed security, to the extent the payor identifies the payment as being from interest or other current return, and to principal the balance of the receipt.

(b) If a fiduciary receives one or more payments in exchange for part or all of the fiduciary's interest in an asset-backed security, including a liquidation or redemption of the fiduciary's interest in the security, the fiduciary shall allocate to income 10 percent of receipts from the transaction and 10 percent of disbursements made in connection with the transaction, and to principal the balance of the receipts and disbursements.

SECTION 416. OTHER FINANCIAL INSTRUMENT OR ARRANGEMENT. A fiduciary shall allocate receipts from or related to a financial instrument or arrangement not otherwise addressed by this [act]. The allocation must be consistent with Sections 414 and 415.

[ARTICLE] 5
ALLOCATION OF DISBURSEMENTS

SECTION 501. DISBURSEMENT FROM INCOME. Subject to Section 504, and except as otherwise provided in Section 601(c)(2) or (3), a fiduciary shall disburse from income:

(1) one-half of:

(B) an expense for an accounting, judicial or nonjudicial proceeding, or other matter that involves both income and successive interests, to the extent income is sufficient;

(2) the balance of the disbursements described in paragraph (1), to the extent a fiduciary that is an independent person determines that making those disbursements from income would be in the interests of the beneficiaries;

(3) another ordinary expense incurred in connection with administration, management, or preservation of property and distribution of income, including interest, an ordinary repair, regularly recurring tax assessed against principal, and an expense of an accounting, judicial or nonjudicial proceeding, or other matter that involves primarily an income interest, to the extent income is sufficient; and

(4) a premium on insurance covering loss of a principal asset or income from or use of the asset.

SECTION 502. DISBURSEMENT FROM PRINCIPAL.

(a) Subject to Section 505, and except as otherwise provided in Section 601(c)(2), a fiduciary shall disburse from principal:

(6) a payment of a premium for insurance, including title insurance, not described in Section 501(4), of which the fiduciary is the owner and beneficiary;

(7) a payment of an estate or inheritance tax or other tax imposed because of the death of a decedent, including penalties, apportioned to the trust; and

(8) a payment:

(ix) statutory or common law claims by third parties; and

(x) defending claims based on environmental matters; and

(B) for a premium for insurance for matters described in subparagraph (A).

(b) If a principal asset is encumbered with an obligation that requires income from the asset to be paid directly to a creditor, the fiduciary shall transfer from principal to income an amount equal to the income paid to the creditor in reduction of the principal balance of the obligation.

SECTION 503. TRANSFER FROM INCOME TO PRINCIPAL FOR DEPRECIATION.

(a) In this section, “depreciation” means a reduction in value due to wear, tear, decay, corrosion, or gradual obsolescence of a tangible asset having a useful life of more than one year.

(b) A fiduciary may transfer to principal a reasonable amount of the net cash receipts from a principal asset that is subject to depreciation, but may not transfer any amount for depreciation:

(1) of the part of real property used or available for use by a beneficiary as a residence;

(2) of tangible personal property held or made available for the personal use or enjoyment of a beneficiary; or

(3) under this section, to the extent the fiduciary accounts:

(A) under Section 410 for the asset; or

(B) under Section 403 for the business or other activity in which the asset is used.

(C) An amount transferred to principal under this section need not be separately held.

SECTION 504. REIMBURSEMENT OF INCOME FROM PRINCIPAL.

(a) If a fiduciary makes or expects to make an income disbursement described in subsection (b), the fiduciary may transfer an appropriate amount from principal to income in one or more accounting periods to reimburse income.

(b) To the extent the fiduciary has not been and does not expect to be reimbursed by a third party, income disbursements to which subsection (a) applies include:

(1) an amount chargeable to principal but paid from income because principal is illiquid;

(2) a disbursement made to prepare property for sale, including improvements and commissions; and

(3) a disbursement described in Section 502(a).

(c) If an asset whose ownership gives rise to an income disbursement becomes subject to a successive interest after an income interest ends, the fiduciary may continue to make transfers under subsection (a).

SECTION 505. REIMBURSEMENT OF PRINCIPAL FROM INCOME.

(a) If a fiduciary makes or expects to make a principal disbursement described in subsection (b), the fiduciary may transfer an appropriate amount from income to principal in one or more accounting periods to reimburse principal or provide a reserve for future principal disbursements.

(b) To the extent a fiduciary has not been and does not expect to be reimbursed by a third party, principal disbursements to which subsection (a) applies include:

(1) an amount chargeable to income but paid from principal because income is not sufficient;

(2) the cost of an improvement to principal, whether a change to an existing asset or the construction of a new asset, including a special assessment;

(3) a disbursement made to prepare property for rental, including tenant allowances, leasehold improvements, and commissions;

(4) a periodic payment on an obligation secured by a principal asset, to the extent the amount transferred from income to principal for depreciation is less than the periodic payment; and

(5) a disbursement described in Section 502(a).

(c) If an asset whose ownership gives rise to a principal disbursement becomes subject to a successive interest after an income interest ends, the fiduciary may continue to make transfers under subsection (a).

SECTION 506. INCOME TAXES.

(a) A tax required to be paid by a fiduciary which is based on receipts allocated to income must be paid from income.

(b) A tax required to be paid by a fiduciary which is based on receipts allocated to principal must be paid from principal, even if the tax is called an income tax by the taxing authority.

(c) Subject to subsection (d) and Sections 504, 505, and 507, a tax required to be paid by a fiduciary on a share of an entity's taxable income in an accounting period must be paid from:

(1) income and principal proportionately to the allocation between income and principal of receipts from the entity in the period; and

(2) principal to the extent the tax exceeds the receipts from the entity in the period.

(d) After applying subsections (a) through (c), a fiduciary shall adjust income or principal receipts, to the extent the taxes the fiduciary pays are reduced because of a deduction for a payment made to a beneficiary.

SECTION 507. ADJUSTMENT BETWEEN INCOME AND PRINCIPAL BECAUSE OF TAXES.

(a) A fiduciary may make an adjustment between income and principal to offset the shifting of economic interests or tax benefits between current income beneficiaries and successor beneficiaries which arises from:

(1) an election or decision the fiduciary makes regarding a tax matter, other than a decision to claim an income tax deduction to which subsection (b) applies;

(2) an income tax or other tax imposed on the fiduciary or a beneficiary as a result of a transaction involving the fiduciary or a distribution by the fiduciary; or

(3) ownership by the fiduciary of an interest in an entity a part of whose taxable income, whether or not distributed, is includable in the taxable income of the fiduciary or a beneficiary.

(b) If the amount of an estate tax marital or charitable deduction is reduced because a fiduciary deducts an amount paid from principal for income tax purposes instead of deducting it for estate tax purposes and, as a result, estate taxes paid from principal are increased and income taxes paid by the fiduciary or a beneficiary are decreased, the fiduciary shall charge each beneficiary that benefits from the decrease in income tax to reimburse the principal from which the increase in estate tax is paid. The total reimbursement must equal the increase in the estate tax, to the extent the principal used to pay the increase would have qualified for a marital or charitable deduction but for the payment. The share of the reimbursement for each fiduciary or beneficiary whose income taxes are reduced must be the same as its share of the total decrease in income tax.

(c) A fiduciary that charges a beneficiary under subsection (b) may offset the charge by obtaining payment from the beneficiary, withholding an amount from future distributions to the beneficiary, or adopting another method or combination of methods.

[ARTICLE] 6

DEATH OF INDIVIDUAL OR TERMINATION OF INCOME INTEREST

SECTION 601. DETERMINATION AND DISTRIBUTION OF NET INCOME.

(a) This section applies when:

- (1) the death of an individual results in the creation of an estate or trust; or
- (2) an income interest in a trust terminates, whether the trust continues or is distributed.

(b) A fiduciary of an estate or trust with an income interest that terminates shall determine, under subsection [(g)][(e)] and [Articles] 4, 5, and 7, the amount of net income and net principal receipts received from property specifically given to a beneficiary. The fiduciary shall distribute the net income and net principal receipts to the beneficiary that is to receive the specific property.

(c) A fiduciary shall determine the income and net income of an estate or income interest in a trust which terminates, other than the amount of net income determined under subsection (b), under [Articles] 4, 5, and 7 and by:

(1) including in net income all income from property used or sold to discharge liabilities;

(2) paying from income or principal, in the fiduciary's discretion, fees of attorneys, accountants, and fiduciaries, court costs and other expenses of administration, and interest on estate and inheritance taxes and other taxes imposed because of the decedent's death, but the fiduciary may pay the expenses from income of property passing to a trust for which the fiduciary claims a federal estate tax marital or charitable deduction only to the extent:

(A) the payment of the expenses from income will not cause the reduction or loss of the deduction; or

(B) the fiduciary makes an adjustment under Section 507(b); and

(3) paying from principal other disbursements made or incurred in connection with the settlement of the estate or the winding up of an income interest that terminates, including:

(A) to the extent authorized by the decedent's will, the terms of the trust, or applicable law, debts, funeral expenses, disposition of remains, family allowances, estate and inheritance taxes, and other taxes imposed because of the decedent's death; and

(B) related penalties that are apportioned, by the decedent's will, the terms of the trust, or applicable law, to the estate or income interest that terminates.

[(d) If a decedent's will, the terms of a trust, or applicable law provides for the payment of interest or the equivalent of interest to a beneficiary that receives a pecuniary amount outright, the fiduciary shall make the payment from net income determined under subsection (c) or from principal to the extent net income is insufficient.

(e) RESERVED. ~~If a beneficiary is to receive a pecuniary amount outright from a trust after an income interest ends because of an income beneficiary's death, and no payment of interest or the equivalent of interest is provided for by the terms of the trust or applicable law, the fiduciary shall pay the interest or the equivalent of interest to which the beneficiary would be entitled under applicable law if the pecuniary amount were required to be paid under a will.]~~

Commented [GK16]: Reserved.

~~[(f)]~~[(d)] A fiduciary shall distribute net income[remaining after payments required by subsections (d) and (e)] in the manner described in Section 602 to all other beneficiaries, including a beneficiary that receives a pecuniary amount in trust, even if the beneficiary holds an unqualified power to withdraw assets from the trust or other presently exercisable general power of appointment over the trust.

~~[(g)]~~[(e)] A fiduciary may not reduce principal or income receipts from property described in subsection (b) because of a payment described in Section 501 or 502, to the extent the decedent's will, the terms of the trust, or applicable law requires the fiduciary to make the payment from assets other than the property or to the extent the fiduciary recovers or expects to recover the payment from a third party. The net income and principal receipts from the property must be determined by including the amount the fiduciary receives or pays regarding the property, whether the amount accrued or became due before, on, or after the date of the decedent's death or an income interest's terminating event, and making a reasonable provision for an amount the estate or income interest may become obligated to pay after the property is distributed.

SECTION 602. DISTRIBUTION TO SUCCESSOR BENEFICIARY.

(a) Except to the extent [Article] 3 applies for a beneficiary that is a trust, each beneficiary described in Section [601(f)][601(d)] is entitled to receive a share of the net income equal to the beneficiary's fractional interest in undistributed principal assets, using values as of the distribution date. If a fiduciary makes more than one distribution of assets to beneficiaries to which this section applies, each beneficiary, including a beneficiary that does not receive part of the distribution, is entitled, as of each distribution date, to a share of the net income the fiduciary received after the decedent's death, an income interest's other terminating event, or the preceding distribution by the fiduciary.

(b) In determining a beneficiary's share of net income under subsection (a), the following rules apply:

(1) The beneficiary is entitled to receive a share of the net income equal to the beneficiary's fractional interest in the undistributed principal assets immediately before the distribution date.

(2) The beneficiary's fractional interest under paragraph (1) must be calculated:

(A) on the aggregate value of the assets as of the distribution date without reducing the value by any unpaid principal obligation; and

(B) without regard to:

(i) property specifically given to a beneficiary under the decedent's will or the terms of the trust; and

(ii) property required to pay pecuniary amounts not in trust.

(3) The distribution date under paragraph (1) may be the date as of which the fiduciary calculates the value of the assets if that date is reasonably near the date on which the assets are distributed.

(c) To the extent a fiduciary does not distribute under this section all the collected but undistributed net income to each beneficiary as of a distribution date, the fiduciary shall maintain records showing the interest of each beneficiary in the net income.

(d) If this section applies to income from an asset, a fiduciary may apply the rules in this section to net gain or loss realized from the disposition of the asset after the decedent's death, an income interest's terminating event, or the preceding distribution by the fiduciary.

[ARTICLE] 7

APPORTIONMENT AT BEGINNING AND END OF INCOME INTEREST

SECTION 701. WHEN RIGHT TO INCOME BEGINS AND ENDS.

(a) An income beneficiary is entitled to net income in accordance with the terms of the trust from the date an income interest begins. The income interest begins on the date specified in the terms of the trust or, if no date is specified, on the date an asset becomes subject to:

- (1) the trust for the current income beneficiary; or
- (2) a successive interest for a successor beneficiary.

(b) An asset becomes subject to a trust under subsection (a)(1):

- (1) for an asset that is transferred to the trust during the settlor's life, on the date the asset is transferred;
- (2) for an asset that becomes subject to the trust because of a decedent's death, on the date of the decedent's death, even if there is an intervening period of administration of the decedent's estate; or
- (3) for an asset that is transferred to a fiduciary by a third party because of a decedent's death, on the date of the decedent's death.

(c) An asset becomes subject to a successive interest under subsection (a)(2) on the day after the preceding income interest ends, as determined under subsection (d), even if there is an intervening period of administration to wind up the preceding income interest.

(d) An income interest ends on the day before an income beneficiary dies or another terminating event occurs or on the last day of a period during which there is no beneficiary to which a fiduciary may or must distribute income.

SECTION 702. APPORTIONMENT OF RECEIPTS AND DISBURSEMENTS WHEN DECEDENT DIES OR INCOME INTEREST BEGINS.

(a) A fiduciary shall allocate an income receipt or disbursement, other than a receipt to which Section 601(b) applies, to principal if its due date occurs before the date on which:

- (1) for an estate, the decedent died; or
- (2) for a trust or successive interest, an income interest begins.

(b) If the due date of a periodic income receipt or disbursement occurs on or after the date on which a decedent died or an income interest begins, a fiduciary shall allocate the receipt or disbursement to income.

(c) If an income receipt or disbursement is not periodic or has no due date, a fiduciary shall treat the receipt or disbursement under this section as accruing from day to day. The fiduciary shall allocate to principal the portion of the receipt or disbursement accruing before the date on which a decedent died or an income interest begins, and to income the balance.

(d) A receipt or disbursement is periodic under subsections (b) and (c) if:

(1) the receipt or disbursement must be paid at regular intervals under an obligation to make payments; or

(2) the payor customarily makes payments at regular intervals.

(e) An item of income or obligation is due under this section on the date the payor is required to make a payment. If a payment date is not stated, there is no due date.

(f) Distributions to shareholders or other owners from an entity to which Section 401 applies are due:

(1) on the date fixed by or on behalf of the entity for determining the persons entitled to receive the distribution;

(2) if no date is fixed, on the date of the decision by or on behalf of the entity to make the distribution; or

(3) if no date is fixed and the fiduciary does not know the date of the decision by or on behalf of the entity to make the distribution, on the date the fiduciary learns of the decision.

SECTION 703. APPORTIONMENT WHEN INCOME INTEREST ENDS.

(a) In this section, “undistributed income” means net income received on or before the date on which an income interest ends. The term does not include an item of income or expense which is due or accrued or net income that has been added or is required to be added to principal under the terms of the trust.

(b) Except as otherwise provided in subsection (c), when a mandatory income interest of a beneficiary ends, the fiduciary shall pay the beneficiary’s share of the undistributed income that is not disposed of under the terms of the trust to the beneficiary or, if the beneficiary does not survive the date the interest ends, to the beneficiary’s estate.

(c) If a beneficiary has an unqualified power to withdraw more than five percent of the value of a trust immediately before an income interest ends:

(1) the fiduciary shall allocate to principal the undistributed income from the portion of the trust which may be withdrawn; and

(2) subsection (b) applies only to the balance of the undistributed income.

(d) When a fiduciary's obligation to pay a fixed annuity or a fixed fraction of the value of assets ends, the fiduciary shall prorate the final payment as required to preserve an income tax, gift tax, estate tax, or other tax benefit.

MEMORANDUM

TO: Lauren Da Cunha and Dylan Metzner, Chair and Vice Chair of the Statutory Revisions Committee of the Trusts & Estates Section of the Colorado Bar Association

FROM: Georgine Kryda and Eugene Zuspann, Chairs of the Subcommittee Reviewing the Uniform Fiduciary Income and Principal Act

DATE: August 19, 2020

RE: UFIPA Subcommittee Recommendations

Introduction and Recommendation

In April 2018, a subcommittee of the Statutory Revisions Committee (“SRC”) of the Trusts & Estates (“T&E”) Section of the Colorado Bar Association (“CBA”) began reviewing the Uniform Fiduciary Income and Principal Act (“UFIPA”). That subcommittee has completed its review, and now recommends that the SRC, T&E, and CBA support the UFIPA with the modifications discussed below.

Materials Available on the UFIPA Website

The UFIPA subcommittee’s Website at <https://www.cobar.org/For-Members/CBA-Sections/Trust-Estate/Committees/UFIPA> contains the following materials:

1. Final version of the UFIPA by the Uniform Law Commission as of January 2019;
2. Minutes of all subcommittee meetings from April 2018 through August 2020;
3. Approved sections of UFIPA by the subcommittee in “Santa Fe” style;
4. The entire UFIPA as proposed for enactment in Colorado, and as red-lined, by the subcommittee; and
5. Table summarizing review of UFIPA and noting changes proposed by the subcommittee.

Composition of the Subcommittee

As reflected in the minutes, the subcommittee consisted of a broad range of practitioners from individual planners and advisors, to corporate trustees. Some attorneys concentrated on specific types of trust assets, such as mineral interests, that are prevalent in Colorado trusts; whereas other attorneys contributed their perspectives from decades of trust administration.

The Subcommittee’s Overall Impression of UFIPA

Overall, the subcommittee was favorably impressed by the wording and organization of the UFIPA text, which clarifies and complements Colorado’s existing Uniform Principal and Income Act (“UPIA”), which is codified at C.R.S. §§ 15-1-401, et seq.

The Purpose of UFIPA

UFIPA introduces a more comprehensive set of default rules for trust accounting based on the equitable allocation of total return than currently exists in Colorado law. UFIPA also provides more guidance for how a fiduciary should account for returns for a variety of asset classes, such as business assets and natural resources, than does UPIA under current law. Thus, UFIPA assists fiduciaries in logically and consistently accounting for receipts, while maintaining equity in making distributions to beneficiaries.

UFIPA's Predecessors in Colorado

The subcommittee benefited greatly from the history provided by Gene Zuspann and Stan Kent of Colorado's earlier adoptions of the Uniform Principal and Income Acts ("UPIAs"), which had also been proposed by the Uniform Law Commission ("ULC").

- The ULC promulgated the Principal and Income Act in 1931 ("1931 UPIA").
 - Colorado enacted the 1931 UPIA in 1955 ("1955 Act").
- The ULC promulgated a revised Uniform and Principal Income Act in 1962 ("1962 UPIA").
 - Colorado did not adopt the 1962 UPIA.
- The ULC revised and reorganized (into six parts) the 1931 and 1962 UPIAs in 1997 ("1997 UPIA").
 - Colorado enacted the 1997 UPIA in 2000 (the "2000 Act").
 - At the same time, Colorado repealed the 1955 Act (the 1931 UPIA).
- In 2009, Colorado reenacted the 1955 Act as Part 7 of the 2000 Act.

The subcommittee did not want to inadvertently and adversely affect existing trust instruments which may be based on UPIA.

The Subcommittee's Specific Recommended Changes to the ULC's UFIPA Text

The subcommittee makes the following specific recommended changes to the ULC's final version of UFIPA:

1. Removal/reservation of references to "life estate," "life tenant," and "term interest":
 - a. 102(3)(B) changed to "for an estate, an heir, legatee, and devisee."
 - b. 102(3)(C) changed to "Reserved."
 - c. 102(4) changed to "'Court' means the court in this state having jurisdiction relating to a trust, OR estate."
 - d. 102(8) removed "life tenant" from the definition of "fiduciary."
 - e. 102(22)(B)(iii) adds "section 15-5-111, C.R.S." as the reference to the CUTC.
 - f. 102(22)(B)(iv) adds "by alternative dispute resolution under section 15-5-113, C.R.S."
 - g. 102(22)(C) is changed to "for an estate, or a will".
 - h. 103 adds "a will and changes (2) to Reserved.
 - i. 104 removes references to life estate and to term interest.

2. Article 2, Fiduciary Duties and Judicial Review, and Section 302 change references from the “UTC” to the “CUTC.”
3. New Section 204 adds a Notice of Action [by a fiduciary].
 - a. This new section was added in the 2001 UPIA because trustees wanted to be able to give notice before taking an action, and to have the matter settled before the proposed action was initiated
4. Section 304 required selection from several alternatives for each subsection; thus, a “clean” version of the approved text is on page 9 of the table summarizing review.
5. Section 309 adds a default ordering rule under Section 309(c) for unitrusts.
6. For Section 409, Deferred Compensation, Annuity, or Similar Payment, the subcommittee favors using “26 U.S.C. Section 7520 as amended” throughout, and selected four (4) percent as the rate of interest for Section 409(b)(2).
7. For Article 6, Death of Individual or Termination of Income Interest, the subcommittee:
 - a. declined to recommend enactment of Section 601(e) whereby the fiduciary would be required to pay the same rate of interest on a pecuniary amount outright from a trust after an income interest ended as the beneficiary would receive if the pecuniary amount were paid under a Will; and
 - b. adopted Section 602 with the UTC language, but added new Section 204 as a notice of action by a fiduciary.
8. For Article 8, Miscellaneous Provisions, the subcommittee expanded Section 803 to address trusts that may still be administered under the 1955 Act.

Conclusion

For the foregoing reasons, the UFIPA subcommittee recommends that the SRC, T&E, and CBA support the UFIPA with the modifications as indicated in the red-lined version of UFIPA and explained above.

Uniform Law Comments.

General Comment to Article 5

This article addresses the validity of a spendthrift provision and the rights of creditors, both of the settlor and beneficiaries, to reach a trust to collect a debt. Sections 501 and 502 state the general rules. Section 501 applies if the trust does not contain a spendthrift provision or the spendthrift provision, if any, does not apply to the beneficiary's interest. Section 502 states the effect of a spendthrift provision. Unless a claim is being made by an exception creditor, a spendthrift provision bars a beneficiary's creditor from reaching the beneficiary's interest until distribution is made by the trustee. An exception creditor, however, can reach the beneficiary's interest subject to the court's power to limit the relief. Section 503 lists the categories of exception creditors whose claims are not subject to a spendthrift restriction. Sections 504 through 507 address special categories in which the rights of a beneficiary's creditors are the same whether or not the trust contains a spendthrift provision. Section 504 deals with discretionary trusts and trusts for which distributions are subject to a standard. Section 505 covers creditor claims against a settlor, whether the trust is revocable or irrevocable, and if revocable, whether the claim is made during the settlor's lifetime or incident to the settlor's death. Section 506 provides a creditor with a remedy if a trustee fails to make a mandated distribution within a reasonable time. Section 507 clarifies that although the trustee holds legal title to trust property, that property is not subject to the trustee's personal debts.

The provisions of this article relating to the validity and effect of a spendthrift provision and the rights of certain creditors and assignees to reach the trust may not be modified by the terms of the trust. See Section 105(b)(5).

This article does not supersede state exemption statutes nor an enacting jurisdiction's Uniform Fraudulent Transfers Act which, when applicable, invalidates any type of gratuitous transfer, including transfers into trust.

Comment Amended in 2004

ULC
Section 501

This section applies only if the trust does not contain a spendthrift provision or the spendthrift provision does not apply to a particular beneficiary's interest. A settlor may subject to spendthrift protection the interests of certain beneficiaries but not others. A settlor may also subject only a portion of the trust to spendthrift protection such as an interest in the income but not principal. For the effect of a spendthrift provision on creditor claims, see Section 503.

Absent a valid spendthrift provision, a creditor may ordinarily reach the interest of a beneficiary the same as any other of the beneficiary's assets. This does not necessarily mean that the creditor can collect all distributions made to the beneficiary. The interest may be too indefinite or contingent for the creditor to reach or the interest may qualify for an exemption under the state's general creditor exemption statutes. See (Third) of Trusts §56 (2003); Restatement (Second) of Trusts §§147-149, 162 (1959). Other creditor law of the State may limit the creditor to a specified percentage of a distribution. See, e.g., Cal. Prob. Code Section 15306.5. This section does not prescribe the procedures ("other means") for reaching a beneficiary's interest or of priority among claimants, leaving those issues to the enacting State's laws on creditor rights. The section does clarify, however, that an order obtained against the trustee, whatever state procedure may have been used, may extend to future distributions whether made directly to the beneficiary or to others for the beneficiary's benefit. By allowing an order to extend to future payments, the need for the creditor periodically to return to court will be reduced.

Because proceedings to satisfy a claim are equitable in nature, the second sentence of this section ratifies the court's discretion to limit the award as appropriate under the circumstances. In exercising its discretion to limit relief, the court may appropriately consider the circumstances of a beneficiary and the beneficiary's family. See Restatement (Third) of Trusts Section 56 cmt. e (Tentative Draft No. 2, approved 1999).

2005 Amendment. A 2005 amendment changes "protected by" to "subject to" in the first sentence of the section. No substantive change is intended. The amendment was made to negate an implication that this section allowed an exception creditor to reach a beneficiary's interest even though the trust contained a spendthrift provision. The list of exception creditors and their remedies are contained in Section 503. Clarifying changes are also made in the comments and unnecessary language on creditor remedies omitted.

Colorado Committee Report

- 1) It bears repeating that §501 applies to situations where there is no spendthrift protection afforded by the terms of the trusts. Spendthrift trusts have been recognized in Colorado as a matter of common law since at least 1938 but the protection depends on the stated intent of the settlor as determined from the trust terms. Snyder v. O'Connor, 102 Colo. 567, 81 P.2d 773 (1938); Newell v. Tubbs, 103 Colo. 224, 84 P.2d 820 (1938).
- 2) See the discussion under proposed §502(2) as to the fact that no expansive language will need to be included in the trust and a simple statement the interest is subject to a spendthrift trust will be sufficient. The effect of such a statement is in the definitions of the current Colorado Uniform Trust Code (CUTC) enacted by the General Assembly in 2018. Spendthrift provisions are defined in CUTC §15-5-103(19) as a term of a trust that restrains both voluntary and involuntary transfer of a beneficiary's interest.
- 3) The addition of the last sentence to the proposed section that other Colorado law must be considered as a limitation on amounts available for satisfaction of creditor claims was added by the Committee to codify a position that is set forth in the national Uniform Law Comments. The consensus was that any ambiguity on this question should be resolved by expressly providing that other creditor laws of the state should apply to limit any award that a judge may determine appropriate.
- 4) Although unrelated to §501 it should be pointed out that a section regarding spendthrift trusts is found in the modification provisions of Part. 4 of the CUTC as adopted in 2018. C.R.S. §15-5-411(3) provides that a spendthrift provision is not "presumed" to be a material purpose of the trust for purposes of modification under §411(1).

15-5-502. SPENDTHRIFT PROVISION.

(1) A SPENDTHRIFT PROVISION IS VALID ONLY IF IT RESTRAINS BOTH VOLUNTARY AND INVOLUNTARY TRANSFER OF A BENEFICIARY'S INTEREST.

(2) A TERM OF A TRUST PROVIDING THAT THE INTEREST OF A BENEFICIARY IS HELD SUBJECT TO A "SPENDTHRIFT TRUST," OR WORDS OF SIMILAR IMPORT, IS SUFFICIENT TO RESTRAIN BOTH VOLUNTARY AND INVOLUNTARY TRANSFER OF THE BENEFICIARY'S INTEREST.

(3) A BENEFICIARY MAY NOT TRANSFER AN INTEREST IN A TRUST IN VIOLATION OF A VALID SPENDTHRIFT PROVISION AND, EXCEPT AS OTHERWISE PROVIDED IN THIS ARTICLE, A CREDITOR OR ASSIGNEE OF THE BENEFICIARY MAY NOT REACH THE INTEREST OR A DISTRIBUTION BY THE TRUSTEE BEFORE ITS RECEIPT BY THE BENEFICIARY.

(4) A TRUSTEE OF A TRUST THAT IS SUBJECT TO A SPENDTHRIFT PROVISION MAY MAKE A DISTRIBUTION THAT IS REQUIRED OR AUTHORIZED BY THE TERMS OF THE TRUST BY APPLYING THE DISTRIBUTION FOR THE BENEFICIARY'S BENEFIT. A CREDITOR OR ASSIGNEE OF THE BENEFICIARY MAY NOT REACH A DISTRIBUTION THAT IS APPLIED FOR THE BENEFICIARY'S BENEFIT, AND NO TRUSTEE IS LIABLE TO ANY CREDITOR OF A BENEFICIARY FOR MAKING SUCH A DISTRIBUTION.

(5) REAL PROPERTY OR TANGIBLE PERSONAL PROPERTY THAT IS OWNED BY THE TRUST BUT THAT IS MADE AVAILABLE FOR A BENEFICIARY'S USE OR OCCUPANCY IN ACCORDANCE WITH THE TRUSTEE'S AUTHORITY UNDER THE TERMS OF THE TRUST IS NOT CONSIDERED TO HAVE BEEN DISTRIBUTED BY THE TRUSTEE OR RECEIVED BY THE BENEFICIARY FOR PURPOSES OF ALLOWING A CREDITOR OR ASSIGNEE OF THE BENEFICIARY TO REACH THE PROPERTY.

Comparison of Proposed Colorado 502 and 502 as drafted in the UTC:

15-5-502. Spendthrift Provision.

(1) A spendthrift provision is valid only if it restrains both voluntary and involuntary transfer of a beneficiary's interest.

(2) A term of a trust providing that the interest of a beneficiary is held subject to a “spendthrift trust,” or words of similar import, is sufficient to restrain both voluntary and involuntary transfer of the beneficiary’s interest.

(3) A beneficiary may not transfer an interest in a trust in violation of a valid spendthrift provision and, except as otherwise provided in this [article], a creditor or assignee of the beneficiary may not reach the interest or a distribution by the trustee before its receipt by the beneficiary.

(4) A TRUSTEE OF A TRUST THAT IS SUBJECT TO A SPENDTHRIFT PROVISION MAY MAKE A DISTRIBUTION THAT IS REQUIRED OR AUTHORIZED BY THE TERMS OF THE TRUST BY APPLYING THE DISTRIBUTION FOR THE BENEFICIARY’S BENEFIT. A CREDITOR OR ASSIGNEE OF THE BENEFICIARY MAY NOT REACH A DISTRIBUTION THAT IS APPLIED FOR THE BENEFICIARY’S BENEFIT, AND NO TRUSTEE IS LIABLE TO ANY CREDITOR OF A BENEFICIARY FOR MAKING SUCH A DISTRIBUTION.

(5) REAL PROPERTY OR TANGIBLE PERSONAL PROPERTY THAT IS OWNED BY THE TRUST BUT THAT IS MADE AVAILABLE FOR A BENEFICIARY’S USE OR OCCUPANCY IN ACCORDANCE WITH THE TRUSTEE’S AUTHORITY UNDER THE TERMS OF THE TRUST IS NOT CONSIDERED TO HAVE BEEN DISTRIBUTED BY THE TRUSTEE OR RECEIVED BY THE BENEFICIARY FOR PURPOSES OF ALLOWING A CREDITOR OR ASSIGNEE OF THE BENEFICIARY TO REACH THE PROPERTY.

Uniform Law Comments.

Comment to Section 502

Under this section, a settlor has the power to restrain the transfer of a beneficiary’s interest, regardless of whether the beneficiary has an interest in income, in principal, or in both. Unless one of the exceptions under this article applies, a creditor of the beneficiary is prohibited from attaching a protected interest and may only attempt to collect directly from the beneficiary after payment is made. This section is similar to Restatement (Third) of Trusts § 58 (Tentative Draft No. 2, approved 1999), and Restatement (Second) of Trusts §§ 152-153 (1959). For the definition of spendthrift provision, see Section 103(15).

For a spendthrift provision to be effective under this Code, it must prohibit both the voluntary and involuntary transfer of the beneficiary’s interest, that is, a settlor may not allow a beneficiary to assign while prohibiting a beneficiary’s creditor from collecting, and vice versa. See Restatement (Third) of Trusts § 58 cmt. b (Tentative Draft No. 2, approved 1999). See also Restatement (Second) of Trusts § 152(2) (1959). A spendthrift provision valid under this Code will also be recognized as valid in a federal bankruptcy proceeding. See 11 U.S.C. § 541(c)(2).

Subsection (b), which is derived from Texas Property Code § 112.035(b), allows a settlor to provide maximum spendthrift protection simply by stating in the instrument that all interests are held subject to a “spendthrift trust” or words of similar effect.

A disclaimer, because it is a refusal to accept ownership of an interest and not a transfer of an interest already owned, is not affected by the presence or absence of a spendthrift provision. Most disclaimer statutes expressly provide that the validity of a disclaimer is not affected by a spendthrift protection. See, e.g., Uniform Probate Code § 2-801(a). Releases and exercises of powers of appointment are also not affected because they are not transfers of property. See Restatement (Third) of Trusts § 58 cmt. c (Tentative Draft No. 2, approved 1999).

A spendthrift provision is ineffective against a beneficial interest retained by the settlor. See Restatement (Third) of Trusts §58(2), (Tentative Draft No. 2, approved 1999). This is a necessary corollary to Section 505(a)(2), which allows a creditor or assignee of the settlor to reach the maximum amount that can be distributed to or for the settlor’s benefit. This right to reach the trust applies whether or not the trust contains a spendthrift provision.

A valid spendthrift provision makes it impossible for a beneficiary to make a legally binding transfer, but the trustee may choose to honor the beneficiary’s purported assignment. The trustee may recommence distributions to the beneficiary at any time. The beneficiary, not having made a binding transfer, can withdraw the beneficiary’s direction but only as to future payments. See Restatement (Third) of Trusts § 58 cmt. d (Tentative Draft No. 2, approved 1999); Restatement (Second) of Trusts § 152 cmt. i (1959).

Colorado Committee Report:

- 1) No Colorado case has addressed whether a spendthrift clause must prohibit both a voluntary and involuntary transfer of the beneficial interest. However, without setting out a formal definition the Colorado Supreme Court in Newell V. Tubbs, 103 Colo. 224, 84 P.2d 820, (Colo. 1938) stated that: “A spendthrift trust is 'a trust created to provide a fund for the maintenance of the beneficiary, and at the same time to secure it against his improvidence or incapacity.” This language was cited most recently in In Re Cohen, 8 P.3d 429 (Colo. 1999).
- 2) Some other states have provided that a spendthrift clause can allow for the voluntary transfer of an interest and only prohibit involuntary transfers. Examples of states that have opted to allow such a result: Wyoming has adopted §502 without subsection (1) (note: the uniform law formats subsections with letters rather than numerals which are used by legislative drafting in Colorado). Florida adopted subsection (1) but exempted trusts adopted prior to the enactment. Kansas amended subsection (1) to only provide that a spendthrift trust is valid. It added another subsection that a beneficiary could not transfer an interest in violation of a spendthrift clause. Wisconsin amended its definition of spendthrift to provide that a spendthrift provision means a term of a trust that restrains either or both of a voluntary or involuntary transfer of a beneficiary's interest. The Committee elected to adopt the position taken by the UTC.

- 3) Subsections (4) and (5) were added to §502 based upon additions considered and adopted by various other states concerning trust administration issues encountered by Trustees. There is concern that Trustees face uncertainty and liability regarding distributions for the benefit of a beneficiary rather than directly to a beneficiary and in regard to real property and tangible personal property owned by the trust but used by the beneficiary. These provisions also have applicability to situations where the beneficiary is incapacitated and in regard to Supplemental Needs Trusts. These provisions were generally modeled after Ohio and Tennessee revisions to the UTC.
- 4) A Conforming Amendment was made to C.R.S. § 15-5-816 at the time that the Committee adopted proposed §502. The committee approved the following suggested language:

15-5-816. Specific powers of trustee

(1) Without limiting the authority conferred by section 15-5-815, and in addition to the powers conferred pursuant to the "Colorado Fiduciaries' Powers Act", part 8 of article 1 of this title 15, a trustee may:

(u) Pay an amount distributable to a beneficiary BY PAYING IT DIRECTLY TO THE BENEFICIARY OR BY APPLYING IT FOR THE BENEFICIARY'S BENEFIT AND, IN THE CASE OF A BENEFICIARY who is under a legal disability or who the trustee reasonably believes is incapacitated, by paying it directly to the beneficiary or applying it for the beneficiary's benefit or by:

- (I) Paying it to the beneficiary's conservator or, if the beneficiary does not have a conservator, the beneficiary's guardian;
- (II) Paying it to the beneficiary's custodian pursuant to the "Colorado Uniform Transfers to Minors Act", article 50 of title 11, or custodial trustee pursuant to the "Colorado Uniform Custodial Trust Act", article 1.5 of this title 15, and for that purpose, creating a custodianship of [sic] custodial trust;
- (III) If the trustee does not know of a conservator, guardian, custodian, or custodial trustee, paying it to an adult relative or other person having legal or physical care or custody of the beneficiary, to be expended on the beneficiary's behalf; or
- (IV) Managing it as a separate fund on the beneficiary's behalf, subject to the beneficiary's continuing right to withdraw the distribution;

15-5-503. Exceptions to spendthrift provision.

(b) A SPENDTHRIFT PROVISION IS UNENFORCEABLE AGAINST:

(1) A CHILD WHO IS AN OBLIGEE PURSUANT TO A CHILD SUPPORT ORDER FOR WHICH THE BENEFICIARY IS THE OBLIGOR; AND

(2) A JUDGMENT CREDITOR WHO HAS PROVIDED ESSENTIAL SERVICES FOR THE PROTECTION OF A BENEFICIARY'S INTEREST IN THE TRUST.

THIS SUBSECTION (b) DOES NOT APPLY TO A SPECIAL NEEDS TRUST, SUPPLEMENTAL NEEDS TRUST, OR SIMILAR TRUST ESTABLISHED FOR A PERSON IF ITS APPLICATION COULD INVALIDATE SUCH A TRUST'S EXEMPTION FROM CONSIDERATION AS A COUNTABLE RESOURCE FOR MEDICAID OR SUPPLEMENTAL SECURITY INCOME (SSI) PURPOSES OR IF ITS APPLICATION HAS THE EFFECT OR POTENTIAL EFFECT OF RENDERING THE PERSON INELIGIBLE FOR ANY PROGRAM OF PUBLIC BENEFIT, INCLUDING, BUT NOT LIMITED TO, MEDICAID AND SSI.

(c) THE ONLY REMEDY OF A CLAIMANT AGAINST WHOM A SPENDTHRIFT PROVISION CANNOT BE ENFORCED IS TO OBTAIN FROM A COURT AN ORDER ATTACHING PRESENT OR FUTURE DISTRIBUTIONS TO OR FOR THE BENEFIT OF THE BENEFICIARY. THE COURT MAY LIMIT THE AWARD TO SUCH RELIEF AS IS APPROPRIATE UNDER THE CIRCUMSTANCES.

THIS SUBSECTION (b) DOES NOT APPLY TO A SPECIAL NEEDS TRUST, SUPPLEMENTAL NEEDS TRUST, OR SIMILAR TRUST ESTABLISHED FOR A PERSON IF ITS APPLICATION COULD INVALIDATE SUCH A TRUST'S EXEMPTION FROM CONSIDERATION AS A COUNTABLE RESOURCE FOR MEDICAID OR SUPPLEMENTAL SECURITY INCOME (SSI) PURPOSES OR IF ITS APPLICATION HAS THE EFFECT OR POTENTIAL EFFECT OF RENDERING THE PERSON INELIGIBLE FOR ANY PROGRAM OF PUBLIC BENEFIT, INCLUDING, BUT NOT LIMITED TO, MEDICAID AND SSI.

~~(c) A claimant against which a spendthrift provision cannot be enforced may~~THE ONLY REMEDY OF A CLAIMANT AGAINST WHOM A SPENDTHRIFT PROVISION CANNOT BE ENFORCED IS TO obtain from a court an order attaching present or future distributions to or for the benefit of the beneficiary. The court may limit the award to such relief as is appropriate under the circumstances.

Uniform Law Comments.

This section exempts the claims of certain categories of creditors from the effects of a spendthrift restriction and specifies the remedies such exemption creditors may take to satisfy their claims.

The exception in subsection (b)(1) for judgments or orders to support a beneficiary's child or current or former spouse is in accord with Restatement (Third) of Trusts Section 59(a) (Tentative Draft No. 2, approved 1999), Restatement (Second) of Trusts Section 157(a) (1959), and numerous state statutes. It is also consistent with federal bankruptcy law, which exempts such support orders from discharge. The effect of this exception is to permit the claimant for unpaid support to attach present or future distributions that would otherwise be made to the beneficiary. Distributions subject to attachment include distributions required by the express terms of the trust, such as mandatory payments of income, and distributions the trustee has otherwise decided to make, such as through the exercise of discretion.

Subsection (b)(1), unlike 85 Section 504, does not authorize the spousal or child claimant to compel a distribution from the trust. Section 504 authorizes a spouse or child claimant to compel a distribution to the extent the trustee has abused a discretion or failed to comply with a standard for distribution. Subsection (b)(1) refers both to "support" and "maintenance" in order to accommodate differences among the States in terminology employed. No difference in meaning between the two terms is intended.

The definition of "child" in subsection (a) accommodates the differing approaches States take to defining the class of individuals eligible for child support, including such issues as whether support can be awarded to stepchildren. However the State making the award chooses to define "child" will be recognized under this Code, whether the order sought to be enforced was entered in the same or different State. For the definition of "state," which includes Puerto Rico and other American possessions, see Section 103(17).

The definition of "child" in subsection (a) is not exclusive. The definition clarifies that a "child" includes an individual awarded child support in any state. The definition does not expressly include but neither does it exclude persons awarded child support in some other country or political subdivision, such as a Canadian province.

The exception in subsection (b)(2) for a judgment creditor who has provided services for the protection of a beneficiary's interest in the trust is in accord with Restatement (Third) of Trusts Section 59(b) (Tentative Draft No. 2, approved 1999), and Restatement (Second) of Trusts Section 157(c) (1959). This exception allows a beneficiary of modest means to overcome an obstacle preventing the beneficiary's obtaining services essential to the protection or enforcement of the beneficiary's rights under the trust. See Restatement (Third) of Trusts Section 59 cmt. d (Tentative Draft No. 2, approved 1999).

Subsection (b)(3), which is similar to Restatement (Third) of Trusts Section 59 cmt. a (Tentative Draft No. 2, approved 1999), exempts certain governmental claims from a spendthrift restriction. Federal preemption guarantees that certain federal claims, such as claims by the Internal Revenue Service, may bypass a spendthrift provision no matter what this Code might say. The case law and relevant Internal Revenue Code provisions on the exception for federal tax claims are collected in George G. Bogert & George T. Bogert, The Law of Trusts and Trustees Section 224 (Rev. 2d ed. 1992); and 2A Austin W. Scott & William F. Fratcher, The Law of Trusts Section 157.4 (4th ed. 1987). Regarding claims by state governments, this subsection recognizes that States take a variety of approaches with respect to collection, depending on whether the claim is for unpaid taxes, for care provided at an institution, or for other charges. Acknowledging this diversity, subsection (c) does not prescribe a rule, but refers to other statutes of the State on whether particular claims are subject to or exempted from spendthrift provisions.

Unlike Restatement (Third) of Trusts Section 59(2) (Tentative Draft No. 2, approved 1999), and Restatement (Second) of Trusts Section 157(b) (1959), this Code does not create an exception to the spendthrift restriction for creditors who have furnished necessary services or supplies to the beneficiary. Most of these cases involve claims by governmental entities, which the drafters concluded are better handled by the enactment of special legislation as authorized by subsection (b)(3). The drafters also declined to create an exception for tort claimants. For a discussion of the exception for tort claims, which has not generally been recognized, see Restatement (Third) of Trusts Section 59 Reporter's Notes to cmt. a (Tentative Draft No. 2, approved 1999). For a discussion of other exceptions to a spendthrift restriction, recognized in some States, see George G. Bogert & George T. Bogert, The Law of Trusts and Trustees Section 224 (Rev. 2d ed. 1992); and 2A Austin W. Scott & William F. Fratcher, The Law of Trusts Sections 157-157.5 (4th ed. 1987).

Subsection (c) provides that the only remedy available to an exception creditor is attachment of present or future distributions of present or future distributions. Depending on other creditor law of the state, additional remedies may be available should a beneficiary's interest not be subject to a spendthrift provision. Section 501, which applies in such situations, provides that the creditor may reach the beneficiary's interest under that section by attachment or "other means." Subsection (c), similar to Section 501, clarifies that the court has the authority to limit the creditor's relief as appropriate under the circumstances.

Colorado Committee Report:

(1) Colorado law does not currently contemplate exception creditors to a spendthrift clause. In re Estate of Beren, 321 P.3d 615 (Colo. App. 2013) "Spendthrift trusts are valid and enforceable in Colorado. In re Cohen, 8 P.3d 429, 430 n. 1 (Colo.1999); see In re Portner, 109 B.R. 977, 987 \(Bkrtcy.D.Colo.1989\) (In Colorado, "spendthrift trusts are determined exclusively by common law because there are no statutory provisions regulating their existence."). Such trusts "provide a fund for the maintenance of the beneficiary, and at the same time ... secure it against his improvidence or incapacity." Portner, 109 B.R. at 987. Funds under the discretionary control of a trustee subject to a spendthrift provision cannot be garnished. Brasser v. Hutchison, 37 Colo.App. 528, 531, 549 P.2d 801, 803 (1976). But once such funds have been distributed, they are within the reach of creditors. See generally Restatement \(Third\) of Trusts § 58 cmt. d(2) (2003) (“After the income or principal of a spendthrift trust has been distributed to a beneficiary ... it can be reached by creditors.”).” Thus, because the spendthrift provision, even assuming its validity, no longer protected those trust funds that had become subject to mandatory distribution, the trial court properly allowed garnishment of those funds.”

As mentioned in the Comments to the UTC, both the Restatement (Second) of Trusts, §157 (Restatement (Third) of Trusts §59 do provide for certain exception creditors. Under the Restatement (Second) of Trusts, the following claimants could reach a beneficiary’s interest in the trust to satisfy a valid claim, despite a spendthrift clause: spousal and child support claimants, claimants who provided necessary services to a beneficiary, claimants who provided services and materials to preserve a beneficiary’s interest in the trust, and the US or a State. Under the Restatement (Third) of Trusts, only child and spousal support creditors, as well as creditors providing services necessary for the protection of the beneficiary’s interest in the trust, are named as exception creditors. Comment (a) to §59 of the Restatement (Third) Trusts, does provide, however, that governmental claims are, implicitly, exempted from enforcement of a spendthrift provision.

(2) The Committee, early in its discussions, reviewed the law in other states who have enacted the UTC. Of the approximately thirty-three jurisdictions reviewed, there were 12 states that did not allow for exception creditors, who had reserved Section 503 for possible enactment at a later date, or who did not include either children or spouses as exception creditors. Of those states that had enacted a version of the UTC, 8 states allowed for child support claimants as exception creditors, but not spousal creditors. Approximately 13 of the states either adopted the UTC verbatim or allowed for spousal creditors in some modified way.

No Exception Creditors: KY, ME, MN, CT, NJ

Reserved: AK, KS, MA, MS, MO, MT

Neither children nor spousal creditors: TN

Children exception creditors, but not spouses: AZ, DC, NC, SC, VT, VA, WV, UT

Allows spousal creditors in some way: FL, MD, MI, ND, OH, WI, WY, PA

Verbatim UTC language: AL, NH, NM, OR, IL

(3) After discussion, the committee determined that although Colorado does not currently have caselaw that supports allowing any exception creditors, the majority of states that have adopted the UTC have included child support claimants as exception creditors, and accordingly the committee drafted Section 503 with this intent. The language allowing child support claimants as exception creditors was drafted in close consultation with Kim Willoughby, as a liaison from the Family Law Section.

(4) After additional discussion, the committee also decided to include claimants who provided services to a beneficiary to assist that person in protecting their interest in the trust. The committee determined that without such a term, a beneficiary of limited means may be prevented from securing legal or other counsel to preserve their beneficial interest. This is consistent with, although perhaps broader than, the Cost and Compensation Act, §15-10-602, which allows counsel for a nonfiduciary to recover compensation when those services result in an order beneficiary to the trust, respondent, ward, or protected person. The Committee added “essential” as a modifier to the type of services, as suggested by the UTC Comments (“This exception allows a beneficiary of modest means to overcome an obstacle preventing the beneficiary’s obtaining services essential to the protection or enforcement of the beneficiary’s rights under the trust.”), as a mechanism for limiting abuse.

(5) The committee chose, like several other states, to adopt language that made clear that the few exception creditors permitted under §503, should not impact special needs trusts. The language addressing special needs trusts was reviewed and approved by members of the Elder Law Committee.

(6) Although Government Claimants are not expressly included as exception creditors in this statute, such creditors may nonetheless be able to reach trust assets to satisfy their claims. See UTC Comments to §503;_Reporter’s Note, Restatement (Third) Trusts, §59 (citing caselaw that federal taxing authorities would be able to reach the assets of a spendthrift trust, but that state taxing authorities’ ability to do so is less clear). The committee decided not to include government claimants as express exception creditors in order to preserve any opportunity a beneficiary may have to prevent governmental claims from bypassing a spendthrift clause.

Proposed CUTC 504

15-5-504. Discretionary Trusts; Effect of Standard.

(a) In this section, “child” includes any person for whom an order or judgment for child support has been entered in this or another State.

(b) Except as otherwise provided in subsection (c), whether or not a trust contains a spendthrift provision, a creditor of a beneficiary may not compel a distribution that is subject to the trustee’s discretion, even if:

(1) the discretion is expressed in the form of a standard of distribution; or

(2) the trustee has abused the discretion.

(c) To the extent a trustee has not complied with a standard of distribution or has abused a discretion:

(1) a distribution may be ordered by the court to satisfy a judgment or court order against the beneficiary for support or maintenance of the beneficiary’s child; and

(2) the court shall direct the trustee to pay to the child such amount as is equitable under the circumstances but not more than the amount the trustee would have been required to distribute to or for the benefit of the beneficiary had the trustee complied with the standard or not abused the discretion.

This subsection does not apply to a special needs trust, supplemental needs trust, or similar trust established for a person if its application could invalidate such a trust’s exemption from consideration as a countable resource for Medicaid or Supplemental Security Income (SSI) purposes or if its application has the effect or potential effect of rendering such person ineligible for any program of public benefit, including, but not limited to, Medicaid and SSI.

(d) This section does not limit the right of a beneficiary to maintain a judicial proceeding against a trustee for an abuse of discretion or failure to comply with a standard for distribution.

(e) If the trustee’s or cotrustee’s discretion to make distributions for the trustee’s or cotrustee’s own benefit is limited by an ascertainable standard, a creditor may not reach or compel distribution of the beneficial interest except to the extent the interest would be subject to the creditor’s claim were the beneficiary not acting as trustee or cotrustee.

Comparison of Proposed CUTC 504 and UTC Section 504

15-5-504. Discretionary Trusts; Effect of Standard.

(a) In this section, “child” includes any person for whom an order or judgment for child support has been entered in this or another State.

(b) Except as otherwise provided in subsection (c), whether or not a trust contains a spendthrift provision, a creditor of a beneficiary may not compel a distribution that is subject to the trustee’s discretion, even if:

(1) the discretion is expressed in the form of a standard of distribution; or

(2) the trustee has abused the discretion.

(c) To the extent a trustee has not complied with a standard of distribution or has abused a discretion:

(1) a distribution may be ordered by the court to satisfy a judgment or court order against the beneficiary for support or maintenance of the beneficiary’s child, ~~spouse or former spouse~~; and

(2) the court shall direct the trustee to pay to the child, ~~spouse or former spouse~~ such amount as is equitable under the circumstances but not more than the amount the trustee would have been required to distribute to or for the benefit of the beneficiary had the trustee complied with the standard or not abused the discretion.

This subsection does not apply to a special needs trust, supplemental needs trust, or similar trust established for a person if its application could invalidate such a trust’s exemption from consideration as a countable resource for Medicaid or Supplemental Security Income (SSI) purposes or if its application has the effect or potential effect of rendering such person ineligible for any program of public benefit, including, but not limited to, Medicaid and SSI.

(d) This section does not limit the right of a beneficiary to maintain a judicial proceeding against a trustee for an abuse of discretion or failure to comply with a standard for distribution.

(e) If the trustee’s or cotrustee’s discretion to make distributions for the trustee’s or cotrustee’s own benefit is limited by an ascertainable standard, a creditor may not reach or compel distribution of the beneficial interest except to the extent the interest would be subject to the creditor’s claim were the beneficiary not acting as trustee or cotrustee.

NCCUSL Comments

This section addresses the ability of a beneficiary’s creditor to reach the beneficiary’s discretionary trust interest, whether or not the exercise of the trustee’s discretion is subject to a standard. This section, similar to the Restatement, eliminates the distinction between discretionary and support trusts, unifying the rules for all trusts fitting within either of the former categories. See Restatement (Third) of Trusts Section 60 Reporter’s Notes to cmt. a (Tentative Draft No. 2, approved 1999). By eliminating this distinction, the rights of a creditor are the same whether the distribution standard is discretionary, subject to a standard, or both. Other than for a claim by a child, spouse or former spouse, a beneficiary's creditor may not reach the beneficiary's interest. Eliminating this distinction affects only the rights of creditors. The effect of this change is limited to the rights of creditors. It does not affect the rights of a beneficiary to compel a distribution. Whether the trustee has a duty in a given situation to make a distribution depends on factors such as the breadth of the discretion granted and whether the terms of the trust include a support or other standard. See Section 814 cmt.

For a discussion of the definition of "child" in subsection (a), see Section 503 Comment.

Subsection (b), which establishes the general rule, forbids a creditor from compelling a distribution from the trust, even if the trustee has failed to comply with the standard of distribution or has abused a discretion. Under subsection (d), the power to force a distribution due to an abuse of discretion or failure to comply with a standard belongs solely to the beneficiary. Under Section 814(a), a trustee must always exercise a discretionary power in good faith and with regard to the purposes of the trust and the interests of the beneficiaries.

Subsection (c) creates an exception for support claims of a child, spouse, or former spouse who has a judgment or order against a beneficiary for support or maintenance. While a creditor of a beneficiary generally may not assert that a trustee has abused a discretion or failed to comply with a standard of distribution, such a claim may be asserted by the beneficiary's child, spouse, or former spouse enforcing a judgment or court order against the beneficiary for unpaid support or maintenance. The court must direct the trustee to pay the child, spouse or former spouse such amount as is equitable under the circumstances but not in excess of the amount the trustee was otherwise required to distribute to or for the benefit of the beneficiary. Before fixing this amount, the court having jurisdiction over the trust should consider that in setting the respective support award, the family court has already considered the respective needs and assets of the family. The Uniform Trust Code does not prescribe a particular procedural method for enforcing a judgment or order against the trust, leaving that matter to local collection law.

Trusts are frequently drafted in which a trustee is also a beneficiary. A common example is what is often referred to as a bypass trust, under which the settlor's spouse will frequently be named as both trustee and beneficiary. An amount equal to the exemption from federal estate tax will be placed in the bypass trust, and the trustee, who will often be the settlor's spouse, will be given discretion to make distributions to the beneficiaries, a class which will usually include the spouse/trustee. To prevent the inclusion of the trust in the spouse-trustee's gross estate, the spouse's discretion to make distributions for the spouse's own benefit will be limited by an ascertainable standard relating to health, education, maintenance, or support.

The UTC, as previously drafted, did not specifically address the issue of whether a creditor of a beneficiary may reach the beneficial interest of a beneficiary who is also a trustee. However, Restatement (Third) of Trusts §60, comment g, which was approved by the American law Institute in 1999, provides that the beneficial interest of a beneficiary/trustee may be reached by the beneficiary/trustee's creditors. Because the UTC is supplemented by the common law (see UTC Section 106), this Restatement rule might also apply in states enacting the UTC. The drafting committee has concluded that adoption of the Restatement rule would unduly disrupt standard estate planning and should be limited. Consequently, Section 504 is amended to provide that the provisions of this section, which generally prohibit a creditor of a beneficiary from reaching a beneficiary's discretionary interest, apply even if the beneficiary is also a trustee or cotrustee. The beneficiary-trustee is protected from creditor claims to the extent the beneficiary-trustee's discretion is protected by an ascertainable standard as defined in the relevant Internal Revenue Code sections. The result is that the beneficiary's trustee's interest is protected to the extent it is also exempt from federal estate tax. The amendment thereby achieves its main purpose, which is to protect the trustee-beneficiary of a bypass trust from creditor claims.

The protection conferred by this subsection, however, is no greater than if the beneficiary had not been named trustee. If an exception creditor can reach the beneficiary's interest under some other provision, the interest is not insulated from creditor claims by the fact the beneficiary is or becomes a trustee.

In addition, the definition of "power of withdrawal" in Section 103 is amended to clarify that a power of withdrawal does not include a power exercisable by the trustee that is limited by an ascertainable standard. The purpose of this amendment is to preclude a claim that the power of a trustee-beneficiary to make discretionary distributions for the trustee-beneficiary's own benefit results in an enforceable claim of the trustee-beneficiary's creditors to reach the trustee-beneficiary's interest as provided in Section 505(b). Similar to the amendment to Section 504, the amendment to "power of withdrawal" is being made because of concerns that Restatement (Third) of Trusts Section 60, comment g, otherwise might allow a beneficiary-trustee's creditors to reach the trustee's beneficial interest.

The Code does not specifically address the extent to which a creditor of a trustee-beneficiary may reach a beneficial interest of a beneficiary/trustee that is not limited by an ascertainable standard.

For the definition of "ascertainable standard," see Section 103(2).

Colorado Committee Report (including 2005 Committee Comments)

(1) While trusts with valid spendthrift provisions directly prevent beneficiaries from assigning their interests and creditors of such beneficiaries from attaching their interests, the very nature of beneficial interests in discretionary trusts and trusts subject to a standard indirectly bar the reach of creditors of a beneficiary. A creditor who has attached a discretionary interest (because of the absence of a spendthrift provision or because a spendthrift exception applies) cannot, as a general rule, force exercise of discretion. Thus, there is indirect protection against creditor claims.

(2) Colorado courts have tended to follow the Restatements with respect to trust administrative law. The Restatement (Second) of Trusts provided as follows:

§154. Trusts for Support

Except as stated in §§156 and 157, if by the terms of a trust it is provided that the trustee shall pay or apply only so much of the income and principal or either as is necessary for the education or support of the beneficiary, the beneficiary cannot transfer his interest and his creditors cannot reach it.

§155. Discretionary Trusts

(1) Except as stated in § 156, if by the terms of a trust it is provided that the trustee shall pay to or apply for a beneficiary only so much of the income and principal or either as the trustee in his uncontrolled discretion shall see fit to pay or apply, a transferee or creditor of the beneficiary cannot compel the trustee to pay any part of the income or principal.

(2) Unless a valid restraint on alienation has been imposed in accordance with the rules stated in §§ 152 and 153, if the trustee pays to or applies for the beneficiary any part of the income or principal with knowledge of the transfer or after he has been served with process in a proceeding by a creditor to reach it, he is liable to such transferee or creditor.

(3) Colorado courts have followed the Restatement (Second) position with respect to discretionary trusts in determining whether a discretionary interest is "property" for purposes of division of property in divorce. Absent an abuse of discretion, a beneficiary cannot compel exercise of discretion and therefore, the discretionary interest is not "property" for this purpose. See for example In Re Marriage of Rosenblum, 602 P.2d 892 (Colo. App. 1979); In Re Marriage of Jones, 812 P.2d 1152 (Colo. 1991); and In Re McCart, 847 P.2d 184 (Colo. App. 1992.)

These decisions do not address whether and under what circumstances a beneficiary's creditor can force an exercise of discretion.

(4) The Restatement (Third) provides as follows:

§60. Transfer or Attachment of Discretionary Interests

Subject to the rules stated in sections 58 and 59 (on spendthrift trusts), if the terms of a trust provide for a beneficiary to receive distributions in the trustee's discretion, a transferee or creditor of the beneficiary is entitled to receive or attach any distributions the trustee makes or is required to make in the exercise of that discretion after the trustee has knowledge of the transfer or attachment. The amounts a creditor can reach may be limited to provide for the beneficiary's needs (Comment c), or the amounts may be increased where the beneficiary is either the settlor (Comment f) or holds the discretionary power to determine his or her own distributions (Comment g).

Restatement (Third) of Trusts reiterates the common law right of a beneficiary's creditor to attach the beneficiary's discretionary interest unless a valid spendthrift provision applies to the interest. Restatement (Third) of Trusts Section 60 cmt. a. And under Restatement (Third), self-settled discretionary interests are not protected against creditor claims whether or not there is a spendthrift provision. Restatement (Third) of Trusts Section 60 cmt. f. However, the Restatement (Third) of Trusts, departs from Restatement (Second) as follows:

(a) The Restatement (Third) applies this principle to discretionary interests whether expressed in the form of a standard or not. Restatement (Third) of Trusts Section 60 cmt. a and Rptr's Notes on cmt. a.

(b) The Restatement (Third) points out that it is rare that a beneficiary is so powerless taking into account the beneficiary's circumstances, the terms of the discretionary power and the purposes of the trust. Thus, the exercise or non-exercise of discretion is always subject to judicial review to prevent abuse. Restatement (Third) of Trusts Section 60 cmt. e.

(c) Under the Restatement (Third), where a discretionary beneficiary is also trustee, his or her creditors are able to reach the maximum amount that the trustee/beneficiary can properly take. Restatement (Third) of Trusts Section 60 cmt. g.

(5) Compared with either Restatement's position, the rule codified in the UTC and proposed for the CUTC is much more protective of discretionary interests with respect to creditor claims. Section 504 makes it clear that, whether or not there is a spendthrift provision in the terms of the trust, no creditor of a beneficiary can compel a distribution that is subject to the trustee's discretion whether such discretion is expressed in the form of a standard or not, even if the trustee has abused discretion or failed to comply with the standard. Thus, under the UTC, even a creditor who has provided support to the beneficiary of a support trust is unable to force exercise of discretion.

Further, Subsection 504(e) eliminates the problematic position taken in Restatement (Third) Section 60 cmt g, protecting estate plans that employ a traditional family trust arrangement of which a surviving spouse serves as trustee, provided the trustee's power to make discretionary distributions to her/himself is limited by an ascertainable standard.

(6) Section 504(c) of the UTC makes a public policy exception with respect to a discretionary beneficiary's child, spouse or former spouse who has a judgment for support. Such a creditor can force exercise of discretion but only if the trustee has abused discretion or failed to comply with the standard. However, this provision only authorizes the court to force exercise of discretion in satisfaction of the judgment. It does not require it. If a court does act, the UTC requires the court to direct the trustee to distribute to the creditor only an amount that is equitable taking into account the discretionary beneficiary's circumstances.

In keeping with Section 503, and for the reasons expressed in the report for that , Section, proposed Section 504 makes only a child – not a spouse or former spouse – an exception creditor. Among those states that have adopted the UTC, the following positions have been taken with respect to exception creditors:

Alabama – adopted 504 verbatim

Arkansas – omitted 504(c)

District of Columbia – reserved

Florida – creditors, including exception creditors under 504(2) (child, spouse, former spouse), may not compel a distribution or attach or otherwise reach the interest a beneficiary might have as a result of the trustee's discretion to make distributions to or for the benefit of the beneficiary

Kansas – omitted 504

Kentucky – excepts child and spouse

Maine – omitted 504(c)

Maryland – excepts (a) trust property subject to withdrawal power, and (b) contributions to trust by beneficiary

Mass. – reserved 504

Michigan – no exceptions to discretionary trust provision; trust property not subject to enforcement of a judgment until income or principal is distributed directly to trust beneficiary.

Minn. – no exception creditors

Mississippi – reserved all of Part 5

Missouri – creditor cannot attach, force judicial sale, or compel distributions or reach by any other means present or future discretionary distributions

Montana – no exception creditors

Nebraska – adopted 504 verbatim

New Hampshire – court may compel discretionary distribution to child, spouse, or former spouse in such amount as is equitable under the circumstances but not more than the amount the trustee would have been required to distribute to or for the benefit of the beneficiary had the trustee complied with the standard or not abused discretion; and, with respect to alimony, only for and to the extent that the judgment or court order expressly specifies the alimony amount attributable to the most basic food, shelter and medical needs of the former spouse.

New Mexico – enacted 504 verbatim

North Carolina – excepts child only

North Dakota – adopted 504 verbatim

Ohio – unless the settlor has explicitly provided in the trust that the beneficiary's child or spouse or both are excluded from benefiting from the trust, if there is a failure to apply standard or an abuse of discretion, then the court may order a distribution only if it is available for the beneficiary's support – but not for the satisfaction of a judgment for the support of a former spouse.

Oregon – omitted 504

Pennsylvania – adopted 504 verbatim

Tennessee – no exception creditors

Utah – adopted 504 verbatim

Vermont – adopted 504 verbatim

Virginia – excepts child only

West Virginia – excepts child only

Wisconsin – substantial reworking of text: no exception creditors; specifically provides that interest in discretionary trust is not “property”; general principles do not apply if beneficiary can make purely discretionary distributions to self or without consent of adverse party

Wyoming – no exception creditors; and may not compel a distribution or reach or attach the interest of a beneficiary until a distribution is received by the beneficiary, even if the trustee makes distributions directly to third parties for the benefit of the beneficiary.

(7) For the reasons discussed in the report for Section 503, the Committee proposes, like several other states, to ensure that special needs trusts are not adversely affected by the limited exception creditor provisions of Section 504(b).

15-5-505. CREDITOR'S CLAIM AGAINST SETTLOR.

(A) WHETHER OR NOT THE TERMS OF A TRUST CONTAIN A SPENDTHRIFT PROVISION, THE FOLLOWING RULES APPLY:

(1) DURING THE LIFETIME OF THE SETTLOR, THE PROPERTY OF A REVOCABLE TRUST IS SUBJECT TO CLAIMS OF THE SETTLOR'S CREDITORS.

(2) WITH RESPECT TO AN IRREVOCABLE TRUST, A CREDITOR OR ASSIGNEE OF THE SETTLOR MAY REACH THE MAXIMUM AMOUNT THAT CAN BE DISTRIBUTED TO OR FOR THE SETTLOR'S BENEFIT. IF A TRUST HAS MORE THAN ONE SETTLOR, THE AMOUNT THE CREDITOR OR ASSIGNEE OF A PARTICULAR SETTLOR MAY REACH MAY NOT EXCEED THE SETTLOR'S INTEREST IN THE PORTION OF THE TRUST ATTRIBUTABLE TO THAT SETTLOR'S CONTRIBUTION.

(I) NONE OF THE FOLLOWING SHALL BE CONSIDERED AN AMOUNT THAT CAN BE DISTRIBUTED TO OR FOR THE BENEFIT OF THE SETTLOR:

(A) TRUST PROPERTY THAT COULD BE, BUT HAS NOT YET BEEN, DISTRIBUTED TO OR FOR THE BENEFIT OF THE SETTLOR ONLY AS A RESULT OF THE EXERCISE OF A POWER OF APPOINTMENT HELD IN A NONFIDUCIARY CAPACITY BY ANY PERSON OTHER THAN THE SETTLOR;

(B) TRUST PROPERTY THAT COULD BE, BUT HAS NOT YET BEEN, DISTRIBUTED TO OR FOR THE BENEFIT OF THE SETTLOR OF A TRUST PURSUANT TO THE POWER OF THE TRUSTEE TO MAKE DISTRIBUTIONS OR PURSUANT TO THE POWER OF ANOTHER IN A FIDUCIARY CAPACITY TO DIRECT DISTRIBUTIONS, IF AND TO THE EXTENT THAT THE DISTRIBUTIONS COULD BE MADE FROM TRUST PROPERTY THE VALUE OF WHICH WAS INCLUDED IN THE GROSS ESTATE OF THE SETTLOR'S SPOUSE FOR FEDERAL ESTATE TAX PURPOSES

UNDER SECTION 2041 OR 2044 OF THE INTERNAL REVENUE CODE OR THAT WAS TREATED AS A TRANSFER BY THE SETTLOR'S SPOUSE UNDER SECTION 2514 OR 2519 OF THE INTERNAL REVENUE CODE;

(C) TRUST PROPERTY THAT, PURSUANT TO THE EXERCISE OF A DISCRETIONARY POWER BY A PERSON OTHER THAN THE SETTLOR, COULD BE PAID TO A TAXING AUTHORITY OR TO REIMBURSE THE SETTLOR FOR ANY INCOME TAX ON TRUST INCOME OR PRINCIPAL THAT IS PAYABLE BY THE SETTLOR UNDER THE LAW IMPOSING THE TAX.

(II) THIS SUBDIVISION SHALL NOT APPLY TO AN IRREVOCABLE "SPECIAL NEEDS TRUST" ESTABLISHED FOR A DISABLED PERSON AS DESCRIBED IN 42 U.S.C. SECTION 1396P(D)(4) OR SIMILAR FEDERAL LAW GOVERNING THE TRANSFER TO SUCH A TRUST.

(3) AFTER THE DEATH OF A SETTLOR, THE PROPERTY OF A TRUST THAT WAS REVOCABLE AT THE SETTLOR'S DEATH IS SUBJECT TO CLAIMS AND ALLOWANCES AS PROVIDED IN § 15-15-103, C.R.S.

(B) RESERVED.

Comparison of Proposed 505 and 505 as drafted in the UTC:

15-5-505. Creditor's claim against settlor.

(a) Whether or not the terms of a trust contain a spendthrift provision, the following rules apply:

(1) During the lifetime of the settlor, the property of a revocable trust is subject to claims of the settlor's creditors.

(2) With respect to an irrevocable trust, a creditor or assignee of the settlor may reach the maximum amount that can be distributed to or for the settlor's benefit. If a trust has more than one settlor, the amount the creditor or assignee of a particular settlor may reach may not exceed the settlor's interest in the portion of the trust attributable to that settlor's contribution.

(I) NONE OF THE FOLLOWING SHALL BE CONSIDERED AN AMOUNT THAT CAN BE DISTRIBUTED TO OR FOR THE BENEFIT OF THE SETTLOR:

(A) TRUST PROPERTY THAT COULD BE, BUT HAS NOT YET BEEN, DISTRIBUTED TO OR FOR THE BENEFIT OF THE SETTLOR ONLY AS A RESULT OF THE EXERCISE OF A POWER OF APPOINTMENT HELD IN A NONFIDUCIARY CAPACITY BY ANY PERSON OTHER THAN THE SETTLOR;

(B) TRUST PROPERTY THAT COULD BE, BUT HAS NOT YET BEEN, DISTRIBUTED TO OR FOR THE BENEFIT OF THE SETTLOR OF A TRUST PURSUANT TO THE POWER OF THE TRUSTEE TO MAKE DISTRIBUTIONS OR PURSUANT TO THE POWER OF ANOTHER IN A FIDUCIARY CAPACITY TO DIRECT DISTRIBUTIONS, IF AND TO THE EXTENT THAT THE DISTRIBUTIONS COULD BE MADE FROM TRUST PROPERTY THE VALUE OF WHICH WAS INCLUDED IN THE GROSS ESTATE OF THE SETTLOR'S SPOUSE FOR FEDERAL ESTATE TAX PURPOSES UNDER SECTION 2041 OR 2044 OF THE INTERNAL REVENUE CODE OR THAT WAS TREATED AS A TRANSFER BY THE SETTLOR'S SPOUSE UNDER SECTION 2514 OR 2519 OF THE INTERNAL REVENUE CODE;

(C) TRUST PROPERTY THAT, PURSUANT TO THE EXERCISE OF A DISCRETIONARY POWER BY A PERSON OTHER THAN THE SETTLOR, COULD BE PAID TO A TAXING AUTHORITY OR TO REIMBURSE THE SETTLOR FOR ANY INCOME TAX ON TRUST INCOME OR PRINCIPAL THAT IS PAYABLE BY THE SETTLOR UNDER THE LAW IMPOSING THE TAX.

(II) THIS SUBDIVISION SHALL NOT APPLY TO AN IRREVOCABLE "SPECIAL NEEDS TRUST" ESTABLISHED FOR A DISABLED PERSON AS DESCRIBED IN 42 U.S.C. SECTION 1396P(D)(4) OR SIMILAR FEDERAL LAW GOVERNING THE TRANSFER TO SUCH A TRUST.

(3) After the death of a settlor, ~~and subject to the settlor's right to direct the source from which liabilities will be paid,~~ the property of a trust that was revocable at the settlor's death is subject to claims AND ALLOWANCES AS PROVIDED IN § 15-15-103, C.R.S. ~~of the settlor's creditors, costs of administration of the settlor's estate, the expenses of the settlor's funeral and disposal of remains, and [statutory allowances] to a surviving spouse and children to the extent the settlor's probate estate is inadequate to satisfy those claims, costs, expenses, and [allowances].~~

(b) RESERVED. For purposes of this section:

(1) ~~during the period the power may be exercised, the holder of a power of withdrawal is treated in the same manner as the settlor of a revocable trust to the extent of the property subject to the power; and~~

(2) ~~upon the lapse, release, or waiver of the power, the holder is treated as the settlor of the trust only to the extent the value of the property affected by the lapse, release, or waiver exceeds the greater of the amount specified in Section 2041(b)(2) or 2514(e) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, or Section 2503(b) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, in each case as in effect on [the effective date of this [Code]] [, or as later amended].~~

Uniform Law Comments.

Subsection (a)(1) states what is now a well accepted conclusion, that a revocable trust is subject to the claims of the settlor's creditors while the settlor is living. See Restatement (Third) of Trusts Section 25 cmt. e (Tentative Draft No. 1, approved 1996). Such claims were not allowed at common law, however. See Restatement (Second) of Trusts Section 330 cmt. o (1959). Because a settlor usually also retains a beneficial interest that a creditor may reach under subsection (a)(2), the common law rule, were it retained in this Code, would be of little significance. See Restatement (Second) of Trusts Section 156(2) (1959).

Subsection (a)(2), which is based on Restatement (Third) of Trusts Section 58(2) and cmt. e (Tentative Draft No. 2, approved 1999), and Restatement (Second) of Trusts Section 156 (1959), follows traditional doctrine in providing that a settlor who is also a beneficiary may not use the trust as a shield against the settlor's creditors. The drafters of the Uniform Trust Code concluded that traditional doctrine reflects sound policy. Consequently, the drafters rejected the approach taken in States like Alaska and Delaware, both of which allow a settlor to retain a beneficial interest immune from creditor claims. See Henry J. Lischer, Jr., Domestic Asset Protection Trusts: Pallbearers to Liability, 35 Real Prop. Prob. & Tr. J. 479 (2000); John E. Sullivan, III, Gutting the Rule Against Self-Settled Trusts: How the Delaware Trust Law Competes with Offshore Trusts, 23 Del. J. Corp. L. 423 (1998). Under the Code, whether the trust contains a spendthrift provision or not, a creditor of the settlor may reach the maximum amount that the trustee could have paid to the settlor-beneficiary. If the trustee has discretion to distribute the entire income and principal to the settlor, the effect of this subsection is to place the settlor's creditors in the same position as if the trust had not been created. For the definition of "settlor," see Section 103(15).

This section does not address possible rights against a settlor who was insolvent at the time of the trust's creation or was rendered insolvent by the transfer of property to the trust. This subject is instead left to the State's law on fraudulent transfers. A transfer to the trust by an insolvent settlor might also constitute a voidable preference under federal bankruptcy law.

Subsection (a)(3) recognizes that a revocable trust is usually employed as a will substitute. As such, the trust assets, following the death of the settlor, should be subject to the settlor's debts and other charges. However, in accordance with traditional doctrine, the assets of the settlor's probate estate must normally first be exhausted before the assets of the revocable trust can be reached. This section does not attempt to address the procedural issues raised by the need first to exhaust the decedent's probate estate before reaching the assets of the revocable trust. Nor does this section address the priority of creditor claims or liability of the decedent's other nonprobate assets for the decedent's debts and other charges. Subsection (a)(3), however, does ratify the typical pourover will, revocable trust plan. As long as the rights of the creditor or family member claiming a statutory allowance are not impaired, the settlor is free to shift liability from the probate estate to the revocable trust. Regarding other issues associated with potential liability of nonprobate assets for unpaid claims, see Section 6-102 of the Uniform Probate Code, which was added to that Code in 1998.

Subsection (b)(1) treats a power of withdrawal as the equivalent of a power of revocation because the two powers are functionally identical. This is also the approach taken in Restatement (Third) of Trusts Section 56 cmt. b (Tentative Draft No. 2, approved 1999). If the power is unlimited, the property subject to the power will be fully subject to the claims of the power holder's creditors, the same as the power holder's other assets. If the power holder retains the power until death, the property subject to the power may be liable for claims and statutory allowances to the extent the power holder's probate estate is insufficient to satisfy those claims and allowances. For powers limited either in time or amount, such as a right to withdraw a $10,000 annual exclusion contribution within 30 days, this subsection would limit the creditor to the $10,000 contribution and require the creditor to take action prior to the expiration of the 30-day period.

Upon the lapse, release, or waiver of a power of withdrawal, the property formerly subject to the power will normally be subject to the claims of the power holder's creditors and assignees the same as if the power holder were the settlor of a now irrevocable trust. Pursuant to subsection (a)(2), a creditor or assignee of the power holder generally may reach the power holder's entire beneficial interest in the trust, whether or not distribution is subject to the trustee's discretion. However, following the lead of Arizona Revised Statutes Section 14-7705(g) and Texas Property Code Section 112.035(e), subsection (b)(2) creates an exception for trust property which was subject to a Crummey or five and five power. Upon the lapse, release, or waiver of a power of withdrawal, the holder is treated as the settlor of the trust only to the extent the value of the property subject to the power at the time of the lapse, release, or waiver exceeded the greater of the amounts specified in IRC Sections 2041(b)(2) or 2514(e) [greater of 5% or $5,000], or IRC Section 2503(b) [$10,000 in 2001].

The Uniform Trust Code does not address creditor issues with respect to property subject to a special power of appointment or a testamentary general power of appointment. For creditor rights against such interests, see Restatement (Property) Second: Donative Transfers Sections 13.1-13.7 (1986).

Colorado Committee Report:

(1) Regarding UTC Subsection (a)(1): Consistent with the Uniform Law Commission (“ULC”) comments, and the 2005 committee’s comments, the Committee found no reason to challenge the diminishing significance of the common law view that a revocable trust is subject to the settlor’s creditors only if the settlor reserved the power to revoke [Restatement (Second) of Trusts §330, comment o (1959)]. Thus, the Committee recommended no changes to the UTC’s proposed language that a revocable trust is subject to the claims of the settlor’s creditors while the settlor is living.

(2) Regarding UTC Subsection (a)(2): Consistent with the ULC comments and the 2005 committee’s comments, the Committee agreed that a creditor of a settlor, who is also a beneficiary of a trust, may reach only the interest attributable to that settlor/beneficiary. The Committee then examined the definition of “settlor,” and how to define the interest attributable to a settlor under various scenarios such as where:

- a. a joint trust, qualified terminable interest property (“QTIP”), spousal lifetime access trust (“SLAT”), special needs trust (“SNT”) exists;
- b. property is titled in one spouse’s name but is intended to be marital property;
- c. a schedule of property denotes respective interests in the property (versus the presumption of a 50/50 equitable interest); and
- d. distinctions between “contribution,” “gift,” and “interest.”

The Committee considered Pandy v. Independent Bank, 372 P.3d 1047 (Colo. 2016) (judgment creditor allowed to seek to enforce its judgment against entire trust estate of a revocable trust co-settled by debtor), which case was decided prior to enactment of the Colorado Uniform Trust Code (CUTC).

The Committee also noted that other states had taken a variety of approaches to their respective enactments of CUTC §505 and concluded that the addition of Subsections (a)(2)(i)&(ii) were warranted to provide clarity regarding the interest of a settlor who is also a beneficiary of an irrevocable trust.

(3) Regarding proposed Subsection (a)(2)(i): The Committee specifically sought to address the issue of: What if the settlor is a beneficiary as a result of the exercise of a power of appointment, or the choice of someone else? That is, what if there is an intervening action between settling the trust and the settlor becoming a beneficiary of that trust? The proposed language is taken from the Ohio statute, which the Committee decided most clearly addressed the concerns regarding a beneficial interest received by the settlor through the exercise of a power of appointment by a third party.

(4) Regarding proposed Subsection (a)(2)(ii): The Committee considered whether an exception should be recommended for special needs trusts (SNTs). The proposed language is taken from Vermont statute, which expressly addressed SNTs, and includes a reference to the federal statute regarding self-settled SNTs.

(5) Regarding UTC Subsection (a)(3): The Committee decided that adding a reference to the allowances in § 15-15-103, C.R.S. (addressing liability of nonprobate assets for debts of the decedent), and deleting the stricken text, provided the most succinct and straightforward means of addressing the allowances to which revocable property in a trust may be subject upon the death of the settlor.

(6) Regarding UTC Subsection (b): The Committee chose to follow the 2005 committee's recommendation not to overrule the ruling in University National Bank v. Rhoadarmer, 827 P.2d 561 (Colo. App. 1991), and reserved the subsection for a future decision by the legislature regarding this policy matter.

15-5-506. Overdue Distribution.

(a) IN THIS SECTION, “MANDATORY DISTRIBUTION” MEANS A DISTRIBUTION OF INCOME OR PRINCIPAL WHICH THE TRUSTEE IS REQUIRED TO MAKE TO A BENEFICIARY UNDER THE TERMS OF THE TRUST, INCLUDING A DISTRIBUTION UPON TERMINATION OF THE TRUST. THE TERM DOES NOT INCLUDE A DISTRIBUTION SUBJECT TO THE EXERCISE OF THE TRUSTEE’S DISCRETION EVEN IF (1) THE DISCRETION IS EXPRESSED IN THE FORM OF A STANDARD OF DISTRIBUTION, OR (2) THE TERMS OF THE TRUST AUTHORIZING A DISTRIBUTION COUPLE LANGUAGE OF DISCRETION WITH LANGUAGE OF DIRECTION.

(b) WHETHER OR NOT A TRUST CONTAINS A SPENDTHRIFT PROVISION, A CREDITOR OR ASSIGNEE OF A BENEFICIARY MAY REACH A MANDATORY DISTRIBUTION OF INCOME OR PRINCIPAL, INCLUDING A DISTRIBUTION UPON TERMINATION OF THE TRUST, IF THE TRUSTEE HAS NOT MADE THE DISTRIBUTION TO THE BENEFICIARY WITHIN A REASONABLE TIME AFTER THE DESIGNATED DISTRIBUTION DATE.

Comparison of Proposed 506 and 506 as drafted in the UTC:

The sections are identical, except for this change in the first sentence of 506(a):

(a) IN THIS SECTION, “MANDATORY DISTRIBUTION” MEANS A DISTRIBUTION OF INCOME OR PRINCIPAL ~~THAT~~ WHICH THE TRUSTEE IS REQUIRED TO MAKE TO A BENEFICIARY UNDER THE TERMS OF THE TRUST, INCLUDING A DISTRIBUTION UPON TERMINATION OF THE TRUST.

Uniform Law Comments.

The effect of a spendthrift provision is generally to insulate totally a beneficiary’s interest until a distribution is made and received by the beneficiary. See Section 502. But this section, along with several other sections in this article, recognizes exceptions to this general rule. Whether a trust contains a spendthrift provision or not, a trustee should not be able to avoid creditor claims against a beneficiary by refusing to make a distribution required to be made by the express terms of the trust. On the other hand, a spendthrift provision would become largely a nullity were a beneficiary’s creditors able to attach all required payments as soon as they became due. This section reflects a compromise between these two competing principles. A creditor can reach a mandatory distribution, including a distribution upon termination, if the trustee has failed 101 to make the payment within a reasonable time after the designated distribution date. Following this reasonable period, payments mandated by the express terms of the trust are in effect being held by the trustee as agent for the beneficiary and should be treated as part of the beneficiary’s personal assets.

This section is similar to Restatement (Third) of Trusts Section 58 cmt. d (Tentative Draft No. 2, approved 1999).

2001 Amendment. By amendment in 2001, “designated distribution date” was substituted for “required distribution date” in subsection (b). The amendment conforms the language of this section to terminology used elsewhere in the Code.

2005 Amendment. The amendment adds a clarifying definition of “mandatory distribution” in subsection (a), which is based on an Ohio proposal. The amendment:

- tracks the traditional understanding that a mandatory distribution includes a provision requiring that a beneficiary be paid the income of a trust or receive principal upon termination;
- correlates the definition of “mandatory distribution” in this section to the broad definition of discretionary trust used in Section 504. Under both Sections 504 and 506, a trust is discretionary even if the discretion is expressed in the form of a standard, such as a provision directing a trustee to pay for a beneficiary’s support;
- addresses the situation where the terms of the trust couple language of discretion with language of direction. An example of such a provision is “my trustees shall, in their absolute discretion, distribute such amounts as are necessary for the beneficiary’s support.” Despite the presence of the imperative “shall,” the provision is discretionary, not mandatory. For a more elaborate example of such a discretionary “shall” provision, see Marsman v. Nasca, 573 N.E. 2d 1025 (Mass. Ct. App. 1991).
- is clarifying. No change of substance is intended by this amendment. This amendment merely clarifies that a mandatory distribution is to be understood in its traditional sense such as a provision requiring that the beneficiary receive an income or receive principal upon termination of the trust.

Colorado Committee Report (from 2005):

If a trustee fails to make a distribution to a beneficiary within a "reasonable time" after the express terms of the trust require the distribution to be made, the trustee has become an agent for the beneficiary and the creditors of such beneficiary may attach the distribution held back by the trustee. Such a distribution has already become an asset of the beneficiary.

It had been argued that some discretionary trust terms might be construed as creating "mandatory" interests (e.g. "trustee shall distribute principal and income for the beneficiary's support") and that 506 "creates" a right in the beneficiary to compel them. Therefore, it had been argued, a creditor could "stand in the shoes" of the beneficiary and compel the distribution. The drafters did not intend this result. A mandatory distribution is one that the trustee does not have discretion to withhold. Moreover, the intent of article 5 is to treat all discretionary trusts, whether expressed in the form of a standard or not, as discretionary for purposes of defining creditor's rights. New subsection (a) is being added to make the intent of 506 clear.

In some contexts, the word "shall" has been construed to mean "may" and vice versa. For discussion of the misuse of the word "shall" in legal documents see Brian A. Garner, A Dictionary of Modern Legal Usage, p. 939-942 (2nd, ed., Oxford University Press).

Restatement (Third) of Trusts Section 58 cmt. d:

Overdue or delayed distributions. The statement in the Comment concerning what might be called “overdue” or “delayed” distributions involves a little-developed area. Restatement Second, Trusts § 153\(2\), and Comment c thereto, would seem to support the position of this Comment with respect to rights in principal (if the beneficiary “is entitled to have the principal paid or conveyed to him immediately” a restraint is not valid), but id. § 152, Comment h, is not supportive with respect to income. On the latter, compare Travelers Bank & Trust Co. v. Birge, 136 Conn. 21, 68 A.2d 138 \(1949\), with Jarcho Bros., Inc. v. Leverich, 240 App.Div. 783, 265 N.Y. Supp. 919 \(1933\), and Sproul-Bolton v. Sproul-Bolton, 383 Pa. 85, 117 A.2d 688 \(1955\), and also Bogert & Bogert, The Law of Trusts and Trustees, supra at § 227 \(pp. 514-515\), which, after properly recognizing that “[i]f the trust income is accumulated pending payment upon a regular payment date, most courts agree that the protection of the spendthrift provisions remains applicable,” goes on to acknowledge the Restatement Second of Trusts position (above) where the trustee may have failed to pay the accumulated income on a quarterly or other payment date, before continuing: “However the beneficiary may attempt to avoid receipt of an income payment by requesting that the trustee hold the accumulated income on his demand, ... or by agreement with the trustee to alter the payment dates. In any such case it would seem that the accumulated income has become absolutely due and owing the beneficiary and should be subject to the claims of his creditors. Two theories may be advanced for this conclusion. The first is that as to the accumulated income the trust has become a dry or passive trust and becomes fully executed. The second theory is that by this conduct the beneficiary has unilaterally altered the terms of the trust and has therefore made himself the settlor of the accumulated income under his own revocable trust.”

See MacDonald v. Joslyn, 17 Ill.App.3d 52, 307 N.E.2d 601 \(1974\) (regular quarterly income payment to life beneficiary not made when beneficiary could not be located; judgment creditors allowed to reach the income despite state's statutory restraint on involuntary alienation). More importantly for present purposes, unduly delayed distributions of either income or principal seem properly subject to the presently exercisable general power of appointment or withdrawal (or “equivalent to ownership”) rule of Comment b of this Section, for which in all other contexts the authorities seem solidly supportive.

Notes of Decisions on UTC 506

Under Kansas law, the court and creditors are not powerless to compel a trustee's distribution under a trust. In re Hilgers, Bkrcty.D.Kan.2006, 352 B.R. 298, affirmed 371 B.R. 465, affirmed 279 Fed.Appx. 662, 2008 WL 2127657.

Under Arkansas law, if trustee fails to make a timely distribution from spendthrift trust, the distribution, even while under control of trustee, can be reached by creditors of beneficiary. In re Reagan, W.D.Ark.2010, 433 B.R. 263, affirmed 649 F.3d 831.

Under Kansas law, trustees of three revocable trusts had duty to expeditiously wind up estates and make distributions to remainder beneficiaries when trusts terminated upon death of last life beneficiary, and trustees' unjustified failure to do so within reasonable time entitled creditors of one remainder beneficiary to reach distributions that were then due to such beneficiary. In re Hilgers, 10th Cir.BAP \(Kan.\) 2007, 371 B.R. 465, affirmed 279 Fed.Appx. 662, 2008 WL 2127657.

Spendthrift provision in instrument creating revocable trust, stating that “[t]he interest of any beneficiary in the income and/or principal of any trust created under this Agreement shall not be subject to alienation [or] anticipation,” did not protect the specific bequests that successor trustee was directed to make upon death of the settlor, the original trustee of trust, or prevent bequests to which debtor was entitled upon settlor's death, prior to commencement of debtor's bankruptcy case, from entering bankruptcy estate; spendthrift provision protected only the residuary estate that was held in trust for benefit of named beneficiaries. In re Caubble, Bkrcty.E.D.Ark.2014, 505 B.R. 857.

Spendthrift provisions of revocable trusts for which Chapter 7 debtor was remainder beneficiary ceased to be effective prior to debtor's bankruptcy filing under Kansas law, due to termination of trusts upon death of last life beneficiary and provision of Kansas Uniform Trust Code (KUTC) entitling creditors of trust beneficiaries to reach mandatory distributions when not made by trustee within reasonable time after mandated distribution date, and therefore debtor's interests in trusts became property of his bankruptcy estate and were subject to turnover to Chapter 7 trustee. In re Hilgers, 10th Cir.BAP \(Kan.\) 2007, 371 B.R. 465, affirmed 279 Fed.Appx. 662, 2008 WL 2127657.

15-5-507. Personal Obligations of Trustee

TRUST PROPERTY IS NOT SUBJECT TO PERSONAL OBLIGATIONS OF THE TRUSTEE, EVEN IF THE TRUSTEE BECOMES INSOLVENT OR BANKRUPT.

No changes from the UTC are recommended for the proposed Colorado statute.

Uniform Law Comments.

Because the beneficiaries of the trust hold the beneficial interest in the trust property and the trustee holds only legal title without the benefits of ownership, the creditors of the trustee have only a personal claim against the trustee. See Restatement (Third) § 5 cmt. k (Tentative Draft No. 1, approved 1996); Restatement (Second) of Trusts § 12 cmt. a (1959). Similarly, a personal creditor of the trustee who attaches trust property to satisfy the debt does not acquire title as a bona fide purchaser even if the creditor is unaware of the trust. See Restatement (Second) of Trusts § 308 (1959). The protection afforded by this section is consistent with that provided by the Bankruptcy Code. Property in which the trustee holds legal title as trustee is not part of the trustee's bankruptcy estate. 11 U.S.C. § 541(d).

The exemption of the trust property from the personal obligations of the trustee is the most significant feature of Anglo-American trust law by comparison with the devices available in civil law countries. A principal objective of the Hague Convention on the Law Applicable to Trusts and on their Recognition is to protect the Anglo-American trust with respect to transactions in civil law countries. See Hague Convention art. 11. See also Henry Hansmann & Ugo Mattei, The Functions of Trust Law: A Comparative Legal and Economic Analysis, 73 N.Y.U. L. Rev. 434 (1998); John H. Langbein, The Secret Life of the Trust: The Trust as an Instrument of Commerce, 107 Yale L.J. 165, 179-80 (1997).

Colorado Committee Report.

UTC Section 507 was created and added during the UTC drafting process. Colorado attorney James R. Walker served as an Observer on the UTC Drafting Committee. During an informal discussion with Professor John Langbein, Mr. Walker mentioned the recent Lagae v. Lackner Colorado Supreme Court decision, 996 P.2d 1281 (Colo. 2000), holding that a trustee's personal creditor could not attach a beneficiary's equitable interest in trust property. Mr. Walker also noted that the concept of trust property immunity for trustee personal obligations was not set forth in the black letter provisions of the Restatements. Instead, Mr. Walker expressed, you have to "dig" the concept out of the Restatement comments. See, e.g., Restatement (Second) Trusts § 12 cmt. (a).

Following this discussion, the next version of the UTC contained Section 507. Most likely, it was Professor Langbein who added the Drafting Committee narrative regarding Anglo-American Trust and the Hague convention.

Lagae's program stemmed from the real estate "curative" statute passed in the 1930s. This curative statute created a remedy for "as trustee" deeds by allowing the deed to carry both legal and equitable title. The problem and the Lagae holding are explained in a July 2000 CBA Trust & Estate Section Council Notes article.

(3) A spendthrift provision in the terms of a trust is not presumed to constitute a material purpose of the trust.

(4) Upon termination of a trust pursuant to subsection (1) or (2) of this section, the trustee shall distribute the trust property as agreed by the beneficiaries.

(5) If not all of the beneficiaries consent to a proposed modification or termination of a trust pursuant to subsection (1) or (2) of this section, the modification or termination may be approved by the court if the court is satisfied that:

(a) If all of the beneficiaries had consented, the trust could have been modified or terminated pursuant to this section; and

(b) The interests of a beneficiary who does not consent will be adequately protected.

15-5-816. Specific powers of trustee
