

From Our Readers

Colorado Lawyer welcomes reader feedback. Letters are published with their sender's consent and may be edited for clarity length, or grammar. The opinions expressed are those of the sender and do not necessarily represent those of the CBA or the sender's employer. Please send feedback to Susie Klein at sklein@cobar.org, or contact article authors directly.

Re: Affordable Housing Series, 2019–20, Coordinated by Christopher D. Bryan

Chris,
Just want to say I very much enjoyed reading about developments in affordable housing, particularly in the Front Range area. As a Colorado Springs attorney frequently dealing with Social Security, I witness firsthand the way homelessness exacerbates every problem these individuals face. These developments are encouraging, and thank you for including this information in December's periodical. [See Pasquini and Munroe, "Building Healthy Communities through Health Care and Affordable Housing Synergies: Front Range Case Studies."]

Andrew Serrone

Associate Attorney, Diane K. Bross P.C.

Re: Hon. Richard T. Spriggs, In Memoriam, Dec. 2019

I write in honor and memory of Judge Richard Spriggs, who died on October 21. On a Monday morning some years ago, he called the cases on his Denver District Court docket. My case was third on the list, so my client and I waited; on the first case he noted to the lawyer that he had received his 46-page brief at 4:30 on Friday afternoon. He stated: "I did not read your extensive brief counselor . . . because I have a life."

He was a good man and a good judge, and as his obituary notes, he was "a life-long cynic." He had a distinguished career, and I appreciated him very much.

Joseph M. Fanganello, Esq.

Re: "Managing Relational Space in a Diverse Workplace," Oct. 2019

I find this to be challenging, critically important, and beautiful. Such a helpful lens for seeing how to manage relational space to create the most for our people and our organizations.

Benjamin Langhans

Seattle Business Executive

Case Summaries and Captions from the Colorado Supreme Court and Court of Appeals

Case announcement sheets and published opinions are delivered to your inbox within hours of release from the courts. Summaries are available within 72 hours.

Sign up at cobar.org by clicking on "My Cobar." Then, click on "Sign up for and unsubscribe from CBA listservs."

Questions? Contact membership@cobar.org or call 303-860-1115, ext. 1.